U. S., Russia Clash Heatedly Over Palestine

Austin Answers Soviet Remarks

LAKE SUCCESS, March 9 (AP)—The United States and Russia clashed heatedly today in a new battle of words over Palestine.

Warren R. Austin, Chief United States Delegate to the United Nations, took the unusual step of answering directly a remark from a Soviet source. This source had said the United States apparently wants to reopen the Palestine issue in the U. N. The Russian refused to be quoted by name on what he told newsmen early in the day.

Austin Makes Statement

"I regret that the Soviet spokesman has sought to pre-judge the issues before the process of consultation had got under way," Austin said in a formal statement read to newsmen by a member of the U. S. Delegation tonight.

Austin made his comment after informed sources disclosed that the United States is making strong efforts to persuade Arab officials here and abroad to consult with the United Nations on the Palestine problem.

On another Palestine diplomatic front here, the chief delegates of four big powers fired questions at Sir Alexander Cadogan, British Delegate, in an hour's closed meeting at the United Nations headquarters.

The big power consultants, who are seeking a solution to the Palestine partition issue at the request of the Security Council, will meet again Thursday at 10:30 a. m. (E.S.T.) in Austin's New York offices.

A British Delegation spokesman said Cadogan probably would not attend the next big power meeting. Some informed sources said the delay until Thursday was agreed upon in order for the British Delegation and the U. N.-Palestine Partition Commission to compile answers to the scores of questions put to Cadogan.

Britain refuses to discuss measures for partition because such a course is not mutually acceptable to Arabs and Zionists but has offered to answer any questions on Palestine from the other big powers.

Cadogan Absent

Cadogan was absent from the first big power Palestine talks yesterday.

Topping the fast-moving developments of the day were:

1. A high Soviet Delegation source said "some people" hesitate to carry out partitioning of Palestine. He said the United States apparently wants to reopen the whole issue but that Russia felt the partition project should be carried out.

2. Austin replied with this sharp statement expressing regret that the Soviet spokesman has sought to pre-judge the consultations and declaring the U. S. "shall judge the issues when the consultation is completed."

3. A closed meeting of the Security Council originally planned to deal only with Trieste turned into a battle over Palestine. Dr. Jose Arce, Argentina, attacked the U. N. secretariat for circulating an opinion by U. N. legal experts who held that the council has no power to change any part of the U. N. partition plan.

Secretariat Defended

Andrei A. Gromyko, Russia, said the paper contained many good opinions; Austin said the secretariat had the right to pass the paper among the delegates. The council voted 8 to 0 to put the issue on the work sheet; Russia, the Soviet Ukraine, and France abstained from voting.

4. Trieste was almost forgotten but Gromyko did declare it was time for the council to decide on a governor for that city, which is under the watch-care of the council under the Italian Peace Treaty.

Informed sources said the United States is using all possible means in a carefully devised diplomatic campaign to get the Arabs to abandon their boycott of the Palestine talks.

American diplomats were said to be working to this end in New York, Washington and the Middle East.

The apparent aim of the Americans is another attempt at conciliation between Arab anti-Partitionists and Zionists. Such efforts in the past have failed.

CIO Newspaper Guild Snubbed, President Says

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 9 (AP)—The president of the American Newspaper Guild (CIO) charged the State Department today with snubbing his organization.

The union official, Harry Martin, said he had learned from "unimpeachable sources" that the U. S. Delegation to the United Nations World Conference on Freedom of Information at Geneva would not include guildsmen. He did not identify the "sources."

In a statement, Martin said this was "a shocking snub to the newspapermen of America by our government."

Chile Communists Out

SANTIAGO, Chile, March 9 (AP)—The Cabinet approved today a decree removing all Communists from government jobs. The government also is considering a law virtually banning the Communist Party.

Leftist Will Go To Russia For Finland

Paasikiva Named Finns' Delegate

HELSINKI, March 9—(AP)—President Juho Paasikivi appointed today a leftist-hued delegation for the talks in Moscow on a Russo-Finnish treaty of friendship and military aid.

The seven-man delegation will be headed by Premier Mauno Pekkala, who was given authority to "sign any documents possibly arising out of the negotiations."

Parliament will have to satify any pact agreed upon in Moscow. A majority of parties in Parliament oppose any military alliance with the Russians on the ground it would put Finland in the Soviet Eastern bloc. Three members of the delegation represent parties who are against a military pact.

Meeting To Open March 20

The discussions are expected to begin in the Soviet Capital on or about March 20—about three weeks after Prime Minister Stalin made the treaty proposal in a letter to Paasikivi. The latter agreed to the negotiations yesterday after lengthy consultations with parliamentary leaders.

A foreign office source said all directives to the delegation will come from President Paasikivi, who will be in constant contact with the mission.

Paasikivi is still working on the final draft of the response to Stalin's invitation to open treaty negotiations, and it was not known when it would be dispatched to the Kremlin, the source added.

Pekkala is a member of the Social Unity Party, which has joined with the Communists in a popular front which controls 51 seats in Parliament. Both parties favor signing a pact of friendship and mutual aid with Russia.

The deputy chairman of the delegation is Russian-speaking Foreign Minister Carl Enckell. He is an independent whose attitude toward the treaty has not been publicly stated. He is the foreign office authority on relations with Russia.

Oppose Military Alliance

The three delegation members who represent Parliamentary groups opposing a military alliance with Russia are Urho Kekkonen, Agrarian; Dr. J. Soederhjelm, Swedish People's Party; Onni Peltonen, president of the Social Democrats Parliamentary group and c hairman of Parliament's Foreign Affairs Committee.

The other two delegation members are Vice Foreign Minister Reinhold Svento, social unity, and minister of interior Yrjoe Leino, a Communist. They were expected to support the pact.

Some Finnish political sources said too much emphasis should not be placed on the leftist complexion of the delegation. They said Finland was still operating under democratic parliamentary procedure and the delegation must follow the directives it gets.

Parliament has asked that it be kept in regular touch with the military phase of the negotiations. It was not known whether special technical advisers on military matters would be attached to the delegation.

Kekkonen was described as a leftist in foreign affairs but ardently anti-Communist on the domestic scene. Government informants felt he would follow the Agrarian party line which opposed a military pact.

2 Explosions Rock Southern Jerusalem

JERUSALEM, March 9. (AP)—Two heavy explosions shook the virtually deserted Katamon residential district in Southern Jerusalem late tonight.

They were followed by heavy rifle and automatic weapons fire, which dwindled out a half hour later.

First police reports indicated that one or two houses had been blasted and the raiders had to fight their way out. It was not known whether Jews or Arabs were the attackers.

Five Arabs and two Jews were reported killed during the day in a battle in the Jaffa-Tel Aviv area on the coastal plain. The unofficial death toll since the U.N. decision on partition mounted to 1,641.

MacArthur Backers Begin Campaign Strategy Plans

Truman Silent About Program

WASHINGTON, March 9 (AP) — Elated backers of General Douglas MacArthur for President today slated a national strategy huddle a few hours after the General said he was willing to run.

About 20 MacArthur campaign leaders from 10 states will get together, probably next week in Milwaukee, to plan their boom. This was announced by Warren Wright, Chicago banker who is co-ordinator of MacArthur for America Clubs.

The date would be within three weeks of the General's first vote test April 6 in the Wisconsin Republican primary election.

In Ohio, MacArthur men announced a write-in campaign among Republican voters to get the name of the Tokyo Allied Commander on the May 4 primary list.

Will Accept Nomination

MacArthur and President Truman, within hours of each other, announced last night they would accept nomination if offered.

The Truman camp was silent today. However, it long has been taken for granted that the President would run — and that his nomination at the National Convention in Philadelphia in July is certain.

No Truman campaign plans have been made, his press secretary, Charles G. Ross, told reporters in answer to queries.

Meanwihle, the first ballot marking of the 1948 campaign took place in New Hampshire. Two of MacArthur's rivals for the GOP nomination — Harold E. Stassen and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, New York—were battling it out for the prestige that goes with a starting primary victory.

Dewey edged ahead in the first eight precincts reporting, but 290 remained to be heard from. With eight delegate posts at stake, Dewey men were leading in seven races.

Senator McCarthy (R-Wis), a Stassen backer, welcomed MacArthur's entry into the Wisconsin primary as a "fair test between him, Stassen, and Dewey. It might eliminate two of the three as a contender."

A Southern Democratic leader cautioned against a party bolt over the Civil Rights Issue.

Wants Party Platform

W. H. Talbot, Louisiana Democratic National Committeeman, suggested that the Democratic convention either (A) nominate Mr. Truman, a Southerner for vice president, and write a state's rights plank into the party platform, or (B) nominate somebody besides Mr. Truman.

The row over Mr. Truman's Civil Rights stand, which threatens to rip the party in two, should be settled within the party, Talbot said. He counseled that a bolt would help the Republicans and Henry Wallace.

Talbot said he would regret abandoning Mr. Truman, but "I don't see how he can or will back down on Civil Rights."

Stassen said in a statement at Minneapolis that he commends MacArthur "for his forthright statement on his position." He said he has a high regard for the General.

The exuberance among MacArthur forces produced immediate talk of bringing him back from Tokyo. Wright said "it might be well to bring him back."

Another MacArthur man, Rep. Miller (R-Neb), said he knew for sure that MacArthur would return if Congress asks him to testify about Japan. He did not say where he got his information.

Clark's Conduct In Election Case Will Be Probed

Senate Group Will Make Investigation

WASHINGTON, March 9 (INS)—The Ferguson Senate Investigating Subcommittee voted unanimously today to probe Attorney General Clark's conduct in connection with the Kansas City vote fraud charges of 1946.

Three Democrats joined with four Republicans to order the probe, which involves President Truman's campaign to "purge" anti-new dealer Roger C. Slaughter in the Democratic Congressional primary that year.

Will Gather Information

Chairman Ferguson (R) Mich., said the subcommittee's staff has been asked to gather information on policies which "prohibit the FBI from conducting an investigation in election fraud cases except when ordered and in the manner ordered by the Attorney General."

He said that in most other federal offenses, the FBI is "completely free" to make any investigation it deems proper.

The evidence is expected to be used to renew demands that the FBI be removed from the control of the Department of Justice, and converted into a separate non-political agency.

Charges have been made repeatedly in the last two years that the Attorney General orderd a "whitewash" of the vote fraud cases because of political ramifications reaching into the White House.

Democrats joined the Republicans in approving the probe today, in the hope that it will be kept on a non-political basis.

Ferguson's subcommittee is a branch of the Senate Committee on Executive Expenditures, but enjoys wide powers to probe policies beyond those having to do with expenditures.

The chairman stressed, however,

Senator Fights Truman's Civil Rights Measure

Says Country Is On Verge Of War

WASHINGTON, March 9 (AP)—The country "is on the verge of war," Senator Eastland (D-Miss) said today, yet Congress is "asked to drop important things" to take up Civil Rights Legislation.

This, Eastland told the Senate Judiciary Committee, is a "terrible condition." The committee is considering a Federal Anti-Lynching Bill such as President Truman has urged as a part of a Civil Rights Program.

Without naming Mr. Truman, the Mississippian said the country needs as a president "a man who can unite this country against a common foe"—namely, Russia.

"What the people of this country want more than anything else is a man x x xwho will not sacrifice the good of the country for the sake of personal gain from organized pressure groups," Eastland said.

In the House, Rep. Williams (D-Miss) suggested that Mr. Truman "quit now while he is still just 20,000,000 votes behind."

Williams said in a brief speech that the President "wants the Civil Rights Program passed, he wants the south throttled, and most of all he wants to be President again."

Southern Democrats, Williams declared, "are going to play fair with the President and tell him that he is not going to get a thing that he asked for."

Eastland, bitter critic of the Truman Civil Rights stand, spoke out in offering four amendments to the Anti-Lynching Bill.

He proposed that picket line violence be included in the list of "mob" actions the bill would make a federal offense.

He moved to make a city or county liable for deaths at the hands of gangsters or racketeers as well as for deaths in a lynching as the bill now would do.

He would penalize peace officers who do not use "diligent efforts" to solve felonies. The bill does this in lynching cases.

He proposed that communities be liable for damages up to $10,000 for injuries or deaths in race riots. The bill would apply such a provision in lynchings.

Communists Take Chinese Fortress

PEIPING, March 9 (AP)—Szepingkai, Manchurian fortress which withstood all previous assaults, today was reported captured by Communist troops who were storming south for an attack on Mukden's north gateway.

All Chinese newspaper reports said Szepingkai, 105 miles northeast of Mukden, had fallen. Only the government's Central News Agency insisted the garrison still was fighting.

The newspaper dispatches said the conquerers of Szepingkai were shifting southward for an attack on Tiehling, 40 miles northeast of Mukden.

Government quarters declared the position in Manchuria was improved despite the reversal at Szepingkai. They said a ground supply line to long-isolated Mukden was about to be opened.

"Trigger-Mad Cop Killer" Sought In New York City

NEW YORK, March 9—(INS)—Virtually every available man was thrown by the New York Police Department tonight into a hunt for a "trigger-mad cop killer" who shot to death one policeman and seriously wounded another early today.

Patrolman Julius Mirell, 27, and married, was shot in the neck and killed when he chased a burglar suspect into a dark passageway beneath a jewelry store on West 181st Street, off Broadway.

The critically wounded officer, Jacob Zuckerman, 32, fell with two bullets in his chest and one in his left arm when he raced to help Mirell.

Zuckerman, patrolling the other side of the street, ran to the alleyway when he heard the shots and caught the suspect emerging from the cellar with a gun in each hand.

The wounded officer said he believed he had nicked the slayer in their exchange of shots.

The prowler trapped Mirell in the dark. After killing the policeman, he snatched Mirell's service revolver, jumped over the prostrate figure, and was about to flee when he ran into Zuckerman.

Police Commissioner Arthur W. Wallander, who went quickly to the scene and took command of the investigation, declared:

"This man is a mad killer, a dangerous man on the loose. We won't be satisfied until he is tracked down."

All hospitals were being checked tonight for a man about 28 years of age, five feet eight with brown hair.

Dry cleaning establishments were ordered to watch for a camel's hair coat with bloodstains.

Marshall Plan Marked 'Rush' By Congress

Senate To Hold Extra Sessions

WASHINGTON, March 9 (AP)—Congress stamped "rush" on the Marshall Plan today amid growing talk of a possible new war.

Extra sessions were lined up for the Senate to speed action on the $5,300,000,000 European Recovery Program.

And Chairman Eaton (R - NJ) said the House Foreign Affairs Committee would begin writing its own bill after hearing Maj. Gen. Claire Chennault testify tomorrow on aid to China.

Eaton told reporters after a meeting of GOP Committee members with House Speaker Martin (R-Mass) that the House Group may reverse itself and consider the ERP Bill by itself.

Time Element Important

"The time element is of great importance," Eaton said. The committee has been planning to include ERP in the same bill with aid to China, Turkey and Greece.

Leaders of both Houses, conferring earlier in the day, failed to reaching agreement on a joint timetable.

Secretary of State Marshall urged quick action in a personal appeal to House Leader Martin (R-Mass) yesterday.

And today Senator Hill (D-Ala), saying the recovery program is "the best and most immediate chance we have" for peace, told the Senate:

"The world is being pushed toward war by a gigantic conspiracy—dictated from Soviet Russia — against order and security and freedom for mankind."

Secretary of Commerce Harriman told the Senate Finance Committee, in a reference to European aid:

"Time is running against us. Delay is causing serious repercussions."

Some members of the Senate Armed Forces Committee said Secretary of Defense Forrestal told them in a closed hearing yesterday that the possibility of some kind of clash with Russia must be considered.

Saturday Session Seen

Against this background, Senator Wherry, Nebraska, informed the Senate that night sessions Thursday and Friday, and a Saturday session might be necessary to speed action on the Recovery Bill.

Wherry, acting Republican Leader, has been critical of the measure. The Senate completed the seventh day of debate on it today.

Th House Foreign Affairs Committee has not yet finished writing its bill. Members agreed last week to include the Chinese and Greek-Turkish aid programs in the same legislation.

Marshall, however, is pressing for action on the 16-nation European Recovery Program (ERP) first—by April 1, if it is at all possible, so that help definitely will have been promised to Europe before the April 18 elections in Italy.

Red Production Is On Increase

LAKE SUCCESS, March 9—(AP)—The United Nations tonight reported industrial production in Russia, as estimated by Soviet sources, was 22 per cent higher last year than in 1946.

The Soviet production figures were the first ever made available to the U. N. by Russia.

They arrived too late for inclusion in the recent world economic survey, but were published in the February issue of the U. N. Bulletin of Statistics.

While most of the data previously had been published in Moscow, it was regarded here as significant that Russia has finally made a move toward transmitting economic information to the world organization.

The Soviet data did not give the volume of production increases on major items; it dealt only in percentages. It showed, for example,

Ex-Convict Is Believed Victim Of Gang Killing

Body Found Near Laurel In Woods

BALTIMORE, March 9—(AP)—The bullet-riddled body of a man was found today in a woods near Laurel.

It was identified at the city morgue as that of Hunter C. Lewis, 45-year-old ex-convict, who had "dropped from view" in mid-January.

Police say they believe he was the victim of a gangland killing.

Meanwhile, police were questioning a man bearing fresh bullet scars about Lewis' death and a series of armed robberies. Washington detectives said the man in custody had been identified by victims of four District of Columbia holdups.

Lewis' body was found by two Baltimore News-Post reporters after they received information that a man had been killed near a Washington-Baltimore Boulevard night club.

Paroled Year Ago

Lewis was paroled little more than a year ago after serving most of a 25-year sentence for his part in the $20,000 holdup of Raymond Hughes, Baltimore jewel merchant, and his wife. The holdup took place in 1929.

An intensive police investigation, started after the reported killing and wounding of two holdup men in a quarrel over a double-cross, led to the arrest of the wounded man last night.

No charge have been filed against him as yet. Police said he was nabbed when he attempted to enter an automobile near a garage they were keeping under surveillance.

Lt. Leo Kelly and Sgt. Joseph Mahrer of Baltimore's Homicide Squad said they took a .45 automatic from the man and found the front seat of the automobile covered with blood stains.

In the garage the officers said they discovered a .30 caliber rifle, a blackjack, one set of stolen Maryland and two sets of stolen Washington license plates. There were also 10 pairs of handcuffs, rifle and automatic pistol ammunition.

Gun Fight At Elridge

The gun fight which was the starting point of the investigation—including the independent Laurel search by the two newsmen, Wilson Auld and Thomas Hughes—happened at Elridge, southwest of Baltimore, several weeks ago.

There was no exact report on just what occurred, but authorities theorized that Lewis and an associate got into a quarrel, probably before another planned "job," and shot it out. Lewis, this theory had it, took a job in a tavern as an

Appears Sure Of 5 Delegate Votes In State

Stassen Is Only Outright Contender

CONCORD, N. H., March 9—(AP)—Governor Thomas E. Dewey, New York, held a six-to-two lead tonight for New Hampshire's eight seats at the Republican National Convention—on the basis of returns from more than a third of the state's precincts.

Harold E. Stassen, former Governor of Minnesota, was the only other outright contender in this first Presidential primary of 1948.

One of his leading supporters, Republican National Committeeman Frank Sulloway, who ran as a Stassen delegate, said the New Yorker looked like a certain winner of five delegates.

Over the state, in 298 precincts—city wards and individual towns—Republicans elected four delegates at large and each of the two Congressional Districts chose two others.

A Republican Show

It was a Republican show, though Democrats also chose eight delegates to their national nominating convention. All Democratic candidates were pledged to President Truman.

In the contest to select four G.O.P. delegates at large, returns from 108 precincts put Dewey's backers ahead in three races.

Dewey men were running one-two in the Second Congressional District and another was leading in the first district. A Stassen backer was ahead for the second seat in the First District.

Both Dewey and Stassen camps had conceded beforehand that an impressive victory today would give a psychological boost to their campaign. The effect on the next primary — Wisconsin's on April 6 — figured especially in their calculations.

Bright sunny skies during the voting hours were counted on to bring out a 55,000 total. The tabulating was slowed in many communities, however, because it was the annual town meeting day, when local officers are selected in New Hampshire communities.

At midnight, the tabulating disclosed two Dewey candidates setting the pace for delegate-at-large. They were both veteran campaigners, former Governor Robert O. Blood with 5,857 votes and Governor Charles M. Dale with 5,637.

Another Dewey man—State Committee Vice Chairman Robert Upton—was third with 4,890.

Three Stassen men were bunched closely for the fourth seat: former Congressman Foster Stearns with 4,070; Sulloway with 3,912; and former National Committeeman Robert Burroughs with 3,903.

In the First District, a Stassen supporter was running second. If he held that pace, he would take one of the two district places.

Contrasting campaign methods were employed by the two rivals. Stassen made two tours through the state, the second only last week. Dewey relied largely on a veteran organization.

Would Settle For Three

In spite of public claims of victory before the voting started, Stassen's backers privately agreed they would consider his showing impressive if he landed three delegates.

An effort to enter the name of General Dwight D. Eisenhower officially as a Republican Presidential candidate was stamped out well ahead of primary day by a letter from the General disclaiming any desire to run.

Nevertheless two men pledged to him ran as candidates for delegate at large and another favorable to him in one of the districts. None of the three was among the early leaders in the tabulating.

The complete 108 precinct vote was:

Blood (Dewey) 5,857; Dale (Dewey) 5,637; Upton (Dewey) 4,890; Stearns (Stassen) 3,912; Burroughs (Stassen) 3,903; J. Walter Wiggin (Dewey) 3,449; Earl S. Hewitt (Stassen) 3,312; John P. H. Chandler (Eisenhower) 905; J. N. Moore (Eisenhower) 773; W. T. Coleman (Undeclared) 905.

First District (two to be elected) thirty precincts out of 130: Virgil D. White (Dewey) 2,006; W. G. Saltonstall (Stassen) 1,401; T. J. Manning (Dewey) 1,262; Charles W. Jenks (Dewey) 1,215; Wm. L. Phinney (Stassen) 912; John W. Parfitt (Undeclared) 164.

Second District (two to be elected) Seventy eight precincts out of 168: Chas. A. Holden (Dewey) 2,240. Chas. M. Mills (Dewey) 2,067. Donald G. Matson (Stassen) 1,953. Chas. W. Tobey, Jr. (Undeclared) 1,641. Philip C. Heald (Stassen) 1,611. Eliot A. Carter (Undeclared) 1,025. Franklin Flanders (Eisenhower) 510. Rita Collyer (Undeclared) 332.

Federal Oleo Tax Attacked By Agricultural Committee

WASHINGTON, March 9 — (AP) — One thing sure about the House oleomargarine hearings—nobody is trying to butter up anybody.

The agricultural committee is considering 18 bills to kill the federal taxes on oleo. And during today's noisy sessions:

A Republican Cogressman shouted that he is ashamed of some Republican Congressmen.

A professor said milk is a perfectly good food, especially if you are a calf.

Another Congressman said irate women voters may use their margarine spoons to paddle Congressmen who fail to support one of the 18 bills.

Rep. Mitchell (R-Ind.) was the angriest. He appeared as a witness to say he wants the taxes removed. Discriminatory, antiquated taxes, he called them.

And then Mitchell said:

"I was shocked, when it became apparent from the questions asked by only a few of the members of this committee, that the vital issues of this proposed legislation are to be ignored.

"I am ashamed to admit that these questions have all emanated from those members of this committee who are also members of my political party."

Rep. Andresen (R-Minn.) wondered if the fact that the housewife has to color oleo isn't the main program.

"Why shouldn't the oleo people be allowed to color their product?" asked Mitchell. "The people who make butter do.

"Let the oleo people color their oleo any color they want to—yellow, pink, blue or any other color.

"Butter does not own the color yellow."

Dr. H. J. Deuel, Jr., of the University of Southern California School of Medicine, maintained that oleo is just as nourishing as butter.

Not that he has any objections to milk. It's just that—

"While cows' butterfat is not necessarily essential for children, it is a fat par excellence for the calf."

Kemper Enters Fourth Congressional Race

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 9 (AP)—Harry Kemper, a Baltimore businessman, officially entered the contest for the Democratic nomination in the Fourth Congressional District.

Sydney R. Traub, a Baltimore attorney, has also filed for the post on the Democratic ticket.

Republican contestants are Paul Robertson and James W. Miller, both of Baltimore.

George H. Fallon is the incumbent. He has not yet filed.

U. S., Russia Clash Heatedly Over Palestine

Austin Answers Soviet Remarks

LAKE SUCCESS, March 9 (AP)—The United States and Russia clashed heatedly today in a new battle of words over Palestine.

Warren R. Austin, Chief United States Delegate to the United Nations, took the unusual step of answering directly a remark from a Soviet source. This source had said the United States apparently wants to reopen the Palestine issue in the U. N. The Russian refused to be quoted by name on what he told newsmen early in the day.

Austin Makes Statement

"I regret that the Soviet spokesman has sought to pre-judge the issues before the process of consultation had got under way," Austin said in a formal statement read to newsmen by a member of the U. S. Delegation tonight.

Austin made his comment after informed sources disclosed that the United States is making strong efforts to persuade Arab officials here and abroad to consult with the United Nations on the Palestine problem.

On another Palestine diplomatic front here, the chief delegates of four big powers fired questions at Sir Alexander Cadogan, British Delegate, in an hour's closed meeting at the United Nations headquarters.

The big power consultants, who are seeking a solution to the Palestine partition issue at the request of the Security Council, will meet again Thursday at 10:30 a. m. (E.S.T.) in Austin's New York offices.

A British Delegation spokesman said Cadogan probably would not attend the next big power meeting. Some informed sources said the delay until Thursday was agreed upon in order for the British Delegation and the U. N.-Palestine Partition Commission to compile answers to the scores of questions put to Cadogan.

Britain refuses to discuss measures for partition because such a course is not mutually acceptable to Arabs and Zionists but has offered to answer any questions on Palestine from the other big powers.

Cadogan Absent

Cadogan was absent from the first big power Palestine talks yesterday.

Topping the fast-moving developments of the day were:

1. A high Soviet Delegation source said "some people" hesitate to carry out partitioning of Palestine. He said the United States apparently wants to reopen the whole issue but that Russia felt the partition project should be carried out.

2. Austin replied with this sharp statement expressing regret that the Soviet spokesman has sought to pre-judge the consultations and declaring the U. S. "shall judge the issues when the consultation is completed."

3. A closed meeting of the Security Council originally planned to deal only with Trieste turned into a battle over Palestine. Dr. Jose Arce, Argentina, attacked the U. N. secretariat for circulating an opinion by U. N. legal experts who held that the council has no power to change any part of the U. N. partition plan.

Secretariat Defended

Andrei A. Gromyko, Russia, said the paper contained many good opinions; Austin said the secretariat had the right to pass the paper among the delegates. The council voted 8 to 0 to put the issue on the work sheet; Russia, the Soviet Ukraine, and France abstained from voting.

4. Trieste was almost forgotten but Gromyko did declare it was time for the council to decide on a governor for that city, which is under the watch-care of the council under the Italian Peace Treaty.

Informed sources said the United States is using all possible means in a carefully devised diplomatic campaign to get the Arabs to abandon their boycott of the Palestine talks.

American diplomats were said to be working to this end in New York, Washington and the Middle East.

The apparent aim of the Americans is another attempt at conciliation between Arab anti-Partitionists and Zionists. Such efforts in the past have failed.

CIO Newspaper Guild Snubbed, President Says

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 9 (AP)—The president of the American Newspaper Guild (CIO) charged the State Department today with snubbing his organization.

The union official, Harry Martin, said he had learned from "unimpeachable sources" that the U. S. Delegation to the United Nations World Conference on Freedom of Information at Geneva would not include guildsmen. He did not identify the "sources."

In a statement, Martin said this was "a shocking snub to the newspapermen of America by our government."

Leftist Will Go To Russia For Finland

Paasikiva Named Finns' Delegate

HELSINKI, March 9—(AP)—President Juho Paasikivi appointed today a leftist-hued delegation for the talks in Moscow on a Russo-Finnish treaty of friendship and military aid.

The seven-man delegation will be headed by Premier Mauno Pekkala, who was given authority to "sign any documents possibly arising out of the negotiations."

Parliament will have to satify any pact agreed upon in Moscow. A majority of parties in Parliament oppose any military alliance with the Russians on the ground it would put Finland in the Soviet Eastern bloc. Three members of the delegation represent parties who are against a military pact.

Meeting To Open March 20

The discussions are expected to begin in the Soviet Capital on or about March 20—about three weeks after Prime Minister Stalin made the treaty proposal in a letter to Paasikivi. The latter agreed to the negotiations yesterday after lengthy consultations with parliamentary leaders.

A foreign office source said all directives to the delegation will come from President Paasikivi, who will be in constant contact with the mission.

Paasikivi is still working on the final draft of the response to Stalin's invitation to open treaty negotiations, and it was not known when it would be dispatched to the Kremlin, the source added.

Pekkala is a member of the Social Unity Party, which has joined with the Communists in a popular front which controls 51 seats in Parliament. Both parties favor signing a pact of friendship and mutual aid with Russia.

The deputy chairman of the delegation is Russian-speaking Foreign Minister Carl Enckell. He is an independent whose attitude toward the treaty has not been publicly stated. He is the foreign office authority on relations with Russia.

Oppose Military Alliance

The three delegation members who represent Parliamentary groups opposing a military alliance with Russia are Urho Kekkonen, Agrarian; Dr. J. Soederhjelm, Swedish People's Party; Onni Peltonen, president of the Social Democrats Parliamentary group and c hairman of Parliament's Foreign Affairs Committee.

The other two delegation members are Vice Foreign Minister Reinhold Svento, social unity, and minister of interior Yrjoe Leino, a Communist. They were expected to support the pact.

Some Finnish political sources said too much emphasis should not be placed on the leftist complexion of the delegation. They said Finland was still operating under democratic parliamentary procedure and the delegation must follow the directives it gets.

Parliament has asked that it be kept in regular touch with the military phase of the negotiations. It was not known whether special technical advisers on military matters would be attached to the delegation.

Kekkonen was described as a leftist in foreign affairs but ardently anti-Communist on the domestic scene. Government informants felt he would follow the Agrarian party line which opposed a military pact.

2 Explosions Rock Southern Jerusalem

JERUSALEM, March 9. (AP)—Two heavy explosions shook the virtually deserted Katamon residential district in Southern Jerusalem late tonight.

They were followed by heavy rifle and automatic weapons fire, which dwindled out a half hour later.

First police reports indicated that one or two houses had been blasted and the raiders had to fight their way out. It was not known whether Jews or Arabs were the attackers.

Five Arabs and two Jews were reported killed during the day in a battle in the Jaffa-Tel Aviv area on the coastal plain. The unofficial death toll since the U.N. decision on partition mounted to 1,641.

MacArthur Backers Begin Campaign Strategy Plans

Truman Silent About Program

WASHINGTON, March 9 (AP) — Elated backers of General Douglas MacArthur for President today slated a national strategy huddle a few hours after the General said he was willing to run.

About 20 MacArthur campaign leaders from 10 states will get together, probably next week in Milwaukee, to plan their boom. This was announced by Warren Wright, Chicago banker who is co-ordinator of MacArthur for America Clubs.

The date would be within three weeks of the General's first vote test April 6 in the Wisconsin Republican primary election.

In Ohio, MacArthur men announced a write-in campaign among Republican voters to get the name of the Tokyo Allied Commander on the May 4 primary list.

Will Accept Nomination

MacArthur and President Truman, within hours of each other, announced last night they would accept nomination if offered.

The Truman camp was silent today. However, it long has been taken for granted that the President would run — and that his nomination at the National Convention in Philadelphia in July is certain.

No Truman campaign plans have been made, his press secretary, Charles G. Ross, told reporters in answer to queries.

Meanwihle, the first ballot marking of the 1948 campaign took place in New Hampshire. Two of MacArthur's rivals for the GOP nomination — Harold E. Stassen and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, New York—were battling it out for the prestige that goes with a starting primary victory.

Dewey edged ahead in the first eight precincts reporting, but 290 remained to be heard from. With eight delegate posts at stake, Dewey men were leading in seven races.

Senator McCarthy (R-Wis), a Stassen backer, welcomed MacArthur's entry into the Wisconsin primary as a "fair test between him, Stassen, and Dewey. It might eliminate two of the three as a contender."

A Southern Democratic leader cautioned against a party bolt over the Civil Rights Issue.

Wants Party Platform

W. H. Talbot, Louisiana Democratic National Committeeman, suggested that the Democratic convention either (A) nominate Mr. Truman, a Southerner for vice president, and write a state's rights plank into the party platform, or (B) nominate somebody besides Mr. Truman.

The row over Mr. Truman's Civil Rights stand, which threatens to rip the party in two, should be settled within the party, Talbot said. He counseled that a bolt would help the Republicans and Henry Wallace.

Talbot said he would regret abandoning Mr. Truman, but "I don't see how he can or will back down on Civil Rights."

Stassen said in a statement at Minneapolis that he commends MacArthur "for his forthright statement on his position." He said he has a high regard for the General.

The exuberance among MacArthur forces produced immediate talk of bringing him back from Tokyo. Wright said "it might be well to bring him back."

Another MacArthur man, Rep. Miller (R-Neb), said he knew for sure that MacArthur would return if Congress asks him to testify about Japan. He did not say where he got his information.

Clark's Conduct In Election Case Will Be Probed

Senate Group Will Make Investigation

WASHINGTON, March 9 (INS)—The Ferguson Senate Investigating Subcommittee voted unanimously today to probe Attorney General Clark's conduct in connection with the Kansas City vote fraud charges of 1946.

Three Democrats joined with four Republicans to order the probe, which involves President Truman's campaign to "purge" anti-new dealer Roger C. Slaughter in the Democratic Congressional primary that year.

Will Gather Information

Chairman Ferguson (R) Mich., said the subcommittee's staff has been asked to gather information on policies which "prohibit the FBI from conducting an investigation in election fraud cases except when ordered and in the manner ordered by the Attorney General."

He said that in most other federal offenses, the FBI is "completely free" to make any investigation it deems proper.

The evidence is expected to be used to renew demands that the FBI be removed from the control of the Department of Justice, and converted into a separate non-political agency.

Charges have been made repeatedly in the last two years that the Attorney General orderd a "whitewash" of the vote fraud cases because of political ramifications reaching into the White House.

Democrats joined the Republicans in approving the probe today, in the hope that it will be kept on a non-political basis.

Ferguson's subcommittee is a branch of the Senate Committee on Executive Expenditures, but enjoys wide powers to probe policies beyond those having to do with expenditures.

The chairman stressed, however,

Senator Fights Truman's Civil Rights Measure

Says Country Is On Verge Of War

WASHINGTON, March 9 (AP)—The country "is on the verge of war," Senator Eastland (D-Miss) said today, yet Congress is "asked to drop important things" to take up Civil Rights Legislation.

This, Eastland told the Senate Judiciary Committee, is a "terrible condition." The committee is considering a Federal Anti-Lynching Bill such as President Truman has urged as a part of a Civil Rights Program.

Without naming Mr. Truman, the Mississippian said the country needs as a president "a man who can unite this country against a common foe"—namely, Russia.

"What the people of this country want more than anything else is a man x x xwho will not sacrifice the good of the country for the sake of personal gain from organized pressure groups," Eastland said.

In the House, Rep. Williams (D-Miss) suggested that Mr. Truman "quit now while he is still just 20,000,000 votes behind."

Williams said in a brief speech that the President "wants the Civil Rights Program passed, he wants the south throttled, and most of all he wants to be President again."

Southern Democrats, Williams declared, "are going to play fair with the President and tell him that he is not going to get a thing that he asked for."

Eastland, bitter critic of the Truman Civil Rights stand, spoke out in offering four amendments to the Anti-Lynching Bill.

He proposed that picket line violence be included in the list of "mob" actions the bill would make a federal offense.

He moved to make a city or county liable for deaths at the hands of gangsters or racketeers as well as for deaths in a lynching as the bill now would do.

He would penalize peace officers who do not use "diligent efforts" to solve felonies. The bill does this in lynching cases.

He proposed that communities be liable for damages up to $10,000 for injuries or deaths in race riots. The bill would apply such a provision in lynchings.

Communists Take Chinese Fortress

PEIPING, March 9 (AP)—Szepingkai, Manchurian fortress which withstood all previous assaults, today was reported captured by Communist troops who were storming south for an attack on Mukden's north gateway.

All Chinese newspaper reports said Szepingkai, 105 miles northeast of Mukden, had fallen. Only the government's Central News Agency insisted the garrison still was fighting.

The newspaper dispatches said the conquerers of Szepingkai were shifting southward for an attack on Tiehling, 40 miles northeast of Mukden.

Government quarters declared the position in Manchuria was improved despite the reversal at Szepingkai. They said a ground supply line to long-isolated Mukden was about to be opened.

Marshall Plan Marked 'Rush' By Congress

Senate To Hold Extra Sessions

WASHINGTON, March 9 (AP)—Congress stamped "rush" on the Marshall Plan today amid growing talk of a possible new war.

Extra sessions were lined up for the Senate to speed action on the $5,300,000,000 European Recovery Program.

And Chairman Eaton (R - NJ) said the House Foreign Affairs Committee would begin writing its own bill after hearing Maj. Gen. Claire Chennault testify tomorrow on aid to China.

Eaton told reporters after a meeting of GOP Committee members with House Speaker Martin (R-Mass) that the House Group may reverse itself and consider the ERP Bill by itself.

Time Element Important

"The time element is of great importance," Eaton said. The committee has been planning to include ERP in the same bill with aid to China, Turkey and Greece.

Leaders of both Houses, conferring earlier in the day, failed to reaching agreement on a joint timetable.

Secretary of State Marshall urged quick action in a personal appeal to House Leader Martin (R-Mass) yesterday.

And today Senator Hill (D-Ala), saying the recovery program is "the best and most immediate chance we have" for peace, told the Senate: "The world is being pushed toward war by a gigantic conspiracy—dictated from Soviet Russia — against order and security and freedom for mankind."

Secretary of Commerce Harriman told the Senate Finance Committee, in a reference to European aid:

"Time is running against us. Delay is causing serious repercussions."

Some members of the Senate Armed Forces Committee said Secretary of Defense Forrestal told them in a closed hearing yesterday that the possibility of some kind of clash with Russia must be considered.

Saturday Session Seen

Against this background, Senator Wherry, Nebraska, informed the Senate that night sessions Thursday and Friday, and a Saturday session might be necessary to speed action on the Recovery Bill.

Wherry, acting Republican Leader, has been critical of the measure. The Senate completed the seventh day of debate on it today.

Th House Foreign Affairs Committee has not yet finished writing its bill. Members agreed last week to include the Chinese and Greek-Turkish aid programs in the same legislation.

Marshall, however, is pressing for action on the 16-nation European Recovery Program (ERP) first—by April 1, if it is at all possible, so that help definitely will have been promised to Europe before the April 18 elections in Italy.

Red Production Is On Increase

LAKE SUCCESS, March 9—(AP)—The United Nations tonight reported industrial production in Russia, as estimated by Soviet sources, was 22 per cent higher last year than in 1946.

The Soviet production figures were the first ever made available to the U. N. by Russia.

They arrived too late for inclusion in the recent world economic survey, but were published in the February issue of the U. N. Bulletin of Statistics.

While most of the data previously had been published in Moscow, it was regarded here as significant that Russia has finally made a move toward transmitting economic information to the world organization.

The Soviet data did not give the volume of production increases on major items; it dealt only in percentages. It showed, for example,

Ex-Convict Is Believed Victim Of Gang Killing

Body Found Near Laurel In Woods

BALTIMORE, March 9—(AP)—The bullet-riddled body of a man was found today in a woods near Laurel.

It was identified at the city morgue as that of Hunter C. Lewis, 45-year-old ex-convict, who had "dropped from view" in mid-January.

Police say they believe he was the victim of a gangland killing.

Meanwhile, police were questioning a man bearing fresh bullet scars about Lewis' death and a series of armed robberies. Washington detectives said the man in custody had been identified by victims of four District of Columbia holdups.

Lewis' body was found by two Baltimore News-Post reporters after they received information that a man had been killed near a Washington-Baltimore Boulevard night club.

Paroled Year Ago

Lewis was paroled little more than a year ago after serving most of a 25-year sentence for his part in the $20,000 holdup of Raymond Hughes, Baltimore jewel merchant, and his wife. The holdup took place in 1929.

An intensive police investigation, started after the reported killing and wounding of two holdup men in a quarrel over a double-cross, led to the arrest of the wounded man last night.

No charge have been filed against him as yet. Police said he was nabbed when he attempted to enter an automobile near a garage they were keeping under surveillance.

Lt. Leo Kelly and Sgt. Joseph Mahrer of Baltimore's Homicide Squad said they took a .45 automatic from the man and found the front seat of the automobile covered with blood stains.

In the garage the officers said they discovered a .30 caliber rifle, a blackjack, one set of stolen Maryland and two sets of stolen Washington license plates. There were also 10 pairs of handcuffs, rifle and automatic pistol ammunition.

Gun Fight At Elridge

The gun fight which was the starting point of the investigation—including the independent Laurel search by the two newsmen, Wilson Auld and Thomas Hughes—happened at Elridge, southwest of Baltimore, several weeks ago.

There was no exact report on just what occurred, but authorities theorized that Lewis and an associate got into a quarrel, probably before another planned "job," and shot it out. Lewis, this theory had it, took a job in a tavern as an

Appears Sure Of 5 Delegate Votes In State

Stassen Is Only Outright Contender

CONCORD, N. H., March 9—(AP)—Governor Thomas E. Dewey, New York, held a six-to-two lead tonight for New Hampshire's eight seats at the Republican National Convention—on the basis of returns from more than a third of the state's precincts.

Harold E. Stassen, former Governor of Minnesota, was the only other outright contender in this first Presidential primary of 1948.

One of his leading supporters, Republican National Committeeman Frank Sulloway, who ran as a Stassen delegate, said the New Yorker looked like a certain winner of five delegates.

Over the state, in 298 precincts—city wards and individual towns—Republicans elected four delegates at large and each of the two Congressional Districts chose two others.

A Republican Show

It was a Republican show, though Democrats also chose eight delegates to their national nominating convention. All Democratic candidates were pledged to President Truman.

In the contest to select four G.O.P. delegates at large, returns from 108 precincts put Dewey's backers ahead in three races.

Dewey men were running one-two in the Second Congressional District and another was leading in the first district. A Stassen backer was ahead for the second seat in the First District.

Both Dewey and Stassen camps had conceded beforehand that an impressive victory today would give a psychological boost to their campaign. The effect on the next primary — Wisconsin's on April 6 — figured especially in their calculations.

Bright sunny skies during the voting hours were counted on to bring out a 85,000 total. The tabulating was slowed in many communities, however, because it was the annual town meeting day, when local officers are selected in New Hampshire communities.

At midnight, the tabulating disclosed two Dewey candidates setting the pace for delegate-at-large. They were both veteran campaigners, former Governor Robert O. Blood with 5,857 votes and Governor Charles M. Dale with 5,637.

Another Dewey man—State Committee Vice Chairman Robert Upton—was third with 4,890.

Three Stassen men were bunched closely for the fourth seat: former Congressman Foster Stearns with 4,070; Sulloway with 3,912; and former National Committeeman Robert Burroughs with 3,903.

In the First District, a Stassen supporter was running second. If he held that pace, he would take one of the two district places.

Contrasting campaign methods were employed by the two rivals. Stassen made two tours through the state, the second only last week. Dewey relied largely on a veteran organization.

Would Settle For Three

In spite of public claims of victory before the voting started, Stassen's backers privately agreed they would consider his showing impressive if he landed three delegates.

An effort to enter the name of General Dwight D. Eisenhower officially as a Republican Presidential candidate was stamped out well ahead of primary day by a letter from the General disclaiming any desire to run.

Nevertheless two men pledged to him ran as candidates for delegate at large and another favorable to him in one of the districts. None of the three was among the early leaders in the tabulating.

The complete 108 precinct vote was:

Blood (Dewey) 5,857; Dale (Dewey) 5,637; Upton (Dewey) 4,890; Stearns (Stassen) 3,912; Burroughs (Stassen) 3,903; J. Walter Wiggin (Dewey) 3,449; Earl S. Hewitt (Stassen) 3,312; John P. H. Chandler (Eisenhower) 905; J. N. Moore (Eisenhower) 773; W. T. Coleman (Undeclared) 905.

First District (two to be elected) thirty precincts out of 130: Virgil D. White (Dewey) 2,006; W. G. Saltonstall (Stassen) 1,401; T. J. Manning (Dewey) 1,262; Charles W. Jenks (Dewey) 1,215; Wm. L. Phinney (Stassen) 912; John W. Parfitt (Undeclared) 164.

Second District (two to be elected) Seventy eight precincts out of 168: Chas. A. Holden (Dewey) 2,240. Chas. M. Mills (Dewey) 2,067. Donald G. Matson (Stassen) 1,953. Chas. W. Tobey, Jr. (Undeclared) 1,641. Philip C. Heald (Stassen) 1,611. Eliot A. Carter (Undeclared) 1,025. Franklin Flanders (Eisenhower) 510. Rita Collyer (Undedeclared) 332.

Kemper Enters Fourth Congressional Race

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 9 (AP)—Harry Kemper, a Baltimore businessman, officially entered the contest for the Democratic nomination in the Fourth Congressional District.

Sydney R. Traub, a Baltimore attorney, has also filed for the post on the Democratic ticket.

Republican contestants are Paul Robertson and James W. Miller, both of Baltimore.

George H. Fallon is the incumbent. He has not yet filed.

"Trigger-Mad Cop Killer" Sought In New York City

NEW YORK, March 9—(INS)—Virtually every available man was thrown by the New York Police Department tonight into a hunt for a "trigger-mad cop killer" who shot to death one policeman and seriously wounded another early today.

Patrolman Julius Mirell, 27, and married, was shot in the neck and killed when he chased a burglar suspect into a dark passageway beneath a jewelry store on West 181st Street, off Broadway.

The critically wounded officer, Jacob Zuckerman, 32, fell with two bullets in his chest and one in his left arm when he raced to help Mirell.

Zuckerman, patrolling the other side of the street, ran to the alleyway when he heard the shots and caught the suspect emerging from the cellar with a gun in each hand.

The wounded officer said he believed he had nicked the slayer in their exchange of shots.

The prowler trapped Mirell in the dark. After killing the policeman, he snatched Mirell's service revolver, jumped over the prostrate figure, and was about to flee when he ran into Zuckerman.

Police Commissioner Arthur W. Wallander, who went quickly to the scene and took command of the investigation, declared:

"This man is a mad killer, a dangerous man on the loose. We won't be satisfied until he is tracked down."

All hospitals were being checked tonight for a man about 28 years of age, five feet eight with brown hair.

Dry cleaning establishments were ordered to watch for a camel's hair coat with bloodstains.

Federal Oleo Tax Attacked By Agricultural Committee

WASHINGTON, March 9 — (AP) — One thing sure about the House oleomargarine hearings—nobody is trying to butter up anybody.

The agricultural committee is considering 18 bills to kill the federal taxes on oleo. And during today's noisy sessions:

A Republican Cogressman shouted that he is ashamed of some Republican Congressmen.

A professor said milk is a perfectly good food, especially if you are a calf.

Another Congressman said irate women voters may use their margarine spoons to paddle Congressmen who fail to support one of the 18 bills.

Rep. Mitchell (R-Ind.) was the angriest. He appeared as a witness to say he wants the taxes removed. Discriminatory, antiquated taxes, he called them.

And then Mitchell said:

"I was shocked, when it became apparent from the questions asked by only a few of the members of this committee, that the vital issues of this proposed legislation are to be ignored.

"I am ashamed to admit that these questions have all emanated from those members of this committee who are also members of my political party."

Rep. Andresen (R-Minn.) wondered if the fact that the housewife has to color oleo isn't the main program.

"Why shouldn't the oleo people be allowed to color their product?" asked Mitchell. "The people who make butter do.

"Let the oleo people color their oleo any color they want to—yellow, pink, blue or any other color.

"Butter does not own the color yellow."

Dr. H. J. Deuel, Jr., of the University of Southern California School of Medicine, maintained that oleo is just as nourishing as butter.

Not that he has any objections to milk. It's just that—

"While cows' butterfat is not necessarily essential for children, it is a fat par excellence for the calf."

Search For Jockey Al Snider Halted By Coast Guard

Wife Holds Faith He will Be Found

MIAMI, Fla., March 9 (AP)—The Coast Guard ended its search today for Jockey Al Snider and two companions but the rider's pretty red-haired wife held faith that his training as a horseman would help him survive the sea.

"I know he is alive," said Mrs. Snider. "He can swim like a fish. He is strong. Dieting to keep his weight down would permit him to live a long time without food."

The Coast Guard, Army and Navy planes and dozens of boats have searched the sea and the Florida Keys without finding a trace of the men.

Snider has been missing for four days with two companions, Don Frazier, Toronto, Can., and C. H. (Tobe) Trotter, horse trainer of Miami. Their small boat was swallowed by darkness Friday, and then a windstorm swept the area.

Three friends offered a reward of $5,000 today to anyone giving information leading to the safe return of the missing trio. It was hoped that boat owners, private fliers and fishermen would redouble their efforts because of the reward.

A huge search has been on since Saturday. Two other boats with six persons aboard were located after being reported missing, but not a trace has been found of Snider and his companions.

Hope was fading among search officials, but not for Mrs. Snider. Weary, ill from her long vigil and under the care of a doctor, she said "I can't believe anything except that he is alive."

Snider and five companions, including George Woods, his agent, were aboard the Yacht Evelyn K. The jockey and those missing with him left the larger boat in a tender to fish. As darkness fell, Woods watched them through binoculars and saw them casting.

The storm struck after dark with 48 mile winds. Next day the search started.

"He was in an unsinkable plywood boat equipped with five lifesaver-pillots," said Mrs. Snider.

Quick Control On Rents Asked

BALTIMORE, March 9 (AP) — Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro, Baltimore, called today upon the Mayors of the country to press for speedy enactment of Rent Control Legislation pending in Congress.

D'Alesandro is chairman of the Standing Committee on Legislation of the U. S. Conference of Mayors.

He said in a letter to the Maryland Congressional Delegation that he views "with alarm the complacency" of Representative Wolcott (R-Mich), who he said has "indicated his intention of postponing consideration of rent control legislation until the latter part of this month."

"Disturbed by the delay in the House" he wrote, "I notified all of the Mayors throughout the country, reminding them of the resolution in favor of rent control adopted at the conference, pointing out the necessity for speedy and resolute action, and requesting that they inform their Congressmen of their concern over the rent control crisis."

The Baltimore city council has passed a local rent control measure which would become effective if federal control lapsed.

McCormick To Run For Congress Post

BALTIMORE, March 9 — (AP) — Leo H. McCormick, wartime director of the Maryland OPA, tonight announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for the Fourth Congressional District seat now held by Representative Fallon (D-Maryland).

McCormick, 39, said he expected the support of the Americans for Democratic Action. He said he had not contacted any of the so-called political leaders before announcing his candidacy.

Cut In Compensation Contributions Seen

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 9—(AP)—Governor Lane looked today toward a cut in unemployment compensation contributions by employers as a possible task for the 1949 General Assembly.

In a letter to Russell S. Davis, chairman of the Department of Employment Security, the governor noted the state compensation reserve fund had increased over $6,000,000 during 1947.

The reserve fund rose from $122,691,678 to $116,600,303 during the year.

He said this was "ample proof of a very healthy condition" and indicate rates to employes could be reduced.

The governor suggested also the benefit of "experience" ratings be granted to veterans whose businesses were interrupted during the war.

Under the law, the record of employers in keeping their workers on the job is considered in their unemployment compensation rates.

that the new investigation will deal only with the conduct of the Attorney General—not with the evidence of vote irregularities in Kansas City.

It was pointed out that little could be done now regarding the charges of "ghost voting" in the primary, since a federal prosecutor has announced that the 80 indictments returned will be quashed.

The first of the vote fraud cases resulted in a directed verdict of acquittal, when Circuit Judge James N. Broadus held that the admissable evidence was insufficient.

Ferguson said today his committee will decide later whether to hold open hearings. The probe was ordered by the Senate Republican Policy Committee, headed by Sen. Taft (R) Ohio, but the full committee advised Ferguson to "proceed cautiously."

Average daily railway loadings increased 10 per cent.

Search For Jockey Al Snider Halted By Coast Guard

Wife Holds Faith He will Be Found

MIAMI, Fla., March 9 (AP)—The Coast Guard ended its search today for Jockey Al Snider and two companions but the rider's pretty red-haired wife held faith that his training as a horseman would help him survive the sea.

"I know he is alive," said Mrs. Snider. "He can swim like a fish. He is strong. Dieting to keep his weight down would permit him to live a long time without food."

The Coast Guard, Army and Navy planes and dozens of boats have searched the sea and the Florida Keys without finding a trace of the men.

Snider has been missing for four days with two companions, Don Frazier, Toronto, Can., and C. H. (Tobe) Trotter, horse trainer of Miami. Their small boat was swallowed by darkness Friday, and then a windstorm swept the area.

Three friends offered a reward of $5,000 today to anyone giving information leading to the safe return of the missing trio. It was hoped that boat owners, private fliers and fishermen would redouble their efforts because of the reward.

A huge search has been on since Saturday. Two other boats with six persons aboard were located after being reported missing, but not a trace has been found of Snider and his companions.

Hope was fading among search officials, but not for Mrs. Snider. Weary, ill from her long vigil and under the care of a doctor, she said "I can't believe anything except that he is alive."

Snider and five companions, including George Woods, his agent, were aboard the Yacht Evelyn K. The jockey and those missing with him left the larger boat in a tender to fish. As darkness fell, Woods watched them through binoculars and saw them casting.

The storm struck after dark with 48 mile winds. Next day the search started.

"He was in an unsinkable plywood boat equipped with five lifesaver-pillots," said Mrs. Snider.

London Weather Warm

LONDON, March 9 (AP) — London thermometers rose to 73 degrees fahrenheit this afternoon. The Greenwich Observatory said it was the warmest early March day here in 107 years.

COMPOSER TO WED-- Composer Meredith Willson, 45, and Ralina Zarova, 33-year-old operatic soprano, obtained a marriage license Monday in Los Angeles, Calif. They expect to marry Saturday. It will be the second marriage for both.

Quick Control On Rents Asked

BALTIMORE, March 9 (AP) — Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro, Baltimore, called today upon the Mayors of the country to press for speedy enactment of Rent Control Legislation pending in Congress.

D'Alesandro is chairman of the Standing Committee on Legislation of the U. S. Conference of Mayors.

He said in a letter to the Maryland Congressional Delegation that he views "with alarm the complacency" of Representative Wolcott (R-Mich), who he said has "indicated his intention of postponing consideration of rent control legislation until the latter part of this month."

"Disturbed by the delay in the House" he wrote, "I notified all of the Mayors throughout the country, reminding them of the resolution in favor of rent control adopted at the conference, pointing out the necessity for speedy and resolute action, and requesting that they inform their Congressmen of their concern over the rent control crisis."

The Baltimore city council has passed a local rent control measure which would become effective if federal control lapsed.

McCormick To Run For Congress Post

BALTIMORE, March 9 — (AP) — Leo H. McCormick, wartime director of the Maryland OPA, tonight announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for the Fourth Congressional District seat now held by Representative Fallon (D-Maryland).

McCormick, 39, said he expected the support of the Americans for Democratic Action. He said he had not contacted any of the so-called political leaders before announcing his candidacy.

Cut In Compensation Contributions Seen

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 9—(AP)—Governor Lane looked today toward a cut in unemployment compensation contributions by employers as a possible task for the 1949 General Assembly.

In a letter to Russell S. Davis, chairman of the Department of Employment Security, the governor noted the state compensation reserve fund had increased over $6,000,000 during 1947.

The reserve fund rose from $122,691,678 to $116,600,303 during the year.

He said this was "ample proof of a very healthy condition" and indicate rates to employes could be reduced.

The governor suggested also the benefit of "experience" ratings be granted to veterans whose businesses were interrupted during the war.

Hungarian Minister Quits

that the new investigation will deal only with the conduct of the Attorney General—not with the evidence of vote irregularities in Kansas City.

It was pointed out that little could be done now regarding the charges of "ghost voting" in the primary, since a federal prosecutor has announced that the 80 indictments returned will be quashed.

The first of the vote fraud cases resulted in a directed verdict of acquittal, when Circuit Judge James N. Broadus held that the admissable evidence was insufficient.

Ferguson said today his committee will decide later whether to hold open hearings. The probe was ordered by the Senate Republican Policy Committee, headed by Sen. Taft (R) Ohio, but the full committee advised Ferguson to "proceed cautiously."

Average daily railway loadings increased 10 per cent.

BROADWAY

NEW YORK, March 9—O. Henry once described restaurants as "literary landmarks." Some of them unquestionably are, particularly those faces, taverns, taprooms and tearooms in the vicinity of Washington Square so many of which have furnished inspiration as well as sustenance to the great and near great of the world of letters. Even more particularly, that landmark once known as J. P. Martin's, now the Hotel Lafayette. Long before Greenwich Village cradled such prodigies as Eugene O'Neill, Edna St. Vincent Millay, Frank Norris, John Reed, Alan Seeger, Theodore Dreiser and Stephen Crane it had furnished background for another generation of literateurs, including Henry James, Edith Wharton, Ellen Glasgow, Brander Matthews and F. Hopkinson Smith. Before that it had sheltered a colony of French expatriates, at least one of whom was destined to make even more important history—Georges Clemenceau, Premier of France.

●—●—●

At that time the building in which the Lafayette is located was occupied by a modest pension (French for boarding house) operated by a Mme. LaRue, and Clemenceau was one of the boarders. In 1883, Jean Baptiste (J. B.) Martin—pronounced Mar-tan, with accent on the second syllable—took over and changed its name to the Hotel Martin. The New York of that period could boast few first-class restaurants, least of all ones with French cuisine, and Martin's became immediately popular for its tasty a la carte dinners at modest prices, especially with the bon vivants who patronized the wine shops on the south side of Washington Square. Its head waiter, the youngest in town, was 19-year-old Jacques Bustanoby, later to become famous in the nite life of New York. The French food and continental atmosphere attracted such visiting celebrities as Sarah Bernhardt, Anna Held and Yvette Guilbert, who sipped absinthe frappes, served on marble-topped tables; also Maurice Barrymore, Ada Rehan and Edwin Booth.

Martin's supplied background for Richard Harding Davis' Van Bibber stories, including "Best Man." It was there that Ephriam Tutt, Arthur Train's semi-autobiographical barrister of "Yankee Lawyer," took refuge with his mongrel pet, Chief Justice, when ousted from his rooming house. Mark Twain was a regular diner at Martin's when he lived around the corner at 21 Fifth Ave. and entertained Robert Louis Stevenson there when the latter visited New York. . . . In 1902 J. B. Martin sold the hotel and restaurant to a compatriot, Raymond Orteig, who had been identified with him in the operation of the place since 1890. Orteig changed the name to the Hotel Lafayette but otherwise preserved the tradition. Marshals Foch and Joffre dined there on their visits to the United States in World War I, as did Paderewski, the pianist who became Poland's Premier aftre World War I.

In 1919, when commercial aviation was still in its infancy, Orteig posted a $25,000 prize to be awarded the first aviator to make a nonstop flight from this country to France. His interest in matters aeronautical dated from 1898, when as maitre d'hotel at Martin's, he became acquainted with two Frenchmen who were guests at the hotel, the Messrs. M.. Varicle and Lieut. Galambert, aeronauts who had brought with them from France a hydrogen balloon fashioned of waterproof oiled silk. Orteig introduced the two Frenchmen to a young newspaperman, Bob Davis, and among them they concocted a stunt worthy of a modern Hollywood press agent. The Spanish-American War had just ended and the victorious American fleet was returning from the Caribbean where (under Admiral Sampson) it had defeated and destroyed the Spanish warships off Cuba. New York was preparing a spectacular welcome as our ships steamed up the Hudson.

The four plotters planned to go aloft and have Orteig shower the homecoming warriors with confetti. On the morning of Aug.21 they established themselves on an empty lot on Riverside Drive, near Grant's Tomb, and started pumping gas into the balloon, to the amused derision of a curious crowd. Unfortunately a gust of air blew away the nipple of the balloon and they had to give up. Twenty-one years later Orteig offered the $25,000 prize for the first aviator to make the nonstop flight to France. Eight years after that in 1927 it was claimed by a 25-year-old flier from the Midwest, Charles A. Lindbergh, who electrified the world by spanning the ocean in a solo flight from New York to Paris. Orteig was awarded the Cross of the Legion of Honor by the French Government for thus helping to promote aviation

Truman Defies Critics; MacArthur's Hat In Ring

Of course, no man likes to retreat under fire, especially if that person be the President of the United States. Mr. Truman has announced that he will not. Through Chairman McGrath of the Democratic National Committee, he has made known, in a carefully prepared statement, that he has decided to run for President if the party convention nominates him in July. It would appear that he is not sure that the nomination will come to him, and rightly so.

How the decision was reached is not immediately known, but it was the outgrowth of a visit paid Mr. Truman by Mr. McGrath and other party wheelhorses on Monday. It is reported that these gentlemen went to see Mr. Truman with the intentions of advising him it was very doubtful whether he could win, and urged him to gracefully remove himself. If such was the case, he evidently disbelieved the former and refused to acquiesce to the latter.

He went beyond that. He instructed the party chairman, so it would seem, to announce that he not only was in the fight for the nomination but that he was not backing down on anything. He made it very clear that he was standing by his guns on anti-lynching, anti-poll tax, anti-discrimination and everything else proposed in his civil rights bill. In other words, those who oppose this and other policies are to be defied. And, this in spite of the fact that the Solid South is in revolt and there are wide differences of opinions over his handling of the Palestine and other foreign problems.

In the wake of Mr. Truman's announcement, there came one from Tokyo to the effect that General Douglas MacArthur would not refuse the Republican nomination for President if it were offered him, and if the American people wanted him. So, it would seem that Gen. MacArthur is quite willing, General Eisenhower to the contrary notwithstanding, to follow in the footsteps of George Washington, Old Hickory Jackson, Zachary Taylor and William Henry Harrison. At the same time, he seems to have made up his mind that he will not flinch from those who would oppose his candidacy on the ground that a military man should stick to his last.

General MacArthur enters the campaign just when the people of the nation are weighing the qualifications of the candidates and endeavoring to make up their mind as to the type of leadership they want, especially when the prospects of a change in Administrations appear more and more certain.

America, during the past months, has been pulled hither and yon by fear and uncertainty. There is no doubt about it. Americans have been scared by the frightful potentialities of the times. The world has gone to pot before, but in the past America has continued forging to higher material planes, and will continue to do so if given an outstanding leader with plenty of guts. If ever a country needed such a man, it is now.

It is claimed a man loses heighth during a day's work. Especially if he wears his feet off around a pool table.

Ball Proposal Far Too Serious To Tack On To ERP

The proposal of Senator Ball to set up a new international agency to resist communism, by arms if necessary, is a far too serious suggestion to be tacked on as a mere amendment to the European Recovery Program. It should be considered separately, on its own merits.

The vast majority of Americans are sympathetic to the idea of ERP. There is disagreement as to the amount of money to be spent. But almost all opposition to the Marshall Plan, in principle, faded when the Red tide engulfed Czechoslovakia. The only question in Washington now is the form of the final law will take.

There can be plenty of argument over the Ball proposal. Strongly as some Americans may feel about the necessity of stopping the spread of communism, multitudes more are not yet willing to take positive steps that easily could lead to war. The Ball amendment, establishing a new international group outside the UN, with no veto power, and contemplating military alliances, might do just that.

A number of objections can be raised against this scheme. It is doubtful whether it could be constitutional for the United States to enter such an alliance. At any rate, as Senator Vandenberg has pointed out, it could commit this nation to war on the vote of foreign countries.

The objections do not mean that the Ball proposal should be dismissed as a crackpot idea. The situation in the world today is desperate and it may be necessary, before too long, to take steps which this nation would have avoided like a plague a few short months ago.

If the European Recovery Program is not the answer to the problem of stopping communism, something stronger may be. Americans will want to think long and hard before they start out, deliberately, on a course from which there can be no retreat.

To prevent further changes in the architectural beauty of the White House, it has been suggested we elected a bachelor President. Speaker of the House Martin can qualify.

Future Of Aviation

Ability of science—greatly advertised recently—to create rain and snow will be put to the test of whether it can succeed as an industrial enterprise.

It has caught the fancy of officialdom to the point that the Kansas Corporation Commission has given Snow Inc. permission to sell stock to the public to raise capital for the business of spreading snow on wheat fields so they will be protected from alternate thaws and freezes during winter as well as from winds.

The chief instrument of the rain and snow makers is the airplane. They carry their gadgets and chemicals up to the clouds and so prod nature into performing as desired.

If this stock issue makes money for investors, it will be because rain and snow making succeeds and that means farmers will get bigger crops.

Perhaps the greatest future of aviation will be in rain making, in which case airplane plants catering to rain makers can become as important an industry as plants turning out tractors, combines and plows.

Baby Comes Home

An addition to the family means new responsibilities and concessions on the part of the members of the household. There are certain things that parents should do in order to safeguard the health of the youngster, regardless of advice to the contrary from well-meaning friends and relatives who reared their children a generation ago.

Dr. Van Dellen

Since many of these procedures are simple, they are often overlooked and neglected.

Let us suppose that mother is returning home from the hospital after having a baby. The doctor has given orders about the food and when she should see him again. Visitors are one of the first problems to contend with and there is no objection, with reservations. Any one with a cold or cough should be discouraged from coming but if this is not known until after their arrival, they should not be allowed in the same room with the infant. This should be a strict rule and followed to the letter.

Moreover, people should not be allowed to lean over the head of the crib. Some will want to fondle the little cherub and a few will need to be warned against kissing him on the mouth. Those who handle the little tike should be asked to wash their hands first and drape a clean cloth over their shoulders for mutual protection. It is also good policy not to play with a child when he is tired or awaken him just to show off.

During the first year of life especially, cleanliness should prevail. Before preparing food, the hands must be washed. For simplicity, it is easy to slip on a clean, washable dress, smock, or apron to cover the garments that are worn in performing other household duties. Whoever picks up the infant, including father, mother, brothers, and sisters, should always observe good hygiene. As most babies drool, a clean cloth or towel ought to be available to wipe his mouth.

Whenever junior is lifted, his head must be supported. When held in an upright position and placed over the shoulder, however, no support of the head is required provided he is held high enough so that his face droops on the other side. In this way, one hand is free to pat the back should "burping" be necessary.

An infant's life is relatively simple; he mostly eats, sleeps, and cries. During the first year, the majority snooze 20 out of 24 hours. Their nourishment is standardized and needs alteration only if sickness occurs or weight is not gained.

Crying has many individual variations and in general represents a need. Perhaps the infant would like to be turned over or have his diaper changed; he may be hungry or thirsty or possibly desires companionship. Sometimes he merely wants to exercise his lungs. In a few, it means illness or cramps resulting from colic. At any rate, wailing is not always a sign of irregularity and if mother has attended to every chore there is no reason to become upset. It can go on for 15 minutes but if it persists beyond this time, something is being missed and the list of possibilities should be rechecked. If nothing can be found, the crying habit should be discussed with the physician.

Vocal Cord Growths

A. M. drites: M yhoarseness has been attributed to singer's nodes. Is surgery indicated?

REPLY

These lesions, also called "screamer's nodes," are not confined to singers but may appear also in teachers or others who use the voice steadily. If the enlargements do not disappear after a period of vocal rest, and symptoms continue, surgery may be in order.

Stony-Jawed

H. F. writes. What is a calcified jaw bone?

REPLY

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

The two major political parties are planning to make use of special motion picture films during the presidential campaign this year. I've heard some of the candidates . . . No doubt the pictures will all be comedies.

This will have a big effect on the Third Party. . . At last Henry Wallace will have to comb his hair.

Of course, with all the candidates making movies of their campaigns. . . . President Truman will have a definite advantage. . . His will be a musical.

This also explains why he's rushing to build a balcony on the White House.

Naturally, in filming these big productions, the parties will have to use heat resistant cameras to protect them from all of the hot air in the political speeches.

One of the candidates is trying to insure the popular vote. . . He's trying to get Mickey Mouse as his running mate.

Of course, he'll lose the cat vote.

And if a drama critic likes a candidate's picture. . . He's going to give it four votes.

Several of the candidates are trying to get Lana Turner to play opposite them. Of course, they don't care whether or not they get elected.

But all of the presidential candidates want me to help them with their movies. . . After all, I've been running for years.

Says DREW PEARSON

DELAND, Fla., March 9—Every newspaperman who takes a winter trip to Florida thinks he has to justify the jaunt by writing a powerful "think" piece on the political, economic and social future of that state — plus whether Sen. Claude Pepper will be re-elected.

I am going to vary the technique somewhat by writing first about a fisherman. Then, if we have time, I'll take up Claude Pepper, the race problem, and the high cost of sun-tan cream.

The fisherman's name is Tom Flowers, and I consider him something of a miracle man. He's the only person in history who's been able to make me catch fish.

Ever since I used to try to entice catfish out of the Neosho river at the age of ten back in Kansas, I have aspired to be a fisherman. It remained an ambition not even remotely achieved. In pursuit of this ambition I have fished in all sorts of places and under all sorts of conditions, from the Virgin Islands to Maine and from the Bahamas to the Chesapeake. From our front porch in Maryland I can almost drop a line into the Potomac, but I can fish there for a full day at a time—and no luck. Other people in the same boat can haul them in, but there seems to be something allergic about my line as far as fish are concerned. When they see my bait they split their gills laughing. You can even see the water rippling with their mirth. In fact, the only time I have had the remotest luck in catching fish was tossing hand grenades into the rivers of the Balkans.

Therefore, when Mr. and Mrs. Morris McGill of Cassadaga, Florida, said they were going to take me fishing, I was polite but that was about all. I could easily have predicted that I would catch nothing, and would have been sure the prediction would boost my 83 per cent average.

That, however, was before I had met Tom Flowers.

Cordell Hull Fished Here

Tom, I was told, had fished with about every important nabob in the U.S.A. and quite a few outside the U.S.A. Cordell Hull once came down from Washington to fish with him, as did the editor of Field and Stream, while one man wrote all the way from South Africa to ask for a date on Tom Flowers' fishing calendar. In fact, Tom has so many fishing customers that he's booked up weeks in advance and it's about as hard getting a fishing date with him as it is getting a haircut at the millionaires' barbershop in Palm Beach.

But despite this advance buildup, I remained unimpressed. However, being the perfect guest, I went fishing. I even got up at 4:30 a. m. and drove with Tom about 25 miles up into the jungles of the St. Johns river, arriving there before dawn.

Tom Flowers, I began to realize, was not one to take fishing preparations lightly. The time had to be right. The place had to be right. The bait had to be right. After that if you didn't catch bass, there just weren't any bass around to be caught.

I asked Tom Flowers what was the secret of his ability to catch fish. He said it was the fact that in the days when he was catching fish for his wife's market, he had to catch 'em or not eat. Fishing, said Tom, is not always a sport. It can be a grim business.

Tom has been to a lot of places, including a day shown around Washington by the then secretary of state; but he says he would rather live in his bungalow on the banks of the St. Johns river and do what he wants to do than swap places with a newspaper columnist or Claude Pepper, or even the secretary of state.

Probably he's right.

Oh yes—I almost forgot the point of the story. Under Tom Flowers' tutelage, I finally cast off my fishing jinx by catching eight black bass, the legal limit under the game laws of Florida.

Civil Rights In South

Southern politicoes say they are sore about the Truman civil-rights message because they had just begun to make strides to put their own house in order. . . . Gov. Strom Thurman of South Carolina went all out to prosecute the white taxi-drivers who lynched a negro near Greenville. . . . Georgia, under Ellis Arnall, had abolished its poll tax. . . . South Carolina was getting ready to abolish its tax. . . . Now, say political leaders, this progress will be reversed. . . . Young Southerners don't seem worried about Truman's civil-rights program.

Students at Stetson University, plus young reporters on various newspapers said they thought it was a political tempest-in-a-teapot. . . . Karl Bickel, who retired as head of the United Press because he wanted to take life easy, is now busier than ever running the town of Sarasota, plus the Ringling Museum, plus the Florida Historical Society, plus any other enterprise that helps the community. Regarding race relations, Karl says: "The thing that will solve the negro problem is high wages for field hands. When they get paid well they want to buy things. They not only improve themselves, but they also help business."

Florida Merry-Go-Round

Don't say Florida isn't broad-minded. The John B. Stetson University even welcomed this Lee hat man. . . . In Florida they say that everyone is against Senator Pepper except the voters. . . . (Even those who don't like Claude admire his skill and courage). Prediction: Pepper will keep right on being Senator from Florida as long as he wants to run. . . . Healthy signs of the times: Students at Stetson University are already jumping into politics. One law student, Dick Cooper, an ex-G.I., is running for governor; John Hathaway is running for the state legislature; Douglas Senstrom is running for judge of Seminole county. . . . Cooper, 27-year-old candidate for governor, never misses classes, has a high scholastic record, stumps the state during week ends. He begins his speeches this way: "I'm the only candidate frank enough to admit that he has no chance of being elected." (Cooper is making a good impression, may make the grade in some future race). . . . Most southern Democrats are cussing out Truman, but Daytona Beach Democrats decided to do more than cuss. They are organizing to instruct Florida's delegation to the Philadelphia convention for Henry Kaiser. He once worked in Daytona. . . . When Ed Lagron, a Daytona Beach veteran, was ruled out of placing insurance on a city hospital because he was away at Guadalcanal, and when Vet Phil Wagner couldn't get any Coca Cola for his new restaurant because he hadn't been around to keep up his soft-drink orders, they and some other vets organized the veterans' business men's club. They stick together to see that veterans get their share of business.

Truman's Announcement Sign Of Both Weakness, Strength

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, March 9—President Truman's announcement that he will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the presidency is a sign of both weakness and strength.

To the extent that the announcement was forced prematurely in order to set at rest rumors of withdrawal, it indicates that Mr. Truman's political advisers need the official decision at this time to ward off disintegration of the Truman strength among federal officeholders in the various states. These officeholders usually control the selection of delegates.

In the sense that Mr. Truman's political stock has been declining due to revolts within the party, the announcement carries with it a note of defiance and tells all dissident factions that Mr. Truman isn't going to pull out voluntarily and that he means to make a fight. This may be considered ample warning, and, of course, it assures him of the nomination. With the presidential power to remove almost all federal appointees now complete, due to recent decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States, woe betide any federal officeholder who ventures to fight a nomination wanted by the chief executive.

Not Up For Re-Election

Mr. Truman is not up for re-election, as he was not the party nominee for president the last time. But he has held the presidency since the beginning of the present fourth term of the New Deal lacking only about three months. By all the rules of the political game, he is entitled to the succeeding nomination in his own right.

There is an old saying in politics that if a President does not deserve to be continued in office on the basis of his own record, no other party member can hope to run on that record either. There have been vice presidents who succeeded to the presidency and have not won the presidential nomination at the first subsequent nominating convention, but this has not happened for many decades. Thus, in the present century, Theodore Roosevelt, who succeeded President McKinley in September 1901 within six months after inauguration, was accepted for nomination in 1904. But he held the anti-third term sentiment so strongly that he announced almost immediately after his election in 1904 that he would not be a candidate for renomination in 1908 for what really would have been a second term in his own right.

Vice President Coolidge, who succeeded President Harding in August 1923 in the midst of a presidential term, accepted one nomination in 1924 but announced that he did not "choose to run" in 1928. President Franklin Roosevelt ignored all these precedents and, in the language of his national chairman, James A. Farley, "engineered his own nomination" and took not only a third but a fourth-term nomination.

Mr. Truman is beset with internal strife in his party and undoubtedly he was importuned to try no longer to give the customary impression of being drafted or sought by the party. The danger that he might be abandoned by his party if he failed to announce his intentions has been intensified by southern revolt.

Old Custom Revived

The decision to crack the whip and make federal officeholders toe the line revives an old presidential custom. Back in 1908, when President Taft had lost his popularity and Theodore Roosevelt wanted the nomination, the federal officeholding group was able to save the nomination for Mr. Taft, but it split the party wide open and the regular Republican nominee didn't get a dozen electoral votes.

There is no gainsaying the fact that President Truman is by no means the strongest candidate the Democratic Party could name. Chief Justice Vinson would easily win the contest this year if given the party nomination. So would Senator Harry Byrd of Virginia.

What Mr. Truman has failed to perceive is that this country is today non-radical. A majority of the voters leans away from fake liberalism and radicalism, and Mr. Truman has completely misjudged the temper of the country by aligning himself with the labor-union bosses and other radicals. The Congress today reflects the popular will expressed in November 1946, not only through the Republican majority but the substantial number of Democrats who voted for the Taft-Hartley law. Yet Mr. Truman clings desperately to the foolish political strategy which ties his kite to the CIO stars. Mr. Truman might have been a popular figure and might have been regarded in March 1948 as a sure winner if he had not chosen to cast his lot with the radicals.

Our Statesmen's Education On European Problems High

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

Senator Vandenberg opened the debate on the Marshall Plan with almost the same language that was used for the United Nations Charter, the Bretton Woods Plan, the loan to England, etc., saying, "This will determine our fate for generations." It will, he says, take Europe "completely off the dole at the end of the adventure." We have heard that before.

It is time to cut out the flowery promises and get down to brass tacks. The American people want to know that some hard-boiled Americans are going to run the Marshall program, and not have more billions dissipated in a world-wide WPA, run either by bleeding hearts or left-wing Quislings who used UNRRA money to build up Stalin.

They want a foreign policy that they can understand. The Marshall Plan is advocated as a weapon in the "cold war" against Russia. Yet the author of the plan, Secretary Marshall, said it is "not directed against any country or doctrine." Russia was, in fact, invited to come in. And President Truman sent Secretary Marshall to China to induce Chiang-Kai-Shek and the Chinese Communists to get together.

Time to Get Down to Earth

Yes, it is time to get down to earth about America's billions. Since the war in Europe ended, we have already given to the 16 countries in the Marshall Plan $11,724,000,000. Now another $17,000,000,000. That's $38,000,000,000 since the war. Last March, $400,000,000 for Greece and Turkey. Now Marshall says we must add $275,000,000 to that. And $570,000,000 to China. And a sweating Congressman shouts, "We have failed Indonesia!" And the Latin-Americans, who live on an average of $2.50 a week, will be next in line. Where will it stop? How much longer can we go on in this drunken profligate fashion?

Secretary of Commerce Harriman has just now informed us that "Russia is a greater menace than Hitler was." He was a long time waking up. He went there as our Ambassador in October, 1943.

The House Foreign Affairs Committee has just issued a report that the "Communists have one goal—world revolution." Rip Van Winkle had a good snooze. The Dies Committee told us the same thing ten years ago. But the Administration laughed at that.

The warning flags have been flying since 1919, at least, when Lenin said: "The existence of the Soviet Republic side by side with imperialist states is unthinkable . . . A series of frightful collisions between the Soviet Republic and the bourgeois states will be inevitable."

Gave Despite Red Danger

Despite the red flag of danger, we gave Russia $11,260,343,603 in lend-lease. Even since the war ended we gave her $168,000,000. And since the war, $301,000,000 to Yugoslavia, $174,000,000 to Czechslovakia, $349,000,000 to Poland, and lesser sums to Hungary, Bulgaria, and Albania. Billions thrown away—swallowed up by the great peace-loving-greater-menace-than-Hitler.

Was everybody in Washington asleep at the switch? Billions to build up Russia and her satellites; more billions to stop Stalin's forward march! UNRRA, Export-Import loans, and gifts of war surplus materials were made to the same peace-loving menace. And Poland, Finland, the Baltic countries, Manchuria, etc., were sacrificed to this peace-loving menace. Our leaders drove through all traffic lights.

Don't say this is beating old straw. It isn't. It is this year's campaign. If the Truman-Marshall-Vandenberg stand against Russia is right, Roosevelt was wrong. Wallace says Roosevelt was right.

Not counting our own war costs, we have poured $73,000,000,000 into Europe and Asia, and may pour $17,000,000,000 more on two foreign policies, diametrically opposed. Our statesmen's education comes high.

These Days

The Condon Case

PRINCIPLES of administrative conduct are involved in the Condon Case which transcend the learned doctor, the Secretary of Commerce and even the President himself.

1. Dr. Edward U. Condon, head of the National Bureau of Standards, is accused by the FBI and the Thomas Committee of serious indiscretion in the performance of his public duty and his private life related to public duty. So far as the public knows, he is accused neither of disloyalty nor espionage. Nevertheless, it is known, from the general tenor of the gossip attending the Special Federal Grand Jury, sitting in New York, that there has been disloyalty and espionage in connection with the atom bomb. That makes any reference to an individual in connection with the atom bomb significant.

2. In relation to the Condon Case, J. Edgar Hoover, head of the FBI, addressed a letter to Averell Harriman, Secretary of Commerce, in whose department the Bureau of Standards is situated. Dr. Condon is, therefore, an employe of the American people, receiving a salary from their agent, the Treasury of the United States.

3. Averell Harriman refuses to release the letter in "the public interest." He does not state what the public interest is but requires that the Thomas Committee accept his obiter dictum as final. Mr. Harriman is neither by the Constitution nor by his personal qualifications entitled to determine this question alone.

The power of Congress to investigate the conduct of employes of the American government is so well established by law and precedent that Mr. Harriman's attitude can only be described as presumptuous. Congress will without doubt take care of that in the proper lawful manner.

4. Only Secretary Harriman, Attorney General Tom Clark or the President can order the letter to be made public. J. Edgar Hoover, a subordinate of the Attorney General, is not in a position to make it public without the Attorney General's consent. Therefore, the letter remains secret because Averell Harriman, Tom Clark and the President wish it to remain secret. That letter from J. Edgar Hoover to Averell Harriman must contain some extremely important data to have frightened these gentlemen into making it an issue in an election year.

It throws additional light on the conduct of the Special Federal Grand Jury in New York and the many rumors concerning the quarrel between the FBI and the White House as to what national security really requires. Certainly the report that three top persons who were members of the Communist cell organized in 1934 have been let off despite FBI evidence is startling. Yet, it must be noted, none of these rumors, mounting to a furor, may be true.

5. It is because of the queer rumors concerning the Special Federal Grand Jury in New York and speculation concerning the Hoover-Harriman letter, that Dr. Condon, if he possesses all the virtues that he claims for himself, should demand its immediate publication. As a volunteer public relations counsel, I advise him that he will be suspected all his life unless that letter is published. No other means can exonerate him. No specially created government agency can exonerate him. Only publication of the Hoover-Harriman letter can lead to exoneration—if it does. Secretary Harriman has done Dr. Condon incalculable mischief by his presumptuousness in refusing to produce the letter. The conclusion must be, until the letter is published, that Dr. Condon and Mr. Harriman fear it.

The atomic scientists have set themselves off as a class apart, demanding privileges which are not available to Americans of other occupations. Exemption from suspicion and attack is no one's right, certainly not anyone on the public payroll. It is the American way of protecting the coupntry from corruption. It is a better way than the Gestapo or the GPU employed.

Every man in public life must submit to constant scrutiny. Even in private life, such scrutiny is constant. Credit bureaus, Bishop's, Proundfoot's, Dun and Bradstreet's exist for such purposes. The character committees of Bar Associations exist for that purpose. The atomic scientists had better get off their high horses or we shall have to regard them not only as Great Brains but also as Swollen Heads.

Love and Patience

What a world of beauty and understanding is revealed, and opened to the light for us when we have sufficient Love and Patience to search it out. So many people hide within themselves. We only gets peeps at them, until we have so gained their confidence that they throw open their heart to us.

The cabinet maker, with a great Love for beautiful woods, takes unusual pains in the construction of whatever he puts his hands to, and is in no hurry to complete his task, for his Patience is but a covering to his Love for the thing at hand.

Researchers in the laboratories of the world, have a Love for their work, and they never seem to get discouraged, no matter how many problems face them to solve. On and on they work, patiently, and with courage, for they often have all humanity to bless, and this gives them spiritual urge and full satisfaction. They are the unwritten heroes—the silent great!

What a world of Love we miss in our own lives by not planting what we have, in other lives and waiting with Patience to see it take root, finally flowering into fragrance and beauty. There is so much to discover in others, if we will but overlook the faults and follies that so often smoke-screen the personality of each. The keys to most of the treasures in this world are those of Love and Patience. And I might dd —to genuine Happiness as well.

Every naturalist is equipped with these two universal essentials—Love and Patience. It is impossible to read anything from the works of John Muir, W. H. Hudson, Fabre, John Burroughs or Wordsworth, without realizing the Love and Patience that each put into his life work. There is a silent re-bound to the Love that we give to animal, bird, or flowered bush. Even the clouds whisper to us the echo of our Love. Ever in nature is our Patience richly awarded.

If we have a rich supply of Love and Patience we need have no worry about a successful and happy career. We can build our own sanctuary with them.

Truman Defies Critics; MacArthur's Hat In Ring

Of course, no man likes to retreat under fire, especially if that person be the President of the United States. Mr. Truman has announced that he will not. Through Chairman McGrath of the Democratic National Committee, he has made known, in a carefully prepared statement, that he has decided to run for President if the party convention nominates him in July. It would appear that he is not sure that the nomination will come to him, and rightly so.

How the decision was reached is not immediately known, but it was the outgrowth of a visit paid Mr. Truman by Mr. McGrath and other party wheelhorses on Monday. It is reported that these gentlemen went to see Mr. Truman with the intentions of advising him it was very doubtful whether he could win, and urged him to gracefully remove himself. If such was the case, he evidently disbelieved the former and refused to acquiesce to the latter.

He went beyond that. He instructed the party chairman, so it would seem, to announce that he not only was in the fight for the nomination but that he was not backing down on anything. He made it very clear that he was standing by his guns on anti-lynching, anti-poll tax, anti-discrimination and everything else proposed in his civil rights bill. In other words, those who oppose this and other policies are to be defied. And, this in spite of the fact that the Solid South is in revolt and there are wide differences of opinions over his handling of the Palestine and other foreign problems.

In the wake of Mr. Truman's announcement, there came one from Tokyo to the effect that General Douglas MacArthur would not refuse the Republican nomination for President if it were offered him, and if the American people wanted him. So, it would seem that Gen. MacArthur is quite willing, General Eisenhower to the contrary notwithstanding, to follow in the footsteps of George Washington, Old Hickory Jackson, Zachary Taylor and William Henry Harrison. At the same time, he seems to have made up his mind that he will not flinch from those who would oppose his candidacy on the ground that a military man should stick to his last.

General MacArthur enters the campaign just when the people of the nation are weighing the qualifications of the candidates and endeavoring to make up their mind as to the type of leadership they want, especially when the prospects of a change in Administrations appear more and more certain.

America, during the past months, has been pulled hither and yon by fear and uncertainty. There is no doubt about it. Americans have been scared by the frightful potentialities of the times. The world has gone to pot before, but in the past America has continued forging to higher material planes, and will continue to do so if given an outstanding leader with plenty of guts. If ever a country needed such a man, it is now.

Ball Proposal Far Too Serious To Tack On To ERP

The proposal of Senator Ball to set up a new international agency to resist communism, by arms if necessary, is a far too serious suggestion to be tacked on as a mere amendment to the European Recovery Program. It should be considered separately, on its own merits.

The vast majority of Americans are sympathetic to the idea of ERP. There is disagreement as to the amount of money to be spent. But almost all opposition to the Marshall Plan, in principle, faded when the Red tide engulfed Czechoslovakia. The only question in Washington now is the form of the final law will take.

There can be plenty of argument over the Ball proposal. Strongly as some Americans may feel about the necessity of stopping the spread of communism, multitudes more are not yet willing to take positive steps that easily could lead to war. The Ball amendment, establishing a new international group outside the UN, with no veto power, and contemplating military alliances, might do just that.

A number of objections can be raised against this scheme. It is doubtful whether it could be constitutional for the United States to enter such an alliance. At any rate, as Senator Vandenberg has pointed out, it could commit this nation to war on the vote of foreign countries.

The objections do not mean that the Ball proposal should be dismissed as a crackpot idea. The situation in the world today is desperate and it may be necessary, before too long, to take steps which this nation would have avoided like a plague a few short months ago.

If the European Recovery Program is not the answer to the problem of stopping communism, something stronger may be. Americans will want to think long and hard before they start out, deliberately, on a course from which there can be no retreat.

To prevent further changes in the architectural beauty of the White House, it has been suggested we elected a bachelor President. Speaker of the House Martin can qualify.

Future Of Aviation

Ability of science—greatly advertised recently—to create rain and snow will be put to the test of whether it can succeed as an industrial enterprise.

It has caught the fancy of officialdom to the point that the Kansas Corporation Commission has given Snow Inc. permission to sell stock to the public to raise capital for the business of spreading snow on wheat fields so they will be protected from alternate thaws and freezes during winter as well as from winds.

The chief instrument of the rain and snow makers is the airplane. They carry their gadgets and chemicals up to the clouds and so prod nature into performing as desired.

If this stock issue makes money for investors, it will be because rain and snow making succeeds and that means farmers will get bigger crops.

Perhaps the greatest future of aviation will be in rain making, in which case airplane plants catering to rain makers can become as important an industry as plants turning out tractors, combines and plows.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Baby Comes Home

An addition to the family means new responsibilities and concessions on the part of the members of the household. There are certain things that parents should do in order to safeguard the health of the youngster, regardless of advice to the contrary from well-meaning friends and relatives who reared their children a generation ago. Since many of these procedures are simple, they are often overlooked and neglected.

Dr. Van Dellen

Let us suppose that mother is returning home from the hospital after having a baby. The doctor has given orders about the food and when she should see him again. Visitors are one of the first problems to contend with and there is no objection, with reservations. Any one with a cold or cough should be discouraged from coming but if this is not known until after their arrival, they should not be allowed in the same room with the infant. This should be a strict rule and followed to the letter.

Moreover, people should not be allowed to lean over the head of the crib. Some will want to fondle the little cherub and a few will need to be warned against kissing him on the mouth. Those who handle the little tike should be asked to wash their hands first and drape a clean cloth over their shoulders for mutual protection. It is also good policy not to play with a child when he is tired or awaken him just to show off.

During the first year of life especially, cleanliness should prevail. Before preparing food, the hands must be washed. For simplicity, it is easy to slip on a clean, washable dress, smock, or apron to cover the garments that are worn in performing other household duties. Whoever picks up the infant, including father, mother, brothers, and sisters, should always observe good hygiene. As most babies drool, a clean cloth or towel ought to be available to wipe his mouth.

Whenever junior is lifted, his head must be supported. When held in an upright position and placed over the shoulder, however, no support of the head is required provided he is held high enough so that his face droops on the other side. In this way, one hand is free to pat the back should "burping" be necessary.

An infant's life is relatively simple; he mostly eats, sleeps, and cries. During the first year, the majority snooze 20 out of 24 hours. Their nourishment is standardized and needs alteration only if sickness occurs or weight is not gained.

Crying has many individual variations and in general represents a need. Perhaps the infant would like to be turned over or have his diaper changed; he may be hungry or thirsty or possibly desires companionship. Sometimes he merely wants to exercise his lungs. In a few, it means illness or cramps resulting from colic. At any rate, wailing is not always a sign of irregularity and if mother has attended to every chore there is no reason to become upset. It can go on for 15 minutes but if it persists beyond this time, something is being missed and the list of possibilities should be rechecked. If nothing can be found, the crying habit should be discussed with the physician.

Vocal Cord Growths

A. M. drites: M yhoarseness has been attributed to singer's nodes. Is surgery indicated?

REPLY

These lesions, also called "screamer's nodes," are not confined to singers but may appear also in teachers or others who use the voice steadily. If the enlargements do not disappear after a period of vocal rest, and symptoms continue, surgery may be in order.

A condition in which the bone becomes dense due to infection, injury, or the development of a growth.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

The two major political parties are planning to make use of special motion picture films during the presidential campaign this year. I've heard some of the candidates . . . No doubt the pictures will all be comedies.

This will have a big effect on the Third Party. . . At last Henry Wallace will have to comb his hair.

Of course, with all the candidates making movies of their campaigns. . . . President Truman will have a definite advantage. . . His will be a musical.

This also explains why he's rushing to build a balcony on the White House.

Naturally, in filming these big productions, the parties will have to use heat resistant cameras to protect them from all of the hot air in the political speeches.

One of the candidates is trying to insure the popular vote. . . He's trying to get Mickey Mouse as his running mate.

Of course, he'll lose the cat vote.

And if a drama critic likes a candidate's picture. . . He's going to give it four votes.

Several of the candidates are trying to get Lana Turner to play opposite them. Of course, they don't care whether or not they get elected.

But all of the presidential candidates want me to help them with their movies. . . After all, I've been running for years.

Tom Flowers' Technique Bests Bashful Bass; Southerners Resent Truman's "Setback"--Civil Rights Bill, That Is; Nothing Stagnant About Florida Politics

Says DREW PEARSON

DELAND, Fla., March 9—Every newspaperman who takes a winter trip to Florida thinks he has to justify the jaunt by writing a powerful "think" piece on the political, economic and social future of that state — plus whether Sen. Claude Pepper will be re-elected.

I am going to vary the technique somewhat by writing first about a fisherman. Then, if we have time, I'll take up Claude Pepper, the race problem, and the high cost of sun-tan cream.

The fisherman's name is Tom Flowers, and I consider him something of a miracle man. He's the only person in history who's been able to make me catch fish.

Ever since I used to try to entice catfish out of the Neosho river at the age of ten back in Kansas, I have aspired to be a fisherman. It remained an ambition not even remotely achieved. In pursuit of this ambition I have fished in all sorts of places and under all sorts of conditions, from the Virgin Islands to Maine and from the Bahamas to the Chesapeake. From our front porch in Maryland I can almost drop a line into the Potomac, but I can fish there for a full day at a time—and no luck. Other people in the same boat can haul them in, but there seems to be something allergic about my line as far as fish are concerned. When they see my bait they split their gills laughing. You can even see the water rippling with their mirth. In fact, the only time I have had the remotest luck in catching fish was tossing hand grenades into the rivers of the Balkans.

Therefore, when Mr. and Mrs. Morris McGill of Cassadaga, Florida, said they were going to take me fishing, I was polite but that was about all. I could easily have predicted that I would catch nothing, and would have been sure the prediction would boost my 83 per cent average.

That, however, was before I had met Tom Flowers.

Cordell Hull Fished Here

Tom, I was told, had fished with about every important nabob in the U.S.A. and quite a few outside the U.S.A. Cordell Hull once came down from Washington to fish with him, as did the editor of Field and Stream, while one man wrote all the way from South Africa to ask for a date on Tom Flowers' fishing calendar. In fact, Tom has so many fishing customers that he's booked up weeks in advance and it's about as hard getting a fishing date with him as it is getting a haircut at the millionaires' barbershop in Palm Beach.

But despite this advance buildup, I remained unimpressed. However, being the perfect guest, I went fishing. I even got up at 4:30 a. m. and drove with Tom about 25 miles up into the jungles of the St. Johns river, arriving there before dawn.

Tom Flowers, I began to realize, was not one to take fishing preparations lightly. The time had to be right. The place had to be right. The bait had to be right. After that if you didn't catch bass, there just weren't any bass around to be caught.

I asked Tom Flowers what was the secret of his ability to catch fish. He said it was the fact that in the days when he was catching fish for his wife's market, he had to catch 'em or not eat. Fishing, said Tom, is not always a sport. It can be a grim business.

Tom has been to a lot of places, including a day shown around Washington by the then secretary of state; but he says he would rather live in his bungalow on the banks of the St. Johns river and do what he wants to do than swap places with a newspaper columnist or Claude Pepper, or even the secretary of state.

Probably he's right.

Oh yes—I almost forgot the point of the story. Under Tom Flowers' tutelage, I finally cast off my fishing jinx by catching eight black bass, the legal limit under the game laws of Florida.

Civil Rights In South

Southern politicoes say they are sore about the Truman civil-rights message because they had just begun to make strides to put their own house in order. . . . Gov. Strom Thurman of South Carolina went all out to prosecute the white taxi-drivers who lynched a negro near Greenville. . . . Georgia, under Ellis Arnall, had abolished its poll tax. . . . South Carolina was getting ready to abolish its tax. . . . Now, say political leaders, this progress will be reversed. . . . Young Southerners don't seem worried about Truman's civil-rights program.

Students at Stetson University, plus young reporters on various newspapers said they thought it was a political tempest-in-a-teapot. . . . Karl Bickel, who retired as head of the United Press because he wanted to take life easy, is now busier than ever running the town of Sarasota, plus the Ringling Museum, plus the Florida Historical Society, plus any other enterprise that helps the community. Regarding race relations, Karl says: "The thing that will solve the negro problem is high wages for field hands. When they get paid well they want to buy things. They not only improve themselves, but they also help business."

Florida Merry-Go-Round

Don't say Florida isn't broad-minded. The John B. Stetson University even welcomed this Lee hat man. . . . In Florida they say that everyone is against Senator Pepper except the voters. . . . (Even those who don't like Claude admire his skill and courage). Prediction: Pepper will keep right on being Senator from Florida as long as he wants to run. . . . Healthy signs of the times: Students at Stetson University are already jumping into politics. One law student, Dick Cooper, an ex-G.I., is running for governor; John Hathaway is running for the state legislature; Douglas Senstrom is running for judge of Seminole county. . . . Cooper, 27-year-old candidate for governor, never misses classes, has a high scholastic record, stumps the state during week ends. He begins his speeches this way: "I'm the only candidate frank enough to admit that he has no chance of being elected." (Cooper is making a good impression, may make the grade in some future race). . . . Most southern Democrats are cussing out Truman, but Daytona Beach Democrats decided to do more than cuss. They are organizing to instruct Florida's delegation to the Philadelphia convention for Henry Kaiser. He once worked in Daytona. . . . When Ed Lagron, a Daytona Beach veteran, was ruled out of placing insurance on a city hospital because he was away at Guadalcanal, and when Vet Phil Wagner couldn't get any Coca Cola for his new restaurant because he hadn't been around to keep up his soft-drink orders, they and some other vets organized the veterans' business men's club. They stick together to see that veterans get their share of business.

Truman's Announcement Sign Of Both Weakness, Strength

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, March 9—President Truman's announcement that he will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the presidency is a sign of both weakness and strength.

To the extent that the announcement was forced prematurely in order to set at rest rumors of withdrawal, it indicates that Mr. Truman's political advisers need the official decision at this time to ward off disintegration of the Truman strength among federal officeholders in the various states. These officeholders usually control the selection of delegates.

In the sense that Mr. Truman's political stock has been declining due to revolts within the party, the announcement carries with it a note of defiance and tells all dissident factions that Mr. Truman isn't going to pull out voluntarily and that he means to make a fight. This may be considered ample warning, and, of course, it assures him of the nomination. With the presidential power to remove almost all federal appointees now complete, due to recent decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States, woe betide any federal officeholder who ventures to fight a nomination wanted by the chief executive.

Not Up For Re-Election

Mr. Truman is not up for re-election, as he was not the party nominee for president the last time. But he has held the presidency since the beginning of the present fourth term of the New Deal lacking only about three months. By all the rules of the political game, he is entitled to the succeeding nomination in his own right.

There is an old saying in politics that if a President does not deserve to be continued in office on the basis of his own record, no other party member can hope to run on that record either. There have been vice presidents who succeeded to the presidency and have not won the presidential nomination at the first subsequent nominating convention, but this has not happened for many decades. Thus, in the present century, Theodore Roosevelt, who succeeded President McKinley in September 1901 within six months after inauguration, was accepted for nomination in 1904. But he held the anti-third term sentiment so strongly that he announced almost immediately after his election in 1904 that he would not be a candidate for renomination in 1908 for what really would have been a second term in his own right.

Vice President Coolidge, who succeeded President Harding in August 1923 in the midst of a presidential term, accepted one nomination in 1924 but announced that he did not "choose to run" in 1928. President Franklin Roosevelt ignored all these precedents and, in the language of his national chairman, James A. Farley, "engineered his own nomination" and took not only a third but a fourth-term nomination.

Mr. Truman is beset with internal strife in his party and undoubtedly he was importuned to try no longer to give the customary impression of being drafted or sought by the party. The danger that he might be abandoned by his party if he failed to announce his intentions has been intensified by southern revolt.

Old Custom Revived

The decision to crack the whip and make federal officeholders toe the line revives an old presidential custom. Back in 1908, when President Taft had lost his popularity and Theodore Roosevelt wanted the nomination, the federal officeholding group was able to save the nomination for Mr. Taft, but it split the party wide open and the regular Republican nominee didn't get a dozen electoral votes.

There is no gainsaying the fact that President Truman is by no means the strongest candidate the Democratic Party could name. Chief Justice Vinson would easily win the contest this year if given the party nomination. So would Senator Harry Byrd of Virginia.

What Mr. Truman has failed to perceive is that this country is today non-radical. A majority of the voters leans away from fake liberalism and radicalism, and Mr. Truman has completely misjudged the temper of the country by aligning himself with the labor-union bosses and other radicals. The Congress today reflects the popular will expressed in November 1946, not only through the Republican majority but the substantial number of Democrats who voted for the Taft-Hartley law. Yet Mr. Truman clings desperately to the foolish political strategy which ties his kite to the CIO stars. Mr. Truman might have been a popular figure and might have been regarded in March 1948 as a sure winner if he had not chosen to cast his lot with the radicals.

Our Statesmen's Education On European Problems High

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

Senator Vandenberg opened the debate on the Marshall Plan with almost the same language that was used for the United Nations Charter, the Bretton Woods Plan, the loan to England, etc., saying, "This will determine our fate for generations." It will, he says, take Europe "completely off the dole at the end of the adventure." We have heard that before.

It is time to cut out the flowery promises and get down to brass tacks. The American people want to know that some hard-boiled Americans are going to run the Marshall program, and not have more billions dissipated in a world-wide WPA, run either by bleeding hearts or left-wing Quislings who used UNRRA money to build up Stalin.

They want a foreign policy that they can understand. The Marshall Plan is advocated as a weapon in the "cold war" against Russia. Yet the author of the plan, Secretary Marshall, said it is "not directed against any country or doctrine." Russia was, in fact, invited to come in. And President Truman sent Secretary Marshall to China to induce Chiang-Kai-Shek and the Chinese Communists to get together.

Time to Get Down to Earth

Yes, it is time to get down to earth about America's billions. Since the war in Europe ended, we have already given to the 16 countries in the Marshall Plan $11,724,000,000. Now another $17,000,000,000. That's $38,000,000,000 since the war. Last March, $400,000,000 for Greece and Turkey. Now Marshall says we must add $275,000,000 to that. And $570,000,000 to China. And a sweating Congressman shouts, "We have failed Indonesia!" And the Latin-Americans, who live on an average of $2.50 a week, will be next in line. Where will it stop? How much longer can we go on in this drunken profligate fashion?

Secretary of Commerce Harriman has just now informed us that "Russia is a greater menace than Hitler was." He was a long time waking up. He went there as our Ambassador in October, 1943.

The House Foreign Affairs Committee has just issued a report that the "Communists have one goal—world revolution." Rip Van Winkle had a good snooze. The Dies Committee told us the same thing ten years ago. But the Administration laughed at that.

The warning flags have been flying since 1919, at least, when Lenin said: "The existence of the Soviet Republic side by side with imperialist states is unthinkable . . . A series of frightful collisions between the Soviet Republic and the bourgeois states will be inevitable."

Gave Despite Red Danger

Despite the red flag of danger, we gave Russia $11,260,343,603 in lend-lease. Even since the war ended we gave her $168,000,000. And since the war, $301,000,000 to Yugoslavia, $174,000,000 to Czechslovakia, $349,000,000 to Poland, and lesser sums to Hungary, Bulgaria, and Albania. Billions thrown away—swallowed up by the great peace-loving-greater-menace-than-Hitler.

Was everybody in Washington asleep at the switch? Billions to build up Russia and her satellites; more billions to stop Stalin's forward march! UNRRA, Export-Import loans, and gifts of war surplus materials were made to the same peace-loving menace. And Poland, Finland, the Baltic countries, Manchuria, etc., were sacrificed to this peace-loving menace. Our leaders drove through all traffic lights.

Don't say this is beating old straw. It isn't. It is this year's campaign. If the Truman-Marshall-Vandenberg stand against Russia is right, Roosevelt was wrong. Wallace says Roosevelt was right.

Not counting our own war costs, we have poured $73,000,000,000 into Europe and Asia, and may pour $17,000,000,000 more on two foreign policies, diametrically opposed. Our statesmen's education comes high.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Condon Case

PRINCIPLES of administrative conduct are involved in the Condon Case which transcend the learned doctor, the Secretary of Commerce and even the President himself.

1. Dr. Edward U. Condon, head of the National Bureau of Standards, is accused by the FBI and the Thomas Committee of serious indiscretion in the performance of his public duty and his private life related to public duty. So far as the public knows, he is accused neither of disloyalty nor espionage. Nevertheless, it is known, from the general tenor of the gossip attending the Special Federal Grand Jury, sitting in New York, that there has been disloyalty and espionage in connection with the atom bomb. That makes any reference to an individual in connection with the atom bomb significant.

2. In relation to the Condon Case, J. Edgar Hoover, head of the FBI, addressed a letter to Averell Harriman, Secretary of Commerce, in whose department the Bureau of Standards is situated. Dr. Condon is, therefore, an employe of the American people, receiving a salary from their agent, the Treasury of the United States.

3. Averell Harriman refuses to release the letter in "the public interest." He does not state what the public interest is but requires that the Thomas Committee accept his obiter dictum as final. Mr. Harriman is neither by the Constitution nor by his personal qualifications entitled to determine this question alone.

The power of Congress to investigate the conduct of employes of the American government is so well established by law and precedent that Mr. Harriman's attitude can only be described as presumptuous. Congress will without doubt take care of that in the proper lawful manner.

4. Only Secretary Harriman, Attorney General Tom Clark or the President can order the letter to be made public. J. Edgar Hoover, a subordinate of the Attorney General, is not in a position to make it public without the Attorney General's consent. Therefore, the letter remains secret because Averell Harriman, Tom Clark and the President wish it to remain secret. That letter from J. Edgar Hoover to Averell Harriman must contain some extremely important data to have frightened these gentlemen into making it an issue in an election year.

It throws additional light on the conduct of the Special Federal Grand Jury in New York and the many rumors concerning the quarrel between the FBI and the White House as to what national security really requires. Certainly the report that three top persons who were members of the Communist cell organized in 1934 have been let off despite FBI evidence is startling. Yet, it must be noted, none of these rumors, mounting to a furor, may be true.

5. It is because of the queer rumors concerning the Special Federal Grand Jury in New York and speculation concerning the Hoover-Harriman letter, that Dr. Condon, if he possesses all the virtues that he claims for himself, should demand its immediate publication. As a volunteer public relations counsel, I advise him that he will be suspected all his life unless that letter is published. No other means can exonerate him. No specially created government agency can exonerate him. Only publication of the Hoover-Harriman letter can lead to exoneration—if it does. Secretary Harriman has done Dr. Condon incalculable mischief by his presumptuousness in refusing to produce the letter. The conclusion must be, until the letter is published, that Dr. Condon and Mr. Harriman fear it.

The atomic scientists have set themselves off as a class apart, demanding privileges which are not available to Americans of other occupations. Exemption from suspicion and attack is no one's right, certainly not anyone on the public payroll. It is the American way of protecting the coupntry from corruption. It is a better way than the Gestapo or the GPU employed.

Every man in public life must submit to constant scrutiny. Even in private life, such scrutiny is constant. Credit bureaus, Bishop's, Proundfoot's, Dun and Bradstreet's exist for such purposes. The character committees of Bar Associations exist for that purpose. The atomic scientists had better get off their high horses or we shall have to regard them not only as Great Brains but also as Swollen Heads.

Love and Patience

What a world of beauty and understanding is revealed, and opened to the light for us when we have sufficient Love and Patience to search it out. So many people hide within themselves. We only gets peeps at them, until we have so gained their confidence that they throw open their heart to us.

The cabinet maker, with a great Love for beautiful woods, takes unusual pains in the construction of whatever he puts his hands to, and is in no hurry to complete his task, for his Patience is but a covering to his Love for the thing at hand.

Researchers in the laboratories of the world, have a Love for their work, and they never seem to get discouraged, no matter how many problems face them to solve. On and on they work, patiently, and with courage, for they often have all humanity to bless, and this gives them spiritual urge and full satisfaction. They are the unwritten heroes—the silent great!

What a world of Love we miss in our own lives by not planting what we have, in other lives and waiting with Patience to see it take root, finally flowering into fragrance and beauty. There is so much to discover in others, if we will but overlook the faults and follies that so often smoke-screen the personality of each. The keys to most of the treasures in this world are those of Love and Patience. And I might dd —to genuine Happiness as well.

Every naturalist is equipped with these two universal essentials—Love and Patience. It is impossible to read anything from the works of John Muir, W. H. Hudson, Fabre, John Burroughs or Wordsworth, without realizing the Love and Patience that each put into his life work. There is a silent re-bound to the Love that we give to animal, bird, or flowered bush. Even the clouds whisper to us the echo of our Love. Ever in nature is our Patience richly awarded.

If we have a rich supply of Love and Patience we need have no worry about a successful and happy career. We can build our own sanctuary with them.

Advice To The Lovelorn

This Woman's Miserly Husband Adds Insult To Injury

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

There is nothing more irritating to have around the house than a miserly husband.

Sometimes, indeed, it goes far beyond mere irritation and becomes a major problem. There are undoubtedly many wives who are finding it so these days when their husbands refuse to recognize the high cost of living and expect them to run the home today on the same amount of money given them five years ago, or even ten or fifteen.

It would be bad enough if this were all a wife had to contend with from a financial standpoint, but when insult is added to injury and the husband finances his own whims and hobbies, sometimes even using money of hers to do it, while refusing to provide adequately for his home, the grievance can take on staggering proportions.

One wife, who has reached the point where she says she "can't stand much more" and signs her letter "Desperate," writes me that she has five people in the house to feed, counting her husband's mother who has lived with them for the entire 19 years of their marriage; that the amount of money she is allowed for food, for clothing and other household bills, "used to do, but in the last few years it hasn't. I don't ask him for any more," she adds, "because I did it once and he nearly took my head off."

At her mother's death, this wife inherited a little money, some of which she used to finish paying money owed on furnishings for their house. With the rest, at her husband's request, she bought him a pair of hunting dogs and a car.

"When I bought the car," she writes, "he said that whenever I wanted to use it I could. But whenever I asked for it, after he got through with his questions about why I wanted it and where I was going, and all the rest, I was too disgusted to go. Three times he has promised to buy me a small car, but whenever I say anything about it he always says we can't afford it. Yet he keeps ten hunting dogs that cost anywhere from $85 to $125 apiece." She adds that, in spite of not being able to "afford" a car for her, he has just bought a new car, part of which is being paid for with money which she earned working during the war. Moreover, the new car is so busy transporting hunting parties and being used by him for other purposes that she has no chance at it.

In addition to his selfishness about money, this husband also makes his wife's life miserable by reserving the right to flirt with other women while putting on a scene if she ever speaks to any other man. It is hardly to be wondered at that this wife has reached the point where, as she says, she "can't stand it any more."

The wonder is that she has stood it all for these 19 years, and if it goes on for another 19 it is her own fault. Some wives, unable to earn money themselves, might be forced to accept such a situation, but this woman has already demonstrated her ability to earn, and she can do it again. She says she has two daughters, but if these daughters are not old enough to look out for themselves, what about letting that mother-in-law take a little responsibility for them while the wife goes out and takes some sort of job? If the husband's mother were the one to manage the marketing and meals for awhile on the sum doled out by her son, it might be an excellent thing. It could be that Mother might be able to get more out of her son's pocket than his own wife could.

My recommendation to her is that she do just this—work outside her home for awhile, let her mother-in-law earn her keep by taking household responsibility, and keep what she earns to spend as she pleases.

Advice To The Lovelorn

This Woman's Miserly Husband Adds Insult To Injury

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

There is nothing more irritating to have around the house than a miserly husband.

Sometimes, indeed, it goes far beyond mere irritation and becomes a major problem. There are undoubtedly many wives who are finding it so these days when their husbands refuse to recognize the high cost of living and expect them to run the home today on the same amount of money given them five years ago, or even ten or fifteen.

It would be bad enough if this were all a wife had to contend with from a financial standpoint, but when insult is added to injury and the husband finances his own whims and hobbies, sometimes even using money of hers to do it, while refusing to provide adequately for his home, the grievance can take on staggering proportions.

One wife, who has reached the point where she says she "can't stand much more" and signs her letter "Desperate," writes me that she has five people in the house to feed, counting her husband's mother who has lived with them for the entire 19 years of their marriage; that the amount of money she is allowed for food, for clothing and other household bills, "used to do, but in the last few years it hasn't. I don't ask him for any more," she adds, "because I did it once and he nearly took my head off."

At her mother's death, this wife inherited a little money, some of which she used to finish paying money owed on furnishings for their house. With the rest, at her husband's request, she bought him a pair of hunting dogs and a car.

"When I bought the car," she writes, "he said that whenever I wanted to use it I could. But whenever I asked for it, after he got through with his questions about why I wanted it and where I was going, and all the rest, I was too disgusted to go. Three times he has promised to buy me a small car, but whenever I say anything about it he always says we can't afford it. Yet he keeps ten hunting dogs that cost anywhere from $85 to $125 apiece." She adds that, in spite of not being able to "afford" a car for her, he has just bought a new car, part of which is being paid for with money which she earned working during the war. Moreover, the new car is so busy transporting hunting parties and being used by him for other purposes that she has no chance at it.

In addition to his selfishness about money, this husband also makes his wife's life miserable by reserving the right to flirt with other women while putting on a scene if she ever speaks to any other man. It is hardly to be wondered at that this wife has reached the point where, as she says, she "can't stand it any more."

The wonder is that she has stood it all for these 19 years, and if it goes on for another 19 it is her own fault. Some wives, unable to earn money themselves, might be forced to accept such a situation, but this woman has already demonstrated her ability to earn, and she can do it again. She says she has two daughters, but if these daughters are not old enough to look out for themselves, what about letting that mother-in-law take a little responsibility for them while the wife goes out and takes some sort of job? If the husband's mother were the one to manage the marketing and meals for awhile on the sum doled out by her son, it might be an excellent thing. It could be that Mother might be able to get more out of her son's pocket than his own wife could.

My recommendation to her is that she do just this—work outside her home for awhile, let her mother-in-law earn her keep by taking household responsibility, and keep what she earns to spend as she pleases.

Cumberland Voiture 164, 40 and 8, will present a whirlpool bath to the Allegany County League for Crippled Children, for use in treating crippled patients, according to Grand Chef de Gare Charles G. Smith.

The bath, which costs $725, was ordered as a part of the 40 and 8's national child welfare program.

This move was decided upon Sunday at a meeting of the Grand Cheminots, 40 and 8, in the dugout of Francis Scott Key Post at the American Legion Home in Frederick.

After the opening of the major league baseball season, athletic equipment to be presented to state institutions will be formally accepted on behalf of the children by Babe Ruth in Baltimore. Details of the presentation will be announced later.

Besides Smith, other state officers present included Thomas E. Williams, grand chef de train, Frederick; Raymond A. Burke, grand commissaire intendent, Suitland; and Clarence A. Eyre, grand correspondent, Cumberland.

Penn Ave-Fort Hill Alumni To Sponsor Dance, Banquet

Glass Banking Boards Is Possible Project

Final plans for the Easter Monday dance were made and tentative plans discussed for an all-sport banquet and a future project at the meeting of the Penn Avenue-Fort Hill Alumni Association Monday night in Fort Hill High School, with Kenneth Gerard presiding.

The dance will be a semi-formal affair, and is to be held at Clary Club with music by the Modernaires from 9 until 1 o'clock. The number of tickets available is limited and can be procured only from Jack Carnell, chairman; Mrs. Kitty Pafel Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Armbruster, Theo Carnell, Regina Yeager, Warren Norris, Betty Lou Norris, Paul George, LaVerne George, Rita Skiles, Perthena Northcraft or Dorothy Coleman.

All reservations for the dance must be made with Naomi Streeby Beckman, phone 1997-W.

Discussing the All-Sports banquet, for both boys and girls, the date was set tentatively for the week of May 10. It was decided to have a big name coach as the guest speaker and the association plans to have the banquet at Fort Hill High School.

As a future project of the association, the possibilities of having glass banking boards for the gymnasium was discussed.

TAX PAYMENTS EXCEED $300,000 IN COUNTY

According to a report by State Comptroller James J. Lacey, Allegany County residents paid state income taxes in the amount of $343,564.96 during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1947.

One half of the total state income taxes came from Baltimore City. The total was $14,838,135.69, with only Baltimore, Washington, Prince George's and Montgomery counties exceeding Allegany county in payments.

Individual returns for Allegany County totaled $292,787.77; corporation returns, $49,700.83, and fiduciary, $1,076.36.

Counties, cities and incorporated towns share in the tax to the extent of 25 per cent of the amount collected from individuals in the respective areas. As a result the following amounts were paid:

Barton, $272.03; Cumberland, $22,840.97; Frostburg, $3,054.94; Lonaconing, $776.55; Luke, $455.05; Midland, $102.76; Westernport, $1,088.87, and the county, $41,448.57 for a total of $70,039.74.

The distribution for Garrett's $5,036.28 was:

Accident, $10.71; Deer Park, $18.91; Friendsville, $30.97; Grantsville, $332.80; Kitzmiller, $31.78; Loch Lynn Heights, $81.83; Mt. Lake Park, $38.01; Oakland, $1,488.91, and the county, $3,002.36.

The amount distributed in income tax to Cumberland last year was greater than the entire county received in 1943.

In the past eight years the entire county has received $259,110.59 from the income tax source with the Cumberland total being $92,723.79 and the county's $147,771.11. In eight years all of Garrett county has received $18,956.99.

FRESH BLOOD A MUST FOR FREE ENERGY

Do you feel like you are tied to a drag everytime you try to do something? If so, don't let a low blood count hold you down when you may release vibrant energy to every muscle, fibre, cell.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloat and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Three Men Freed On Drunk Charges

Chief Redfeathers, who told police he was an American Indian from Oklahoma, was given a suspended sentence on a drunk charge after he informed Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., in Police Court yesterday, that he intended to leave for Virginia.

The arrest was the second since February 6 when he was picked up after demonstrating early Indian dances.

A soldier, Sgt. Harold Layman, Frostburg, and Raymond Ralston, Ridgeley, also drew suspended sentences. They were arrested on drunk and disorderly conduct charges following a fight near the intersection of Mechanic and Frederick Streets Monday night.

County Planning Road Repairs As Weather Permits

Several complaints of condition of county roads were discussed yesterday by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, and John J. Smith, county engineer, was assigned to check each one and work out plans for improvement.

Charles N. Wilkinson, Jr., president, said winter weather has been particularly severe on many county roadways and as weather permits numerous repairs are to be made.

The county board solved a problem on bids on trucks yesterday by placing an order for a truck with each of two separate bidders.

At the previous meeting an award had been made to Light and Decker Company on its bid for two trucks as the low bidder.

Yesterday, Robert Shearer, sales manager for Raupach Garage, appeared before the board to learn more about the bids. It developed that the contract from Light and Decker did not fully comply with requirements on motors, but that there was only slight difference.

The commissioners said they were not too familiar with some of the technical terms in regard to the specifications, and on mutual agreement between Richard Light, of Light and Decker, and Shearer, of Raupach's, each firm accepted an order for one truck.

Light and Decker will furnish an International heavy duty truck for $6,086.18. Raupach will furnish a Reo heavy duty for $6,300.

Both vehicles will be used in county road work this coming spring and summer and for snow removal next winter.

Shortages Delay Work On Infirmary

Difficulty in obtaining material has caused some delay in construction of the new County Infirmary, Edgar D. Vandegrift, contractor, told the County Commissioners yesterday.

Commissioners said the problem is becoming acute since present facilities are badly crowded and there is a long waiting list of people who should be admitted to the county home.

Vandegrift said joists and other materials are short on supply and deliveries have been promised. Bricklayers are also scarce and there has been considerable difficulty in keeping the job moving. He said, however, he hopes to have the new structure under roof in two months.

The new building is designed for at least 100 beds, and is to be modernly equipped to care for needy, aged and indigent persons.

Barter Theatre

ger, Ernest Borgnine as Tommy, Don Hart as Kiwi, Emory Bass as the orderly, Stuart Day as Blossom and John Easton as the Colonel.

The actor who plays the role of "Yank," red-haired Ray Boyle who was seen here in "The Twelfth Night" as Orsino, is required to recite the books of the Old Testament straight through from Genesis to Malachi.

Boyle is 23, and already a veteran of over 70 roles in college and New York productions. Last winter, while walking down the street, he encountered a line of actors, and learned that Helen Hayes was holding auditions. He was chosen by Miss Hayes as the most promising young actor in New York and thus joined Barter.

In bringing the role of Yank to the local stage, Boyle offers some of his own experience while in the Army, a part of which time was spent in a convalescent hospital. He has performed at the Pittsburgh Playhouse, the Woodstock Playhouse, the Kilbuck Players and the Cherry Lane Theatre in New York.

The production is under the direction of Robert Porterfield who is the founder of the Barter Theatre. Porterfield, a native Virginian, has been in 20 Broadway stage shows, served in the Air Force during World War II and has built the Barter players into the State Theatre of Virginia.

The Barter Players, fresh from a two-months tour of 85 cities in 10 Southern states, have presented more than 425 performances since the opening of their 15th season as a professional repertory theatre last June, including an 11-state transcontinental tour in late 1947.

given by Mrs. Rose Loible, public health nurse in that district.

Mrs. Arthur Evans, Rawlings, council chairman, presided during the brief meeting and introduced Miss Helen Rafferty, newly appointed county supervisor of public health nurses.

Members inspected the health center, which is located in a remodeled building formerly used as a school house. Refreshments were served following the meeting.

Snow Brings Damage But No Damages

PIERRE, S. D.—(AP)—If snow-blocked South Dakota roads delay your potato marketing, it's not your county's liability.

German Timber Goes To England

HAMBURG—(AP)—Timber shipped from the British zone of Germany to the United Kingdom during 1947 was 1,293,102 tons or more than 20 per cent of the total timber imports into Great Britian, the control commission says.

In addition, 53,870 tons were sent from Hamburg to Britian from the Soviet zone during the last four months of the year.

Bob Suffridge Named Tennessee Line Coach

CHARLESTON, S. C., March 9 (AP)—Robert (Bob) Suffridge, 1940 All America guard at the University of Tennessee, was signed today as line coach at The Citadel.

Athletic director and Head Coach Quinn Decker announced Suffridge, line coach at North Carolina State College for the last two years, would report in about 10 days.

Suffridge, 31, is a native of Knoxville, Tenn. In 1941 he played with Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League.

The sea cow and the elephant are distantly related.

Local State Armory Is Being Remodeled

Renovations are being made at the Maryland State Armory, South Centre Street, to provide more office space, according to Maj. Howard H. Dickey, commander of the 1st Battalion, 115th Infantry Regiment.

The Armory was originally designed to house a single company, but with two companies, Headquarters and Company C, now assigned here, as well as battalion headquarters, more space is badly needed, Maj. Dickey explained.

Workmen are remodeling the enlisted men's lounge on the street floor to make three offices for Company C personnel.

One office will be used by Capt. Robert C. Matlick, company commander, the second for the two junior officers of the unit. Lt. Forrest Moser and Lt. Eugene Light, and the third as an orderly room for non-commissioned officers.

The office space formerly used by Company C on the north side of the building will be the location of First Battalion Headquarters, and rooms for Headquarters Company will be located on the second floor.

The enlisted men's lounge will be moved to a room in the basement twice as large as the former lounge, Maj. Dickey said. The new quarters will also include a number of improvements over the lounge room being remodeled.

Bounty On Mink Removed In County

The payment of bounty on mink in this county was discontinued yesterday by an order passed by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

Action on the matter followed information received from the State Inland Game and Fish Commission that the mink is a protected fur-bearing animal and can only be trapped or killed during a three-month season each year.

Three representatives of the Maryland Trappers' Association appeared before the board several weeks ago asking that the bounty be removed as the pelts were worth more than $30 each and the bounty was only $1.

County Planning Road Repairs As Weather Permits

Several complaints of condition of county roads were discussed yesterday by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, and John J. Smith, county engineer, was assigned to check each one and work out plans for improvement.

Charles N. Wilkinson, Jr., president, said winter weather has been particularly severe on many county roadways and as weather permits numerous repairs are to be made.

The county board solved a problem on bids on trucks yesterday by placing an order for a truck with each of two separate bidders.

At the previous meeting an award had been made to Light and Decker Company on its bid for two trucks as the low bidder.

Yesterday, Robert Shearer, sales manager for Raupach Garage, appeared before the board to learn more about the bids. It developed that the contract from Light and Decker did not fully comply with requirements on motors, but that there was only slight difference.

The commissioners said they were not too familiar with some of the technical terms in regard to the specifications, and on mutual agreement between Richard Light, of Light and Decker, and Shearer, of Raupach's, each firm accepted an order for one truck.

Light and Decker will furnish an International heavy duty truck for $6,086.18. Raupach will furnish a Reo heavy duty for $6,300.

Both vehicles will be used in county road work this coming spring and summer and for snow removal next winter.

Shortages Delay Work On Infirmary

Difficulty in obtaining material has caused some delay in construction of the new County Infirmary, Edgar D. Vandegrift, contractor, told the County Commissioners yesterday.

Commissioners said the problem is becoming acute since present facilities are badly crowded and there is a long waiting list of people who should be admitted to the county home.

Vandegrift said joists and other materials are short on supply and deliveries have been promised. Bricklayers are also scarce and there has been considerable difficulty in keeping the job moving. He said, however, he hopes to have the new structure under roof in two months.

The new building is designed for at least 100 beds, and is to be modernly equipped to care for needy, aged and indigent persons.

Barter Theatre

ger, Ernest Borgnine as Tommy, Don Hart as Kiwi, Emory Bass as the orderly, Stuart Day as Blossom and John Easton as the Colonel.

The actor who plays the role of "Yank," red-haired Ray Boyle who was seen here in "The Twelfth Night" as Orsino, is required to recite the books of the Old Testament straight through from Genesis to Malachi.

Boyle is 23, and already a veteran of over 70 roles in college and New York productions. Last winter, while walking down the street, he encountered a line of actors, and learned that Helen Hayes was holding auditions. He was chosen by Miss Hayes as the most promising young actor in New York and thus joined Barter.

In bringing the role of Yank to the local stage, Boyle offers some of his own experience while in the Army, a part of which time was spent in a convalescent hospital. He has performed at the Pittsburgh Playhouse, the Woodstock Playhouse, the Kilbuck Players and the Cherry Lane Theatre in New York.

The production is under the direction of Robert Porterfield who is the founder of the Barter Theatre. Porterfield, a native Virginian, has been in 20 Broadway stage shows, served in the Air Force during World War II and has built the Barter players into the State Theatre of Virginia.

The Barter Players, fresh from a two-months tour of 85 cities in 10 Southern states, have presented more than 425 performances since the opening of their 15th season as a professional repertory theatre last June, including an 11-state transcontinental tour in late 1947.

Snow Brings Damage But No Damages

PIERRE, S. D.—(AP)—If snow-blocked South Dakota roads delay your potato marketing, it's not your county's liability.

German Timber Goes To England

HAMBURG—(AP)—Timber shipped from the British zone of Germany to the United Kingdom during 1947 was 1,293,102 tons or more than 20 per cent of the total timber imports into Great Britian, the control commission says.

In addition, 53,870 tons were sent from Hamburg to Britian from the Soviet zone during the last four months of the year.

Local State Armory Is Being Remodeled

Renovations are being made at the Maryland State Armory, South Centre Street, to provide more office space, according to Maj. Howard H. Dickey, commander of the 1st Battalion, 115th Infantry Regiment.

The Armory was originally designed to house a single company, but with two companies, Headquarters and Company C, now assigned here, as well as battalion headquarters, more space is badly needed, Maj. Dickey explained.

Two young men were committed to the County Jail yesterday in default of fines totaling $123 imposed by Magistrate Frank A. Perdew in Trial Magistrates Court, after the car in which they were riding sideswiped the Central YMCA building and crashed against a wall at the entrance of the York Hotel, 202 Baltimore Avenue, about 1:15 a. m. yesterday.

The driver, Andrew W. Hamilton, 24, Route 3, Bedford Road, was fined $100.75 for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol, $10.75 on a reckless driving charge and $5.75 for not having a license to drive.

His companion, Charles W. Dicken, Route 3, Valley Road, identified as the owner of the car, was given a six-day term in default of $5.75 fine for permitting an unauthorized person to operate a motor vehicle but was released later when he paid the fine. He entered a plea of guilty.

Officer P. M. Crabtree who investigated with officer Charles E. Manges, said he found about eight empty beer bottles and a partially filled bottle of wine in the car.

Police also held Leroy M. Dicken, Route 3, Valley Road, who was riding in the machine, but released him later. All three men escaped injury.

Ammonia Preferred By Soil Bacteria

MADISON, Wis.—(AP)—A breath of ammonia in the air is nectar to the bacteria that put nitrogen into the soil for plant roots. . . . These same bugs like to drink ammonia and eat it too. . . . They prefer ammonia to nitrogen . . . within one minute after ammonia fumes reach them or ammonia is put in the soil, they switch from a nitrogen to an ammonia diet.

These new findings about the nitrogen-fixing germs are part of a study at Wisconsin by Robert A. Burris, associate professor of biochemistry, and Perry W. Wilson, professor of agricultural bacteriology. The study is made by using a rare form of nitrogen to trace the ammonia.

FEDERAL RENT CONTROLS EXTENDED TO MARCH 31

Area Rent Director Walter R. Heath announced yesterday that federal rent control, veterans' preference, and controls on construction of amusement and recreational facilities will continue without change until midnight March 31, under the 31-day extension recently voted by Congress.

Extension of rent control, Heath said, does not revive the provision concerning voluntary rent increases up to 15 per cent in return for leases. That provision expired December 1.

Heath added that Congress is now working on longer rent control extension legislation.

A veteran has, under the current act, a priority to buy or rent a dwelling under construction and for 30 days after completion, except for dwelling units built for owner occupancy.

A person wishing to construct a place of amusement or recreation must first obtain a permit from the Office of the Housing Expediter, under the present Construction Limitation Regulation.

Permission is granted, Heath said, only under certain conditions, such as community essentiality or hardship.

Nickels and pennies are legal tender only to an amount not exceeding 25 cents. Silver coins below the denomination of a dollar are legal tender up to ten dollars.

Keyser Passers Play Glenville In Semi-Finals

Loughmen Cop, 59-57; Eaton Gets 25 Points

By CHARLES R. LEWIS

BUCKHANNON, W. Va., March 9 (AP)—A wild West Virginia Tech rally in the last five minutes fell just two points short tonight as Potomac State squeezed out a 59-57 victory to become the fourth semi-finalist in the eleventh annual state collegiate basketball tournament.

The finish that had an overflow crowd of 2,500 on its feet all but wiped out an apparently safe 51-40 Potomac advantage. Two desperate Tech heaves hit the top of the backboard as the clock ticked into the final seconds.

The big ending matched the last few moments of Glenville's earlier 76-64 triumph over Alderson-Broaddus that stemmed from a lightning fast final period in which points were scored at the rate of 5 per minute.

Eaton paced Potomac State scorers with 25 points.

Potomac and Glenville will meet in tomorrow afternoon's second semi-final at 1:30.

The championship contest in the 14-team meet will follow at 9 p. m. Lineups:

Seeks Second Tourney Win In Match Tonight

Randall "Skeets" Starkey, local welterweight ace, will be angling for his second victory in the South Atlantic A.A.U. boxing tournament tonight when he opposes Dick Bryant of the Baltimore YMCA at the Fifth Regiment Armory, Baltimore.

Starkey won its opening match last week when he scored a TKO over Robert Pavone, of St. John's Boys' Club, Baltimore, in the initial round.

Sheldon "Breezy" Brooks, Cumberland heavyweight, drew a bye in last week's opening round and will fight Ernest Lindsay of the Baltimore YMCA tonight.

Barbara Ann Scott Gets Royal Welcome

The 19-year-old lass, fresh from a "grand slam" triumph in Europe where she annexed the Olympic, world, and European figure skating championships, got a reception with all the trimmings.

The parade continued to the park adjacent to the Ottawa War Memorial where formal ceremonies and congratulations were tendered. After that the smiling champion was honor guest at a Chateau Leurier luncheon.

FREDERICK'S GIRLS TO PLAY FORT HILL IN CLASS "A" FINAL

Girls basketball teams of Frederick High School and Fort Hill High School will clash tonight on the Fort Hill court in the finals of the District No. 1 tournament for Class "A" schools.

The game will get under way at 7:30 o'clock.

Fort Hill won the W.M.I. League and Allegany County Class "A" titles this season. After cleaning up in Frederick County, Coach Helma Hann Bowers' Frederick High sextet eliminated Hagerstown High in the first District No. 1 intercounty test.

Mrs. Bowers formerly coached girls' teams at Central High School, Lonaconing.

BUDDY KERR SIGNS

PHOENIX, Ariz., March 9—(INS)—Buddy Kerr, ace New York Giant shortstop, ended his holdout tonight and came to terms for an estimated $19,000. This was $1,000 less than his reported $20,000 demand.

Only Ken Trinkle, crack relief pitcher, remains unsigned on the Giant roster.

Giant president, Horace Stoneham, called Kerr at his New York home today and after a brief conversation the compromise was reached. The Giants previously had offered Kerr an $18,500 contract, saying it was their "final offer."

Dillard Is Best Bet In Olympics

Hurdler Stands Alone Chief-Of-Staff Says

By DAVIS J. WALSH

International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, March 9 (INS)—Harrison Dillard, Baldwin-Wallace hurdler,—not Gil Dodds, the Boston parson—is the Mr. America of track and field as of today, with the 1948 indoor season approaching a pre-Olympic finale.

So said N.Y.U. Coach Emil Von Elling, Olympic chief-of-staff who, at the same time, dismissed this type of competition as "inconclusive and misleading."

But not, he added hastily, in Dillard's case. There could be no mistake, Von Elling implied, about Dillard being America's No. 1 as an Olympic potential—on boards, cinders or gum arabic—adding:

"I can't very well discuss Dodds in connection with the Olympics, when even Dodds doesn't know how he stands, physically, after his recent illness.

"Among those actively in training, Dillard stands alone. He went undefeated in a season of upsets and reversals. More than that, he went unchallenged. He should win the high hurdles as easily as Forrest Towne did at Berlin in 1936."

Dillard has shaded 14 seconds several times in the 120-yard high hurdles, whereas the great Georgian took the world's record down to 13 7/10 before his retirement. But Von Elling says Dillard is "just as good as Towne was," explaining:

"Towne was the better 'fencer' of the two. But Dillard is faster between the hurdles."

VFW Quint Defeats Martinsburg Bears

The Cumberland V.F.W. basketball team swept its series with the Martinsburg Bears by winning the return game last night on SS. Peter and Paul court. The score was 75-49.

Stotler led the scorers of the winning team with 10 field goals and 21 points. H. McGill collected 12 fielders and 27 points for the West Virginia team.

Holy Cross Wins

BOSTON, March 9—(INS)—A wild rally in the final 20 seconds of play gave the Holy Cross basketball team a 65 to 62 victory over Colgate tonight before 14,000 fans at Boston Garden.

George Kaftan, the Crusaders' All-American center, whipped home five points during those closing seconds to climax one of the most exciting basketball games ever played at the Garden.

Kaftan paced the NCAA champions in scoring 24 points.

Court Hears Residents Tell Of Disturbances

BALTIMORE, March 9—(AP)—The night baseball games of the Baltimore Orioles are "just like a riot," a complaining witness testified today.

Herman C. Crueger told Judge E. Paul Mason "we don't have reasonable use of our homes because we have to keep the windows closed against dust and noise."

Crueger is one of 26 residents of the stadium area asking for an injunction against lease of the municipal field to the Orioles. The suit, which the ctiy, Orioles and International Baseball League all are defending, started yesterday.

Crueger claimed the fans "stream in with all manner of noise-making devices. About that time the loud speaker starts."

Asked if he could hear what is said on the loudspeaker, he replied:

Knows Lineup By Heart

"Absolutely. I know the lineup by heart."

Then he told of dust—that he scraped into piles on his furniture—profanity and cars parked so they blocked entrance to his own garage.

Under cross examination, Crueger admitted he attended the games infrequently and that his work carried him away from home for long periods, some during the baseball season.

Frederick Green, another complaining witness, said he could read "small print" in a newspaper by lights at the stadium. Lee Staples, also appearing in favor of the injunction, testified the house he bought for $6,675 in 1941 now is worth $17,500, but:

"My property is going to be increasingly difficult to dispose of if the Orioles stay in the stadium."

Jail Not Big Enough

Itzel said many times there had been so many people making disturbances in the stadium area on the nights of Oriole games that it was "impossible to arrest them because we wouldn't have a place big enough to put them."

Itzel lives near the stadium. He said he often heard many persons making "loud and unseemly noises as late as 1 or 2 o'clock in the morning" after Oriole games.

He was asked if he arrested any of these people.

"I was in my pajamas," Itzel replied.

The inspector said he often assigns as many as 80 policemen to the neighborhood when there are night games but they "could not control all the disturbances."

Itzel said the glare from the stadium flood lights is so bad he has to pull down his shades before he can sleep.

Boxer Is Improved

HOLYOKE, Mass., March 9 (AP)—Thompson Harmon, New York negro boxer, who collapsed after a battering in the ring last night, was described today as "in no danger" at the Holyoke Hospital.

Dr. Edward McHugh said Harmon's name was never on the danger list and that X-ray photographs were deemed unnecessary.

Basco Rewards Boxers — Fighter Develops Voice

Bi-State To Freeze 'Em — Pro League Will Expand

By C. V. BURNS

Joseph R. Basco, Barberton, Ohio, fight manager, who is bringing Rudy Zadell and Freddie Bernhardt here next Monday night for bouts with Sammy Angott, former lightweight champion, and Billy Squall, is noted for sending his outstanding boxers to South Africa for international matches.

He started sending the aces of his stable to the Dark Continent 21 years ago. Thirty American fighters have gone there under Basco's management.

Some of them were Young Stribling, Wesley Ramey, Frankie Wine, Benny Burns, Mickey Doyle, Chuck Burns, Leo Genet, Johnny Freeman, Cecil Kid Como, Proctor Heinold, Buddy Scott and Jimmy Ainscough.

In South Africa they still declare that Wine, the Montana heavy, was the best American fighter ever to visit Johannesburg and they measure all others by Wine's performance against Johnny Squires, the South African heavy champion.

Basco recalls that when Wine and Burns went to South Africa 21 years ago it took them 31 days. Three years ago his boxers made the trip in 20 days. Last October when Rudy Zadell, Johnny Denson and Buddy Komar made the trip it took 44 hours by air while the return journey was made by boat in 16 days.

The Chuck Burns mentioned is none other than the hard-hitting Texan who lost a thriller to Patsy Perroni in a pro show staged here by "Vic" Ricker.

Basco, incidentally, stopped here Sunday to confer with Matchmaker Ricker, while en route from Baltimore to Barberton.

If Freddie Bernhardt lives up to his nickname there should be some fireworks on Monday's card. He's been dubbed the "Akron Buzz Bomb" and is heralded as "one of the best club fighters in the game."

Chick Bogard, matchmaker at Madison Square Garden, told Pat Robinson, INS sports writer, the one about a certain lightweight boxer, who, while discussing odds the other day wanted to know if 9 to 5 was more than 3 to 1.

The same boxer, it seems, fancies himself as a singer.

His pals told him he should develop his voice like Frank Sinatra did, by singing into a dresser drawer. The young pugilist was impressed.

An hour later one of the gang found him sitting on the floor, with a dresser drawer pulled out, and bellowing away—at the top of his lungs!

Jim Kelley refereed the Bucknell-Catholic U. boxing matches Saturday night at Lewisburg, Pa., and handed down eight decisions and one draw. Coach Eddie LaFond's C. U. team beat the Bisons, 6½ to 2½.

No judges were used at Lewisburg.

It marked the third time this season that the Cumberlander had officiated in an intercollegiate series.

Jack Sheehe, the Oakland, Md., middleweight, decisioned his Cavalier opponent Saturday night at State College, Pa., as Coach Leo Houck's Penn State boxers battled Virginia to a 4-4 deadlock.

Looks like the Bi-State League has decided to play until the frost is on the pumpkin this year.

Like last year, each team will play 36 games. Then the four teams in the playoffs will engage in a best-out-of-five series topped off by a best-out-of-seven games set for the championship.

Norm Gerdeman, it is understood, has ordered snowsuits for the Amvets.

Hagerstown High School is to be congratulated for forfeiting to Fort Hill in the Maryland basketball tourney. The Hub city boys lost two games to the Sentinels during the regular season and they knew when they had enough. There's no use making a travesty out of any sport just for the sake of playing in a tournament. It's too bad more people don't use common sense!

Johnstown (Pa.) High School pays its head coach $4,350 per year. He receives $2,950 as a teacher and $1,400 as head coach.

Mike Valan of Wheeling, secretary, announces that a vast organizational program is now being conducted by the All-American Pro Basketball League and interested parties within a radius of 200 miles of Wheeling are invited to canvass the possibilities of applying for a franchise in the circuit for next season.

Valan says chances appear bright that the league will operate in two divisions in 1948-49 and there has been talk of broadening the 200-mile radius limitation on accepting franchise applications.

Mike states that Baltimore, five cities in Ohio, three in West Virginia and five in Pennsylvania have asked for consideration thus far. These cities do not include the six in the circuit now.

If Bob Whip and Company doesn't get into the playoffs to recoup some of their losses it's almost a foregone conclusion the Cumberland Dukes will not take another fling at pro league ball next season.

A small remnant of the supposedly extinct eastern puma has been discovered in New Brunswick. Photographs and casts of tracks have been identified by reliable authorities.

Five Pro Fights To Feature Card On Monday Night

Albright To Oppose Portmess In Opener

Matchmaker "Vic" Ricker yesterday completed his professional boxing card for Monday night at the State Armory by signing up four local scrappers for five and four round preliminary matches.

Johnny Booth, Eckhart 140-pounder, has been paired with George Bennett, of Mt. Savage, in a five-rounder, and Garford "Red" Albright will clash with "Red" Portmess in the four-round curtain raiser.

The Booth-Bennett affair is heralded as a "grudge" battle. Both boys are reported to have been on the "outs" for some time and they've been itching to get at each other in the ring.

Albright and Portmess are amateur products.

Monday's card will be topped by the ten-rounder between Sammy Angott, former lightweight champion of the world, and Rudy Zadell, Akron, Ohio, 140-pounder.

In the semi-final, a six-rounder, Marion Klingensmith, Brownsville, Pa., middleweight, will swap punches with Willie Moore, 160-pounder of Pittsburgh, while in another five-rounder, Freddie Bernhardt, Akron, Ohio, welterweight, will oppose Billy Squall, Pittsburgh 145-pounder.

A total of 30 rounds of boxing in five bouts will be offered in Cumberland's first professional show since 1946.

Tickets are now on sale.

AMVETS "BLACK SOX" WILL MEET TONIGHT

The Cumberland Amvets will be known as the "Black Sox" instead of the "Red Sox" when the 1948 baseball season rolls around.

Gerdeman has called a meeting of the team for tonight at 7:30 at the Amvets' Home. Holdovers from the 1947 squad and newcomers seeking tryouts are urged to attend.

Moose And Ridgeley To Play Return Game

Dukes Ready For Fight To Finish In 4th Place Battle With Altoona

If Altoona loses to Youngstown Saturday night and Cumberland is victorious over the Columbus Mariners on the same evening it will be a "fight to the finish" in the battle for fourth place and a spot in the All-American Pro Basketball League's playoffs.

That's why the Dukes' games here with Columbus on Saturday night and Youngstown Sunday night have the fans talking.

Altoona has only one more game on its schedule and needs a single victory to clinch fourth place. If Altoona loses that game to the Cubs, who have clinched first place, all Cumberland has to do to tie the Pennsylvanians is split even in its two remaining tilts. Cumberland could nose out the Pennsy quint for fourth place if the Blair countians lose Saturday night and the locals make a sweep of their two remaining contests with Columbus and Youngstown, which is a big job.

Columbus and the Dukes have met four times to date and the Ohioans have bagged three games. The scores were 54-37, 78-62 and 72-60 in favor of the Mariners while the Dukes scored a 74-61 victory.

Youngtown holds a 5-1 edge over the Dukes in their series with the local club. The Cubs have won by scores of 67-51, 59-48, 54-35 and 59-41 and lost to Cumberland 66-55.

Both the Saturday nad Sunday night games at SS. Peter and Paul gym will get under way at 9 o'clock.

Barton Floormen Lose 63-38 Game To Williamsport

Moran Sparks Bruce To 65-38 Conquest

Central High School of Lonaconing defeated Middletown High School last night at the latter place by the score of 27-24 in the finals of the District No. 1 girls' basketball tournament for Class "C" schools.

Coach Jack Petry's Bruce High School floormen defeated Boonsboro High School of Washington County last night in Westernport by the score of 65-38 in the finals of District No. 1's tournament for Class "C" schools.

In the opening game of the doubleheader, played before a packed house of 600 persons, Williamsport High of Washington County eliminated Barton High School, 63-38, in the finals of the District No. 1 tourney for Class "D" schools.

Williamsport defeated Barton in the final period by outscoring the Braves, 24-8, after three closely contested periods at the end of which Barton trailed by nine points, 39-30.

The Washington countians moved in for the "kill" in the final heat after three Barton regulars had left the game—Lambertson and Warnick on personal fouls and Tichnell for engaging in fisticuffs with a Williamsport player.

Scrappy Players Banished

Tichnell and Anderson engaged in an argument in the third period and Hanna, who "butted in" was banished from the game along with the Barton player.

Forsythe paced Williamsport to District No. 1 honors by collecting 24 points on 14 field goals and four foul goals. Anderson was the sparkplug of the winning team and acted as "feeder" for Forsythe, who scored most of his baskets on layup shots. Tichnell and Green were the chief point getters for Barton with 12 and 10 tallies.

Barton held a 10-6 lead at the quarter but trailed at the halfway mark.

Led by Don Moran, who flashed the form he exhibited prior to his recent illness, Bruce ran up a 33-19 lead in the first half and won "under wraps" from Boonsboro in the nightcap affair.

Moran Leads Attack

Moran dumped in a total of 21 points, including eight field goals before leaving the game on personal fouls in the final stanza. Wills featured for Bruce with his floorwork, garnered 10 points and starred at grabbing rebounds at both hoops.

The teams were given a total of 68 shots at the foul line and sank 29, Bruce converting 17 of 38 while Boonsboro meshed 12 of 27. Coach Petry's outfit outscored the visitors 24 to 13 in field goals.

Wade, push shot artist, led the Boonsboro offensive with eight fielders and a total of 23 points. He pushed up all shots with one hand even at the foul line where he banged in 7 of 10 tries.

New York U. Beaten By CCNY Five, 60-57

NEW YORK, March 9 (INS) — The City College of New York basketball team outclassed powerful New York University 60-57 tonight at Madison Square Garden.

The Beavers, denied entry into any post season tournament despite a 17-3 record (before tonight's game) broke into the lead at the second half, and never trailed thereafter.

The score was knotted at the half, 29-29.

NYU, seeded second in the National Invitation Tournament, suffered its second loss of the season and its third consecutive defeat at City's hands in the last three years. The Violets previously lost to Notre Dame. Their season's record now is 20-2.

The Violets were handicapped by the absence of star set-shot artist, Don Forman, who was sidelined with a sacroiliac injury.

Keyser Passers Play Glenville In Semi-Finals

By CHARLES R. LEWIS

BUCKHANNON, W. Va., March 9 (AP)—A wild West Virginia Tech rally in the last five minutes fell just two points short tonight as Potomac State squeezed out a 59-57 victory to become the fourth semi-finalist in the eleventh annual state collegiate basketball tournament.

The finish that had an overflow crowd of 2,500 on its feet all but wiped out an apparently safe 51-40 Potomac advantage. Two desperate Tech heaves hit the top of the backboard as the clock ticked into the final seconds.

The big ending matched the last few moments of Glenville's earlier 76-64 triumph over Alderson-Broaddus that stemmed from a lightning fast final period in which points were scored at the rate of 5 per minute.

Eaton paced Potomac State scorers with 25 points.

Potomac and Glenville will meet in tomorrow afternoon's second semi-final at 1:30.

The championship contest in the 14-team meet will follow at 9 p. m. Lineups:

Starkey To Fight Baltimore Boxer

Seeks Second Tourney Win In Match Tonight

Randall "Skeets" Starkey, local welterweight ace, will be angling for his second victory in the South Atlantic A.A.U. boxing tournament tonight when he opposes Dick Bryant of the Baltimore YMCA at the Fifth Regiment Armory, Baltimore.

Starkey won its opening match last week when he scored a TKO over Robert Pavone, of St. John's Boys' Club, Baltimore, in the initial round.

Sheldon "Breezy" Brooks, Cumberland heavyweight, drew a bye in last week's opening round and will fight Ernest Lindsay of the Baltimore YMCA tonight.

Barbara Ann Scott Gets Royal Welcome

The 19-year-old lass, fresh from a "grand slam" triumph in Europe where she annexed the Olympic, world, and European figure skating championships, got a reception with all the trimmings.

The parade continued to the park adjacent to the Ottawa War Memorial where formal ceremonies and congratulations were tendered. After that the smiling champion was honor guest at a Chateau Laurier luncheon.

FREDERICK'S GIRLS TO PLAY FORT HILL IN CLASS "A" FINAL

Girls basketball teams of Frederick High School and Fort Hill High School will clash tonight on the Fort Hill court in the finals of the District No. 1 tournament for Class "A" schools.

The game will get under way at 7:30 o'clock.

Fort Hill won the W.M.I. League and Allegany County Class "A" titles this season. After cleaning up in Frederick County, Coach Helma Hann Bowers' Frederick High sextet eliminated Hagerstown High in the first District No. 1 intercounty test.

Mrs. Bowers formerly coached girls' teams at Central High School, Lonaconing.

BUDDY KERR SIGNS

PHOENIX, Ariz., March 9—(INS)—Buddy Kerr, ace New York Giant shortstop, ended his holdout tonight and came to terms for an estimated $19,000. This was $1,000 less than his reported $20,000 demand.

Only Ken Trinkle, crack relief pitcher, remains unsigned on the Giant roster.

Giant president, Horace Stoneham, called Kerr at his New York home today and after a brief conversation the compromise was reached. The Giants previously had offered Kerr an $18,500 contract, saying it was their "final offer."

Dillard Is Best Bet In Olympics

Hurdler Stands Alone Chief-Of-Staff Says

By DAVIS J. WALSH

International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, March 9 (INS)—Harrison Dillard, Baldwin-Wallace hurdler,—not Gil Dodds, the Boston parson—is the Mr. America of track and field as of today, with the 1948 indoor season approaching a pre-Olympic finale.

So said N.Y.U. Coach Emil Von Elling, Olympic chief-of-staff who, at the same time, dismissed this type of competition as "inconclusive and misleading."

But not, he added hastily, in Dillard's case. There could be no mistake, Von Elling implied, about Dillard being America's No. 1 as an Olympic potential—on boards, cinders or gum arabic—adding:

"I can't very well discuss Dodds in connection with the Olympics, when even Dodds doesn't know how he stands, physically, after his recent illness.

"Among those actively in training, Dillard stands alone. He went undefeated in a season of upsets and reversals. More than that, he went unchallenged. He should win the high hurdles as easily as Forrest Towne did at Berlin in 1936."

Dillard has shaded 14 seconds several times in the 120-yard high hurdles, whereas the great Georgian took the world's record down to 13 7/10 before his retirement. But Von Elling says Dillard is "just as good as Towne was," explaining:

"Towne was the better 'fencer' of the two. But Dillard is faster between the hurdles."

VFW Quint Defeats Martinsburg Bears

The Cumberland V.F.W. basketball team swept its series with the Martinsburg Bears by winning the return game last night on SS. Peter and Paul court. The score was 75-49.

Stotler led the scorers of the winning team with 10 field goals and 21 points. H. McGill collected 12 fielders and 27 points for the West Virginia team.

Holy Cross Wins

BOSTON, March 9—(INS)—A wild rally in the final 20 seconds of play gave the Holy Cross basketball team a 65 to 62 victory over Colgate tonight before 14,000 fans at Boston Garden.

George Kaftan, the Crusaders' All-American center, whipped home five points during those closing seconds to climax one of the most exciting basketball games ever played at the Garden.

Kaftan paced the NCAA champions in scoring 24 points.

Court Hears Residents Tell Of Disturbances

BALTIMORE, March 9—(AP)—The night baseball games of the Baltimore Orioles are "just like a riot," a complaining witness testified today.

Herman C. Crueger told Judge E. Paul Mason "we don't have reasonable use of our homes because we have to keep the windows closed against dust and noise."

Crueger is one of 26 residents of the stadium area asking for an injunction against lease of the municipal field to the Orioles. The suit, which the city, Orioles and International Baseball League all are defending, started yesterday.

Crueger claimed the fans "stream in with all manner of noise-making devices. About that time the loud speaker starts."

Asked if he could hear what is said on the loudspeaker, he replied:

Knows Lineup By Heart

"Absolutely. I know the lineup by heart."

Then he told of dust—that he scraped into piles on his furniture—profanity and cars parked so they blocked entrance to his own garage.

Under cross examination, Crueger admitted he attended the games infrequently and that his work carried him away from home for long periods, some during the baseball season.

Frederick Green, another complaining witness, said he could read "small print" in a newspaper by lights at the stadium. Lee Staples, also appearing in favor of the injunction, testified the house he bought for $6,675 in 1941 now is worth $17,500, but:

"My property is going to be increasingly difficult to dispose of if the Orioles stay in the stadium."

Jail Not Big Enough

Itzel said many times there had been so many people making disturbances in the stadium area on the nights of Oriole games that it was "impossible to arrest them because we wouldn't have a place big enough to put them."

Itzel lives near the stadium. He said he often heard many persons making "loud and unseemly noises as late as 1 or 2 o'clock in the morning" after Oriole games.

He was asked if he arrested any of these people.

"I was in my pajamas," Itzel replied.

The inspector said he often assigns as many as 80 policemen to the neighborhood when there are night games but they "could not control all the disturbances."

Itzel said the glare from the stadium flood lights is so bad he has to pull down his shades before he can sleep.

Boxer Is Improved

HOLYOKE, Mass., March 9 (AP)—Thompson Harmon, New York negro boxer, who collapsed after a battering in the ring last night, was described today as "in no danger" at the Holyoke Hospital.

Dr. Edward McHugh said Harmon's name was never on the danger list and that X-ray photographs were deemed unnecessary.

Harmon boiled off about four pounds to engage in last night's featherweight contest with Sandy Saddler of New York.

Basco Rewards Boxers ★ ★ ★ ★ Fighter Develops Voice

Bi-State To Freeze 'Em ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ Pro League Will Expand

By C. V. BURNS

Joseph R. Basco, Barberton, Ohio, fight manager, who is bringing Rudy Zadell and Freddie Bernhardt here next Monday night for bouts with Sammy Angott, former lightweight champion, and Billy Squall, is noted for sending his outstanding boxers to South Africa for international matches.

He started sending the aces of his stable to the Dark Continent 21 years ago. Thirty American fighters have gone there under Basco's management.

Some of them were Young Stribling, Wesley Ramey, Frankie Wine, Benny Burns, Mickey Doyle, Chuck Burns, Leo Genet, Johnny Freeman, Cecil Kid Como, Proctor Heinold, Buddy Scott and Jimmy Ainscough.

In South Africa they still declare that Wine, the Montana heavy, was the best American fighter ever to visit Johannesburg and they measure all others by Wine's performance against Johnny Squires, the South African heavy champion.

Basco recalls that when Wine and Burns went to South Africa 21 years ago it took them 31 days. Three years ago his boxers made the trip in 20 days. Last October when Rudy Zadell, Johnny Denson and Buddy Komar made the trip it took 44 hours by air while the return journey was made by boat in 16 days.

The Chuck Burns mentioned is none other than the hard-hitting Texan who lost a thriller to Patsy Perroni in a pro show staged here by "Vic" Ricker.

Basco, incidentally, stopped here Sunday to confer with Matchmaker Ricker, while en route from Baltimore to Barberton.

If Freddie Bernhardt lives up to his nickname there should be some fireworks on Monday's card. He's been dubbed the "Akron Buzz Bomb" and is heralded as "one of the best club fighters in the game."

Chick Bogard, matchmaker at Madison Square Garden, told Pat Robinson, INS sports writer, the one about a certain lightweight boxer, who, while discussing odds the other day wanted to know if 9 to 5 was more than 3 to 1.

The same boxer, it seems, fancies himself as a singer.

His pals told him he should develop his voice like Frank Sinatra did, by singing into a dresser drawer. The young pugilist was impressed.

An hour later one of the gang found him sitting on the floor, with a dresser drawer pulled out, and bellowing away—at the top of his lungs!

Jim Kelley refereed the Bucknell-Catholic U. boxing matches Saturday night at Lewisburg, Pa., and handed down eight decisions and one draw. Coach Eddie LaFond's C. U. team beat the Bisons, 6½ to 2½.

No judges were used at Lewisburg.

It marked the third time this season that the Cumberlander had officiated in an intercollegiate series.

Jack Sheehe, the Oakland, Md., middleweight, decisioned his Cavalier opponent Saturday night at State College, Pa., as Coach Leo Houck's Penn State boxers battled Virginia to a 4-4 deadlock.

Looks like the Bi-State League has decided to play until the frost is on the pumpkin this year.

Like last year, each team will play 36 games. Then the four teams in the playoffs will engage in a best-out-of-five series topped off by a best-out-of-seven games set for the championship.

Norm Gerdeman, it is understood, has ordered snowsuits for the Amvets.

Hagerstown High School is to be congratulated for forfeiting to Fort Hill in the Maryland basketball tourney. The Hub city boys lost two games to the Sentinels during the regular season and they knew when they had enough. There's no use making a travesty out of any sport just for the sake of playing in a tournament. It's too bad more people don't use common sense!

Johnstown (Pa.) High School pays its head coach $4,350 per year. He receives $2,950 as a teacher and $1,400 as head coach.

Mike Valan of Wheeling, secretary, announces that a vast organizational program is now being conducted by the All-American Pro Basketball League and interested parties within a radius of 200 miles of Wheeling are invited to canvass the possibilities of applying for a franchise in the circuit for next season.

Valan says chances appear bright that the league will operate in two divisions in 1948-49 and there has been talk of broadening the 200-mile radius limitation on accepting franchise applications.

Mike states that Baltimore, five cities in Ohio, three in West Virginia and five in Pennsylvania have asked for consideration thus far. These cities do not include the six in the circuit now.

If Bob Whip and Company doesn't get into the playoffs to recoup some of their losses it's almost a foregone conclusion the Cumberland Dukes will not take another fling at pro league ball next season.

A small remnant of the supposedly extinct eastern puma has been discovered in New Brunswick. Photographs and casts of tracks have been identified by reliable authorities.

FROSTBURG PLANS AMATEUR BOXING SHOW ON MARCH 18

FROSTBURG, March 9 — Frostburg's first AAU sanctioned boxing show will be staged on Thursday, March 18, it was announced last night by Harry Frost, matchmaker of the Century Athletic Club.

Frost said tonight that the show will likely be held at the Junior Order Park Skating Rink.

A local talent show will be the initial offering of the C.A.C., members of which have boxed in a number of Cumberland amateur shows.

Five Pro Fights To Feature Card On Monday Night

Albright To Oppose Portmess In Opener

Matchmaker "Vic" Ricker yesterday completed his professional boxing card for Monday night at the State Armory by signing up four local scrappers for five and four round preliminary matches.

Johnny Booth, Eckhart 140-pounder, has been paired with George Bennett, of Mt. Savage, in a five-rounder, and Garford "Red" Albright will clash with "Red" Portmess in the four-round curtain raiser.

The Booth-Bennett affair is heralded as a "grudge" battle. Both boys are reported to have been on the "outs" for some time and they've been itching to get at each other in the ring.

Albright and Portmess are amateur products.

Monday's card will be topped by the ten-rounder between Sammy Angott, former lightweight champion of the world, and Rudy Zadell, Akron, Ohio, 140-pounder.

In the semi-final, a six-rounder, Marion Klingensmith, Brownsville, Pa., middleweight, will swap punches with Willie Moore, 160-pounder of Pittsburgh, while in another five-rounder, Freddie Bernhardt, Akron, Ohio, welterweight, will oppose Billy Squall, Pittsburgh 145-pounder.

A total of 30 rounds of boxing in five bouts will be offered in Cumberland's first professional show since 1946.

Arion Band's Benefit Show Carded Tonight

FROSTBURG, March 9 — Eight exhibition bouts in which Eckhart, Cumberland and Frostburg amateur boxers will participate will feature a smoker to be held tomorrow (Wednesday) night at 8:30 o'clock in St. Michael's Hall for the benefit of the Frostburg Arion Band.

Matchmaker John Henry Stitcher of the Cumberland Police Boys' Club will bring a team here to meet boxers of the Eckhart A. C. and the Century A. C. of Frostburg.

The Lions' Club is sponsoring the benefit affair and Harry Frost is the matchmaker.

Frostburg simon pures expected to appear on the program are Bernard Chabot, Ray Stott, Billy Hileman, Don Chambers, Roy Richardson, Bob Woods and Bob Moffett.

AMVETS "BLACK SOX" WILL MEET TONIGHT

The Cumberland Amvets will be known as the "Black Sox" instead of the "Red Sox" when the 1948 baseball season rolls around.

Last season the Bi-State Champs wore red hose.

The new uniforms will be white trimmed in black with black sox and caps, according to Manager Norman Gerdeman. The Amvets' emblem will adorn the left side of the shirts.

Gerdeman has called a meeting of the team for tonight at 7:30 at the Amvets' Home. Holdovers from the 1947 squad and newcomers seeking tryouts are urged to attend.

AMVETS TO INVADE OAKLAND TONIGHT

Cumberland's Amvets will be shooting for their twenty-second basketball victory of the season tonight when they play the Oakland American Legion quint in the Oakland High School gym at 8 o'clock.

Coach Robert "Ace" Baker's aggregation has won 21 out of 27 games played.

The squad will leave in cars from the Amvets' Home, Baltimore Street, at 6 o'clock.

Thursday night the Amvets will oppose the Green Hill Shamrocks in the opening game of the Hagerstown Invitational Tournament at 9:15 o'clock.

GETS PRO BOUT — Johnny Booth, above, Eckhart 140-pounder, will swap punches with George Bennett of Mt. Savage, in one of the four round preliminaries in next Monday's professional fight show at the State Armory. In the 10-round main go Sammy Angott, former lightweight champion, will tangle with Rudy Zadell of Akron, Ohio.

Moose And Ridgeley To Play Return Game

The Cumberland Loyal Order of Moose basketball team will seek revenge for a 63-27 setback when it plays a return game with the Ridgeley American Legion quint of the "Y" League tonight at 8 o'clock on SS. Peter and Paul court.

Kelly-Springfield Local No. 26 will play the Moose cagers Friday at 8 o'clock on SS. Peter and Paul court.

Dukes Ready For Fight To Finish In 4th Place Battle With Altoona

If Altoona loses to Youngstown Saturday night and Cumberland is victorious over the Columbus Mariners on the same evening it will be a "fight to the finish" in the battle for fourth place and a spot in the All-American Pro Basketball League's playoffs.

That's why the Dukes' games here with Columbus on Saturday night and Youngstown Sunday night have the fans talking.

Altoona has only one more game on its schedule and needs a single victory to clinch fourth place. If Altoona loses that game to the Cubs, who have clinched first place, all Cumberland has to do to tie the Pennsylvanians is split even in its two remaining tilts. Cumberland could nose out the Pennsy quint for fourth place if the Blair countians lose Saturday night and the locals make a sweep of their two remaining contests with Columbus and Youngstown, which is a big job.

Columbus and the Dukes have met four times to date and the Ohioans have bagged three games. The scores were 54-37, 78-62 and 72-60 in favor of the Mariners while the Dukes scored a 74-61 victory.

Youngtown holds a 5-1 edge over the Dukes in their series with the local club. The Cubs have won by scores of 67-51, 59-48, 54-35 and 59-41 and lost to Cumberland 66-55.

Both the Saturday nad Sunday night games at SS. Peter and Paul gym will get under way at 9 o'clock.

Barton Floormen Lose 63-38 Game To Williamsport

Moran Sparks Bruce To 65-38 Conquest

Central High School of Lonaconing defeated Middletown High School last night at the latter place by the score of 27-24 in the finals of the District No. 1 girls' basketball tournament for Class "C" schools.

Coach Jack Petry's Bruce High School floormen defeated Boonsboro High School of Washington County last night in Westernport by the score of 65-38 in the finals of District No. 1's tournament for Class "C" schools.

In the opening game of the doubleheader, played before a packed house of 600 persons, Williamsport High of Washington County eliminated Barton High School, 63-38, in the finals of the District No. 1 tourney for Class "D" schools.

Williamsport defeated Barton in the final period by outscoring the Braves, 24-8, after three closely contested periods at the end of which Barton trailed by nine points, 39-30.

The Washington countians moved in for the "kill" in the final heat after three Barton regulars had left the game—Lambertson and Warnick on personal fouls and Tichnell for engaging in fisticuffs with a Williamsport player.

Scrappy Players Banished

Tichnell and Anderson engaged in an argument in the third period and Hanna, who "butted in" was banished from the game along with the Barton player.

Forsythe paced Williamsport to District No. 1 honors by collecting 24 points on 14 field goals and four foul goals. Anderson was the sparkplug of the winning team and acted as "feeder" for Forsythe, who scored most of his baskets on lay-up shots. Tichnell and Green were the chief point getters for Barton with 12 and 10 tallies.

Barton held a 10-6 lead at the quarter but trailed at the halfway mark.

Led by Don Moran, who flashed the form he exhibited prior to his recent illness, Bruce ran up a 33-19 lead in the first half and won "under wraps" from Boonsboro in the nightcap affair.

Moran Leads Attack

Moran dumped in a total of 21 points, including eight field goals before leaving the game on personal fouls in the final stanza. Wills featured for Bruce with his floorwork, garnered 10 points and starred at grabbing rebounds at both hoops.

The teams were given a total of 68 shots at the foul line and sank 29, Bruce converting 17 of 38 while Boonsboro meshed 12 of 27. Coach Petry's outfit outscored the visitors 24 to 13 in field goals.

Wade, push shot artist, led the Boonsboro offensive with eight fielders and a total of 23 points. He pushed up all shots with one hand even at the foul line where he banged in 7 of 10 tries.

New York U. Beaten By CCNY Five, 60-57

NEW YORK, March 9 (INS) — The City College of New York basketball team outclassed powerful New York University 60-57 tonight at Madison Square Garden.

The Beavers, denied entry into any post season tournament despite a 17-3 record (before tonight's game) broke into the lead at the second half, and never trailed thereafter.

The score was knotted at the half, 29-29.

NYU, seeded second in the National Invitation Tournament, suffered its second loss of the season and its third consecutive defeat at City's hands in the last three years. The Violets previously lost to Notre Dame. Their season's record now is 20-2.

The Violets were handicapped by the absence of star set-shot artist, Don Forman, who was sidelined with a sacroiliac injury.

Billy Taylor, Rangers' Hockey Player, Expelled For Life On Gambling Charge

Gallinger Of Bruins Is Given Suspension

LANSING, Mich., March 9 (AP) — Billy Taylor of the New York Rangers was expelled from organized hockey for life today and Don Gallinger of the Boston Bruins was suspended indefinitely on charges growing out of a national gambling probe.

National Hockey League President Clarence S. Campbell of Montreal announced the action to Gov. Kim Sigler following an exhaustive investigation.

Campbell said in a prepared statement that he had sufficient evidence to show that the 28-year-old Taylor had "knowingly associated with and communicated with James Tamer, a criminal and known gambler."

Hockey league officials in Montreal said the expulsion of Taylor means he is "out of organized hockey for life with no right of appeal."

Taylor Expresses Surprise

Taylor, who was expelled for conduct "prejudicial to and against the welfare of hockey," said he was "surprised" at the news when informed at his home in Oshawa, Ont.

He said he knew some persons active in gambling, but added "I never have been asked to bet on the outcome of a game."

Gallinger, 23, a resident of Port Colborne, Ont., was suspended by the league president "pending further investigation of his associations with James Tamer, the Detroit criminal and gambler."

In his statement, Campbell said Taylor was "interested with Tamer in a wager" on the outcome of a game played in Chicago Feb. 18 between the Boston Bruins and the Chicago Blackhawks.

"Taylor's interest in this wager," Campbell said, "was that he authorized Tamer to place for him a bet of $500 on the Chicago Blackhawks."

Boston, however, won the game 4 to 2.

It was Tamer's arrest last month as a parole violator that set off the probe of charges of gambling by hockey players. Campbell visited Tamer last week at Southern Michigan Prison during an investigation trip.

Kilpatrick Is Shocked

In New York, Gen. John Reed Kilpatrick said the Rangers had no intentions of appealing Taylor's expulsion.

"We are naturally shocked," said the president of Madison Square Garden, owner of the Rangers. He added:

"We are confident, however, that Campbell would not have taken this drastic action without a thorough and unbiased investigation and we have no intentions of appealing."

Weston W. Adams, president of the Boston Bruins, said Gallinger had been taken off the payroll but that the club would file an appeal from the suspension "if Gally wants it."

"Of course," said Adams, "I hope he's exonerated, but we want the facts either way. The case is not closed."

Advised of the suspension, Gallinger told a reporter in Boston that "I'm innocent." He said he would appeal the ruling "to clear my name," and added he had been promised a "fair shake" by the league president.

President Campbell said the investigation had established "to my complete satisfaction" that no other player in the league was involved in any manner.

He said the evidence turned over to him last week by Governor Sigler and Detroit Police Commissioner Harry S. Toy was corroborated by his own investigation.

No "Fix" Attempts Made

Campbell said there had not been any change of "fixing" or attempting to "fix" a hockey game.

The league head said no special arrangement would be made to permit the Rangers and the Bruins to replace the two players. He added that they could sign amateurs or call up players out on loan.

Campbell said his continued investigation "might take months." He asked the cooperation of the state as he proceeds with the investigation of Gallinger's case.

The bride wore an afternoon dress of cinnamon brown chinchilla crepe fashioned in a tunic effect. The bodice was caught at the neckline by a gold and rhinestone clip. Her headdress was a small dark brown pillbox straw hat and her gloves were elbow length. Completing her attire was a corsage of bronze and yellow orchids.

The bride's only attendant was her daughter, Miss Alice Meyer, who wore a sand crepe dress trimmed with gold nail heads. She chose as her accessories a brown hat and shoes complete with a corsage of talisman roses. David T. Robinson, Louisville, served as best man.

The bride is a graduate of Louisville Normal School and did extension work at the University of Kentucky and the University of Louisville. She is a member of the Auxiliary Retail Druggists, of the Audubon Park Garden Club, and for the past five years was a social service worker for the Department of Welfare in Kentucky.

Dr. Morris is a graduate of the school of dentistry of the University of Illinois, where he is affiliated with the Psi Omega Fraternity. He is a member of the American Dental Association and for the past 16 years has practiced in Parsons.

Following the wedding, a reception was held for the wedding party and friends with Mrs. David T. Robinson and Mrs. Courtland Beeler presiding at the tea tables.

The couple took a wedding trip to Ohio and Pennsylvania, and are now residing in Parsons.

Wedding Announced

Mrs. Martha Cooke, Thomas, has announced the wedding of her daughter, Miss Elizabeth Cooke, to P. L. Milkint, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Milkint, Thomas, and the late Charlie Milkint.

The bride wore a street length suit of grey gabardine with which she wore matching accessories. Her costume was completed with a corsage of red rosebuds.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, March 9 (INS) — I've got news for the hundreds of fans who have written to me begging for Larry Parks in the sequel to "The Jolson Story." That's exactly what is going to happen.

Beatrice Lillie

I have learned that Al Jolson, who never signed the contract with MGM and made only a verbal deal, will probably go to Columbia. Seems that Columbia has an option on him until May 1. since Jolson made a fortune out of the picture, which has, up to date, brought in $10,000,000, I doubt if he'll fight that option.

I could get no word from Harry Cohn, who has gone away on a three-week vacation, but this comes straight enough for me to say that I am so sure that Parks will be in the sequel that I print it without hesitation. And I also believe now that Harry Cohn won the lawsuit against Larry, he'll probably turn around and give him that increase in salary.

Everything is going just great for Robert Stack these days. On the heels of completing "Date With Judy" with Jane Powell at MGM, he's keeping a date with Paramount for "The Tatlock Millions." He's scheduled to make love to Wanda Hendrix—on the screen, of course.

Chatter in Hollywood:

The hottest rumor around town last Sunday was that Clark Gable and Iris Bynum had eloped. But like other of these tidbits, it turned out to be a false alarm, although Clark did escort Iris to the races.

Iris laughed heartily when I told her of the gossip. She said she had just returned from Mexico City the day before with Nora Eddington Flynn, her closest friend.

Maureen O'Sullivan won't know who wins the statue of St. Patrick, offered each year by the Ancient Order of Hibernians, to the outstanding Irish actor, until she presents the statue St. Patrick's Day.

Last year Maureen won the honor and this year the three heading the race for honors are Barry Fitzgerald, Dennis Day and Pat O'Brien. Sure and may the best man win.

Margaret Sullavan's most devoted companion in New York is a very wealthy Scotsman by the waggish name of Wagg. He met Maggie in London and followed her to New York to ask her to become Mrs. Wagg.

The David Waynes are expecting their second child. He is now appearing in "Mr. Robert" with Henry Fonda. Moviegoers will see him for the first time on the screen with Jennifer Jones in "Portrait of Jennie."

The William Gastons (he's the well-known playwright and former federal conciliator) have parted. Gaston was formerly married to Kay Francis and then later to Rosamond Pinchot.

Donald Richards of "Finian's Rainbow" fame, who is so handsome and can sing like a bird, has had several Hollywood offers, and we may be seeing him here.

"Opinionaire" To Be Taken Out Of Storage By Mutual

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, March 9—Opinionaire, forum series which MBS has had in storage since last June, goes back on the air of that network Wednesday night. In a sense, it is to be that net's contribution to the forum broadcasting now that American Forum no longer is heard on Tuesday nights after a 20-year microphone career.

In conducting its debates, Opinionaires uses something of the format of the court room with lawyers, witnesses and jury. In addition it takes a telephone poll of listeners to get their reactions to the subject being discussed.

The time will be the half hour at 10, which means that California Melodies is being "permanently cancelled in this period" and being relisted for 10:30.

The second broadcast from the Philadelphia Bulletin's Forum in Philadelphia is scheduled for CBS at 10:30. This time the European Recovery Program will be discussed by Harold E. Stassen and Dean Acheson.

With Victor Moore off the program for "a week's rest" (it says there) Van Johnson is to provide the necessary help in the Jimmy Durante program on NBC at 10:30. Moore is due back next week.

Already recorded and waiting the start of the turntables at 10 for the Bing Crosby program on ABC is the voice of Jimmy Stewart. In other words he's the guest this time.

SALLY'S SALLIES

"Why don't you just mark everything down, and beat the stock market to it?"

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

Understatement, Education and Acting

Radio has been accused many times and with great justice of pumping synthetic excitement into sporting events which were as dull as Monday morning to spectators on the scene. In television this is impossible, so sports announcers are leaning over backward to avoid any hint of exaggeration. The other night I saw a hockey match between the Rangers and the Canadians reported by Win Elliott, who is easily the winner of the Crosby Prize of 1948 for understatement. Mark my words, Elliott is the man to watch in this field.

John Crosby

The image had scarcely stopped jumping to and fro when Richard started up the ice with the puck and about mid-rink was catapulted into the boards by a husky Ranger. "Richard is being bothered," murmered Mr. Elliott. Richard in this case was so severely bothered I was afraid several of his ribs were broken. A moment later two Rangers and two Canadians started to beat in each other's skulls with their sticks. "Little bad feeling here," said Mr. Elliott as the dead and dying were carried off.

Later open warefare involving what appeared to be all twelve players broke out in front of the Canadian goal. The hockey players tore into each other with sticks, skates and fists in wild fury and I couldn't wait to hear Mr. Elliott explain this one. "They seem to have lost interest in the puck," complained Mr. Elliott. For awhile the players were bothered—a favorite word of Mr. Elliott's—only in routine ways, a matter of a few lost teeth and possibly a broken rib here and there. Then a Ranger started up the ice and about thirty feet later was hit simultaneously by three Canadians. He flew upward and backward about ten yards, landing on his head.

In the acting dodge there are a number of skillful methods of tormenting one's fellow actors. One of these is known as the handkerchief trick. A moment before an actress delivers her wittiest line of the evening a second actress will snatch out her handkerchief, wave it, blow her nose in it or just look at it. The audience is diverted from Actress 1 to Actress 2 and the line is smothered. It doesn't have to be a handkerchief, of course; any sharp movement will do just as well.

Well, sir, in television I find people play the handkerchief trick on themselves, unwittingly I suppose, since it's hard to believe any one would do it deliberately. The other day on "Author Meets the Critics," the book under discussion was Ludwig Lewisohn's "The Case of Mrs. Crump" and one of the critics—I forgot which side he took—was Merle Miller. Whenever he entered the discussion, Mr. Miller—the camera focused directly on him—began to exhibit an intense interest in a book of matches in his hand. As he delivered his opinions—and I can't remember a single one of them—he stared fixedly at this book of matches, turned it from side to side, read the advertising on the front cover and then on the back cover, inspected the staple to see whether the book was firmly put together, and displayed excessive curiosity as the composition of the match heads. My attention and I imagine the attention of thousands was diverted from what he said to what he did.

One of the most ambitious of television shows, the beginning of an impressive series, was broadcast recently over WWJ-TV in Detroit. It was an hour and a quarter program on atomic energy with Dr. R. A. Sawyer, former Navy commander in charge of the scientific corps at Bikini and now dean of the graduate school of the University of Michigan, and Ken Manuel, Detroit commentator, as narrators. Dr. Sawyer explained the atom; Manuel put it into laymen's English; a staff cartoonist drew lightning sketches of the atom, the composition of molecules, the bombardment of atoms by neutrons; occasionally the talk was illustrated with portions of an expositional film. The broadcast ended with the official Navy film of Bikini and the film "One World or None."

This omnibus job on an extremely technical subject came across so vividly that WWJ-TV plans to dive into such abstruse subjects as jet propulsion, the Einstein theory of relativity and possibly the quantum theory.

General Bearishness Continues To Depress Stock Market Dealings

With the ticker tape frequently at a standstill, transfers for the five hours dwindled to 660,000 shares. They compared with 740,000 Monday and were among the full session minimums of the year to date.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was off .4 of a point at 60.8, a bottom since Feb. 27. The dip duplicated that of the day before. Of 937 issues registering, 565 fell and 183 rose.

United Fruit added 1¾ at 53 and Holland Furnace 1 at 23¾ on pleasing dividends. Minor gains were shown for Montgomery Ward, American Telephone, Columbia Gas, Consolidated Edison, Westinghouse Electric, General Electric, Sinclair Oil and United Air Lines.

Touching lows for 1948 were Goodrich, which finished off 2⅛ at 48⅝, and Pullman, off 1¼ at 43¼. Down 1 to 2 or so were Nickel Plate Railroad at 41½, Amerada Petroleum 88, Union Pacific 158, Missio Corp. 50½, Goodyear 39, U. S. Rubber 39½, Firestone Tire 44⅛, American Smelting 49¾, Phelps Dodge 42 and Coca-Cola 163.

Lesser recessions were shown for U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, General Motors, Sears Roebuck, International Harvester, Boeing, Electric Power & Light, Kennecott, Du Pont, Eastman Kodak, U. S. Gypsum, Standard Oil (N. J.), Paramount Pictures, Santa Fe and Southern Pacific.

Among curb laggards were Aluminum of America, United Light, Cities Service, Electric Bond & Share and Kaiser-Frazer. Turnover here was 160,000 shares versus 190,000 yesterday.

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, March 9 (INS) — I've got news for the hundreds of fans who have written to me begging for Larry Parks in the sequel to "The Jolson Story." That's exactly what is going to happen.

Beatrice Lillie

I have learned that Al Jolson, who never signed the contract with MGM and made only a verbal deal, will probably go to Columbia. Seems that Columbia has an option on him until May 1, since Jolson made a fortune out of the picture, which has, up to date, brought in $10,000,000, I doubt if he'll fight that option.

I could get no word from Harry Cohn, who has gone away on a three-week vacation, but this comes straight enough for me to say that I am so sure that Parks will be in the sequel that I print it without hesitation. And I also believe now that Harry Cohn won the lawsuit against Larry, he'll probably turn around and give him that increase in salary.

Everything is going just great for Robert Stack these days. On the heels of completing "Date With Judy" with Jane Powell at MGM, he's keeping a date with Paramount for "The Tatlock Millions." He's scheduled to make love to Wanda Hendrix—on the screen, of course.

Chatter in Hollywood:

The hottest rumor around town last Sunday was that Clark Gable and Iris Bynum had eloped. But like other of these tidbits, it turned out to be a false alarm, although Clark did escort Iris to the races.

Iris laughed heartily when I told her of the gossip. She said she had just returned from Mexico City the day before with Nora Eddington Flynn, her closest friend.

Maureen O'Sullivan won't know who wins the statue of St. Patrick, offered each year by the Ancient Order of Hibernians, to the outstanding Irish actor, until she presents the statue St. Patrick's Day.

Last year Maureen won the honor and this year the three heading the race for honors are Barry Fitzgerald, Dennis Day and Pat O'Brien. Sure and may the best man win.

The Mark Stevens' having dinner at La Rue's, but from the serious way they looked, I doubt is is a reconciliation.

Margaret Sullavan's most devoted companion in New York is a very wealthy Scotsman by the waggish name of Wagg. He met Maggie in London and followed her to New York to ask her to become Mrs. Wagg.

The David Waynes are expecting their second child. He is now appearing in "Mr. Robert" with Henry Fonda. Moviegoers will see him for the first time on the screen with Jennifer Jones in "Portrait of Jennie."

The William Gastons (he's the well-known playwright and former federal conciliator) have parted. Gaston was formerly married to Kay Francis and then later to Rosamond Pinchot.

Edward Dowling is again conducting a romantic campaign for the heart of Beatrice Lillie. For nearly 10 years he's been interested.

Donald Richards of "Finian's Rainbow" fame, who is so handsome and can sing like a bird, has had several Hollywood offers, and we may be seeing him here.

"Opinionaire" To Be Taken Out Of Storage By Mutual

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, March 9—Opinionaire, forum series which MBS has had in storage since last June, goes back on the air of that network Wednesday night. In a sense, it is to be that net's contribution to the forum broadcasting now that American Forum no longer is heard on Tuesday nights after a 20-year microphone career.

In conducting its debates, Opinionaires uses something of the format of the court room with lawyers, witnesses and jury. In addition it takes a telephone poll of listeners to get their reactions to the subject being discussed.

The time will be the half hour at 10, which means that California Melodies is being "permanently cancelled in this period" and being relisted for 10:30.

The second broadcast from the Philadelphia Bulletin's Forum in Philadelphia is scheduled for CBS at 10:30. This time the European Recovery Program will be discussed by Harold E. Stassen and Dean Acheson.

With Victor Moore off the program for "a week's rest" (it says there) Van Johnson is to provide the necessary help in the Jimmy Durante program on NBC at 10:30. Moore is due back next week.

Already recorded and waiting the start of the turntables at 10 for the Bing Crosby program on ABC is the voice of Jimmy Stewart. In other words he's the guest this time.

SALLY'S SALLIES

"Why don't you just mark everything down, and beat the stock market to it?"

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

Understatement, Education and Acting

Radio has been accused many times and with great justice of pumping synthetic excitement into sporting events which were as dull as Monday morning to spectators on the scene. In television this is impossible, so sports announcers are leaning over backward to avoid any hint of exaggeration. The other night I saw a hockey match between the Rangers and the Canadians reported by Win Elliott, who is easily the winner of the Crosby Prize of 1948 for understatement. Mark my words, Elliott is the man to watch in this field.

John Crosby

The image had scarcely stopped jumping to and fro when Richard started up the ice with the puck and about mid-rink was catapulted into the boards by a husky Ranger. "Richard is being bothered," murmered Mr. Elliott. Richard in this case was so severely bothered I was afraid several of his ribs were broken. A moment later two Rangers and two Canadians started to beat in each other's skulls with their sticks. "Little bad feeling here," said Mr. Elliott as the dead and dying were carried off.

Later open warefare involving what appeared to be all twelve players broke out in front of the Canadian goal. The hockey players tore into each other with sticks, skates and fists in wild fury and I couldn't wait to hear Mr. Elliott explain this one. "They seem to have lost interest in the puck," complained Mr. Elliott. For awhile the players were bothered—a favorite word of Mr. Elliott's—only in routine ways, a matter of a few lost teeth and possibly a broken rib here and there. Then a Ranger started up the ice and about thirty feet later was hit simultaneously by three Canadians. He flew upward and backward about ten yards, landing on his head.

In the acting dodge there are a number of skillful methods of tormenting one's fellow actors. One of these is known as the handkerchief trick. A moment before an actress delivers her wittiest line of the evening a second actress will snatch out her handkerchief, wave it, blow her nose in it or just look at it. The audience is diverted from Actress 1 to Actress 2 and the line is smothered. It doesn't have to be a handkerchief, of course; any sharp movement will do just as well.

Well, sir, in television I find people play the handkerchief trick on themselves, unwittingly I suppose, since it's hard to believe any one would do it deliberately. The other day on "Author Meets the Critics," the book under discussion was Ludwig Lewisohn's "The Case of Mrs. Crump" and one of the critics—I forgot which side he took—was Merle Miller. Whenever he entered the discussion, Mr. Miller—the camera focused directly on him—began to exhibit an intense interest in a book of matches in his hand. As he delivered his opinions—and I can't remember a single one of them—he stared fixedly at this book of matches, turned it from side to side, read the advertising on the front cover and then on the back cover, inspected the staple to see whether the book was firmly put together, and displayed excessive curiosity as the composition of the match heads. My attention and I imagine the attention of thousands was diverted from what he said to what he did.

Mr. Miller wasn't the only one playing the handkerchief trick on himself either. Another critic, whose name I didn't catch, played incessantly with a pencil; Mr. Lewishohn couldn't tear his eyes away from his cigarette. In fact, the only one who didn't fiddle with something was John K. M. McCaffrey, the moderator, who kept his hands sensibly placed in front of him. If television continues to recruit amateurs for forum programs or interviews, it might be a good idea to instruct them briefly on the rudiments of acting.

One of the most ambitious of television shows, the beginning of an impressive series, was broadcast recently over WWJ-TV in Detroit. It was an hour and a quarter program on atomic energy with Dr. R. A. Sawyer, former Navy commander in charge of the scientific corps at Bikini and now dean of the graduate school of the University of Michigan, and Ken Manuel, Detroit commentator, as narrators. Dr. Sawyer explained the atom; Manuel put it into laymen's English; a staff cartoonist drew lightning sketches of the atom, the composition of molecules, the bombardment of atoms by neutrons; occasionally the talk was illustrated with portions of an expositional film. The broadcast ended with the official Navy film of Bikini and the film "One World or None."

This omnibus job on an extremely technical subject came across so vividly that WWJ-TV plans to dive into such abstruse subjects as jet propulsion, the Einstein theory of relativity and possibly the quantum theory.

General Bearishness Continues To Depress Stock Market Dealings

NEW YORK, March 9—(AP)—General bearishness, together with erratic commodities, continued to depress the majority of today's stock market leaders.

An argument for the bulls, however, was that selling remained light throughout.

With the ticker tape frequently at a standstill, transfers for the five hours dwindled to 660,000 shares. They compared with 740,000 Monday and were among the full session minimums of the year to date.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was off .4 of a point at 60.8, a bottom since Feb. 27. The dip duplicated that of the day before. Of 937 issues registering, 565 fell and 183 rose.

United Fruit added 1¾ at 53 and Holland Furnace 1 at 23¾ on pleasing dividends. Minor gains were shown for Montgomery Ward, American Telephone, Columbia Gas, Consolidated Edison, Westinghouse Electric, General Electric, Sinclair Oil and United Air Lines.

Touching lows for 1948 were Goodrich, which finished off 2⅛ at 48⅝, and Pullman, off 1¼ at 43¼. Down 1 to 2 or so were Nickel Plate Railroad at 41½, Amerada Petroleum 88, Union Pacific 158, Mission Corp. 50½, Goodyear 39, U. S. Rubber 39½, Firestone Tire 44⅛, American Smelting 49¾, Phelps Dodge 42 and Coca-Cola 163.

Lesser recessions were shown for U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, General Motors, Sears Roebuck, International Harvester, Boeing, Electric Power & Light, Kennecott, Du Pont, Eastman Kodak, U. S. Gypsum, Standard Oil (N. J.), Paramount Pictures, Santa Fe and Southern Pacific.

Among curb laggards were Aluminum of America, United Light, Cities Service, Electric Bond & Share and Kaiser-Frazer. Turnover here was 160,000 shares versus 190,000 yesterday.

Prices tended lower in a quiet bond market.

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, March 9—Opinionaire, forum series which MBS has had in storage since last June, goes back on the air of that network Wednesday night. In a sense, it is to be that net's contribution to the forum broadcasting now that American Forum no longer is heard on Tuesday nights after a 20-year microphone career.

In conducting its debates, Opinionaires uses something of the format of the court room with lawyers, witnesses and jury. In addition it takes a telephone poll of listeners to get their reactions to the subject being discussed.

The time will be the half hour at 10, which means that California Melodies is being "permanently cancelled in this period" and being relisted for 10:30.

The second broadcast from the Philadelphia Bulletin's Forum in Philadelphia is scheduled for CBS at 10:30. This time the European Recovery Program will be discussed by Harold E. Stassen and Dean Acheson.

With Victor Moore off the program for "a week's rest" (it says there) Van Johnson is to provide the necessary help in the Jimmy Durante program on NBC at 10:30. Moore is due back next week.

Already recorded and waiting the start of the turntables at 10 for the Bing Crosby program on ABC is the voice of Jimmy Stewart. In other words he's the guest this time.

SALLY'S SALLIES

"Why don't you just mark everything down, and beat the stock market to it?"

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

Understatement, Education and Acting

Radio has been accused many times and with great justice of pumping synthetic excitement into sporting events which were as dull as Monday morning to spectators on the scene. In television this is impossible, so sports announcers are leaning over backward to avoid any hint of exaggeration. The other night I saw a hockey match between the Rangers and the Canadians reported by Win Elliott, who is easily the winner of the Crosby Prize of 1948 for understatement. Mark my words, Elliott is the man to watch in this field.

John Crosby

The image had scarcely stopped jumping to and fro when Richard started up the ice with the puck and about mid-rink was catapulted into the boards by a husky Ranger. "Richard is being bothered," murmered Mr. Elliott. Richard in this case was so severely bothered I was afraid several of his ribs were broken. A moment later two Rangers and two Canadians started to beat in each other's skulls with their sticks. "Little bad feeling here," said Mr. Elliott as the dead and dying were carried off.

Later open warefare involving what appeared to be all twelve players broke out in front of the Canadian goal. The hockey players tore into each other with sticks, skates and fists in wild fury and I couldn't wait to hear Mr. Elliott explain this one. "They seem to have lost interest in the puck," complained Mr. Elliott. For awhile the players were bothered—a favorite word of Mr. Elliott's—only in routine ways, a matter of a few lost teeth and possibly a broken rib here and there. Then a Ranger started up the ice and about thirty feet later was hit simultaneously by three Canadians. He flew upward and backward about ten yards, landing on his head.

In the acting dodge there are a number of skillful methods of tormenting one's fellow actors. One of these is known as the handkerchief trick. A moment before an actress delivers her wittiest line of the evening a second actress will snatch out her handkerchief, wave it, blow her nose in it or just look at it. The audience is diverted from Actress 1 to Actress 2 and the line is smothered. It doesn't have to be a handkerchief, of course; any sharp movement will do just as well.

Well, sir, in television I find people play the handkerchief trick on themselves, unwittingly I suppose, since it's hard to believe any one would do it deliberately. The other day on "Author Meets the Critics," the book under discussion was Ludwig Lewisohn's "The Case of Mrs. Crump" and one of the critics—I forgot which side he took —was Merle Miller. Whenever she entered the discussion, Mr. Miller—the camera focused directly on him—began to exhibit an intense interest in a book of matches in his hand. As he delivered his opinions —and I can't remember a single one of them—he stared fixedly at this book of matches, turning it from side to side, read the advertising on the front cover and then on the back cover, inspected the staple to see whether the book was firmly put together, and displayed excessive curiosity as the composition of the two heads. My attention and I imagine the attention of thousands was diverted from what he said to what he did.

Mr. Miller wasn't the only one playing the handkerchief trick on himself either. Another critic, whose name I didn't catch, played incessantly with a pencil; Mr. Lewishohn couldn't tear his eyes away from his cigarette. In fact, the only one who didn't fiddle with something was John K. M. McCaffrey, the moderator, who kept his hands sensibly placed in front of him. If television continues to recruit amateurs for forum programs or interviews, it might be a good idea to instruct them briefly on the rudiments of acting.

One of the most ambitious of television shows, the beginning of an impressive series, was broadcast recently over WWJ-TV in Detroit. It was an hour and a quarter program on atomic energy with Dr. R. A. Sawyer, former Navy commander in charge of the scientific corps at Bikini and now dean of the graduate school of the University of Michigan, and Ken Manuel, Detroit commentator, as narrators. Dr. Sawyer explained the atom; Manuel put it into laymen's English; a staff cartoonist drew lightning sketches of the atom, the composition of molecules, the bombardment of atoms by neutrons; occasionally the talk was illustrated with portions of an expositional film. The broadcast ended with the official Navy film of Bikini and the film "One World or None."

This omnibus job on an extremely technical subject came across so vividly that WWJ-TV plans to dive into such abstruse subjects as jet propulsion, the Einstein theory of relativity and possibly the quantum theory.

"Opinionaire" To Be Taken Out Of Storage By Mutual

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, March 9—Opinionaire, forum series which MBS has had in storage since last June, goes back on the air of that network Wednesday night. In a sense, it is to be that net's contribution to the forum broadcasting now that American Forum no longer is heard on Tuesday nights after a 20-year microphone career.

In conducting its debates, Opinionaires uses something of the format of the court room with lawyers, witnesses and jury. In addition it takes a telephone poll of listeners to get their reactions to the subject being discussed.

The time will be the half hour at 10, which means that California Melodies is being "permanently cancelled in this period" and being relisted for 10:30.

The second broadcast from the Philadelphia Bulletin's Forum in Philadelphia is scheduled for CBS at 10:30. This time the European Recovery Program will be discussed by Harold E. Stassen and Dean Acheson.

With Victor Moore off the program for "a week's rest" (it says there) Van Johnson is to provide the necessary help in the Jimmy Durante program on NBC at 10:30. Moore is due back next week.

Already recorded and waiting the start of the turntables at 10 for the Bing Crosby program on ABC is the voice of Jimmy Stewart. In other words he's the guest this time.

SALLY'S SALLIES

"Why don't you just mark everything down, and beat the stock market to it?"

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

Understatement, Education and Acting

Radio has been accused many times and with great justice of pumping synthetic excitement into sporting events which were as dull as Monday morning to spectators on the scene. In television this is impossible, so sports announcers are leaning over backward to avoid any hint of exaggeration. The other night I saw a hockey match between the Rangers and the Canadians reported by Win Elliott, who is easily the winner of the Crosby Prize of 1948 for understatement. Mark my words, Elliott is the man to watch in this field.

John Crosby

The image had scarcely stopped jumping to and fro when Richard started up the ice with the puck and about mid-rink was catapulted into the boards by a husky Ranger. "Richard is being bothered," murmered Mr. Elliott. Richard in this case was so severely bothered I was afraid several of his ribs were broken. A moment later two Rangers and two Canadians started to beat in each other's skulls with their sticks. "Little bad feeling here," said Mr. Elliott as the dead and dying were carried off.

Later open warefare involving what appeared to be all twelve players broke out in front of the Canadian goal. The hockey players tore into each other with sticks, skates and fists in wild fury and I couldn't wait to hear Mr. Elliott explain this one. "They seem to have lost interest in the puck," complained Mr. Elliott. For awhile the players were bothered—a favorite word of Mr. Elliott's—only in routine ways, a matter of a few lost teeth and possibly a broken rib here and there. Then a Ranger started up the ice and about thirty feet later was hit simultaneously by three Canadians. He flew upward and backward about ten yards, landing on his head.

In the acting dodge there are a number of skillful methods of tormenting one's fellow actors. One of these is known as the handkerchief trick. A moment before an actress delivers her wittiest line of the evening a second actress will snatch out her handkerchief, wave it, blow her nose in it or just look at it. The audience is diverted from Actress 1 to Actress 2 and the line is smothered. It doesn't have to be a handkerchief, of course; any sharp movement will do just as well.

Well, sir, in television I find people play the handkerchief trick on themselves, unwittingly I suppose, since it's hard to believe any one would do it deliberately. The other day on "Author Meets the Critics," the book under discussion was Ludwig Lewisohn's "The Case of Mrs. Crump" and one of the critics—I forgot which side he took —was Merle Miller. Whenever he entered the discussion, Mr. Miller—the camera focused directly on him—began to exhibit an intense interest in a book of matches in his hand. As he delivered his opinions—and I can't remember a single one of them—he stared fixedly at this book of matches, turned it from side to side, read the advertising on the front cover and then on the back cover, inspected the staple to see whether the book was firmly put together, and displayed excessive curiosity as the composition of the match heads. My attention and I imagine the attention of thousands was diverted from what he said to what he did.

Mr. Miller wasn't the only one playing the handkerchief trick on himself either. Another critic, whose name I didn't catch, played incessantly with a pencil; Mr. Lewishohn couldn't tear his eyes away from his cigarette. In fact, the only one who didn't fiddle with something was John K. M. McCaffrey, the moderator, who kept his hands sensibly placed in front of him. If television continues to recruit amateurs for forum programs or interviews, it might be a good idea to instruct them briefly on the rudiments of acting.

One of the most ambitious of television shows, the beginning of an impressive series, was broadcast recently over WWJ-TV in Detroit. It was an hour and a quarter program on atomic energy with Dr. R. A. Sawyer, former Navy commander in charge of the scientific corps at Bikini and now dean of the graduate school of the University of Michigan, and Ken Manuel, Detroit commentator, as narrators. Dr. Sawyer explained the atom; Manuel put it into laymen's English; a staff cartoonist drew lightning sketches of the atom, the composition of molecules, the bombardment of atoms by neutrons; occasionally the talk was illustrated with portions of an expositional film. The broadcast ended with the official Navy film of Bikini and the film "One World or None."

This omnibus job on an extremely technical subject came across so vividly that WWJ-TV plans to dive into such tenuous subjects as jet propulsion, the Einstein theory of relativity and possibly the quantum theory.

General Bearishness Continues To Depress Stock Market Dealings

NEW YORK, March 9—(AP)—General bearishness, together with erratic commodities, continued to depress the majority of today's stock market leaders.

An argument for the bulls, however, was that selling remained light throughout.

With the ticker tape frequently at a standstill, transfers for the five hours dwindled to 660,000 shares. They compared with 740,000 Monday and were among the full session minimums of the year to date.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was off .4 of a point at 60.8, a bottom since Feb. 27. The dip duplicated that of the day before. Of 937 issues registering, 565 fell and 183 rose.

United Fruit added 1¾ at 53 and Holland Furnace at 23¾ on pleasing dividends. Minor gains were shown for Montgomery Ward, American Telephone, Columbia Gas, Consolidated Edison, Westinghouse Electric, General Electric, Sinclair Oil and United Air Lines.

Touching lows for 1948 were Goodrich, which finished off at 48¾, and Pullman, off 1½ at 43¼. Down 1 to 2 or so were Nickel Plate Railroad at 41½, Amerada Petroleum 88, Union Pacific 158, Mission Corp. 50½, Goodyear 39, U. S. Rubber 39½, Firestone Tire 44½, American Smelting 49¾, Phelps Dodge 42 and Coca-Cola 163.

Lesser recessions were shown for U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, General Motors, Sears Roebuck, International Harvester, Boeing, Electric Power & Light, Kennecott, Du Pont, Eastman Kodak, U. S. Gypsum, Standard Oil (N. J.), Paramount Pictures, Santa Fe and Southern Pacific.

Among curb laggards were Aluminum of America, United Light, Cities Service, Electric Bond & Share and Kaiser-Frazer. Turnover here was 160,000 shares versus 190,000 yesterday.

Prices tended lower in a quiet bond market.

In considering the Virginia Byrd it looks like the solid south wants none of that Missouri bird.

There are going to be a lot of Democratic heads cracked in this happy family before the Philadelphia convention. You may tag them the Solid South but never tag them Dense Dixie.

Looks to me like Truman has really stepped on his chin this time. When it comes to laying a political egg Harry has the mother complex bad.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, March 9 (INS) — I've got news for the hundreds of fans who have written to me begging for Larry Parks in the sequel to "The Jolson Story." That's exactly what is going to happen.

Beatrice Lillie

I have learned that Al Jolson, who never signed the contract with MGM and made only a verbal deal, will probably go to Columbia. Seems that Columbia has an option on him until May 1. since Jolson made a fortune out of the picture, which has, up to date, brought in $10,000,000, I doubt if he'll fight that option.

I could get no word from Harry Cohn, who has gone away on a three-week vacation, but this comes straight enough for me to say that I am so sure that Parks will be in the sequel that I print it without hesitation. And I also believe now that Harry Cohn won the lawsuit against Larry, he'll probably turn around and give him that increase in salary.

Everything is going just great for Robert Stack these days. On the heels of completing "Date With Judy" with Jane Powell at MGM, he's keeping a date with Paramount for "The Tatlock Millions." He's scheduled to make love to Wanda Hendrix—on the screen, of course.

●—●—●

Chatter in Hollywood:

The hottest rumor around town last Sunday was that Clark Gable and Iris Bynum had eloped. But like other of these tidbits, it turned out to be a false alarm, although Clark did escort Iris to the races.

Iris laughed heartily when I told her of the gossip. She said she had just returned from Mexico City the day before with Nora Eddington Flynn, her closest friend.

Maureen O'Sullivan won't know who wins the statue of St. Patrick, offered each year by the Ancient Order of Hibernians, to the outstanding Irish actor, until she presents the statue St. Patrick's Day.

Last year Maureen won the honor and this year the three heading the race for honors are Barry Fitzgerald, Dennis Day and Pat O'Brien. Sure and may the best man win.

The Mark Stevens' having dinner at La Rue's, but from the serious way they looked, I doubt is is a reconciliation.

Margaret Sullavan's most devoted companion in New York is a very wealthy Scotsman by the waggish name of Wagg. He met Maggie in London and followed her to New York to ask her to become Mrs. Wagg.

The David Waynes are expecting their second child. He is now appearing in "Mr. Robert" with Henry Fonda. Moviegoers will see him for the first time on the screen with Jennifer Jones in "Portrait of Jennie."

The William Gastons (he's the well-known playwright and former federal conciliator) have parted. Gaston was formerly married to Kay Francis and then later to Rosamond Pinchot.

Edward Dowling is again conducting a romantic campaign for the heart of Beatrice Lillie. For nearly 10 years he's been interested.

Donald Richards of "Finian's Rainbow" fame, who is so handsome and can sing like a bird, has had several Hollywood offers, and we may be seeing him here.

Louis Sobol, Irving Hoffman and Joe Moskowitz, after having themselves a real time in our town, have gone back to New York.

One of Joan Bennett's wedding gifts to her daughter, Diana, is a diamond cross that has been passed on to the brides in the Bennett family for several generations.

Although Linda Christian has appeared in several movies previous to "Tarzan And the Mermaid, she is getting a full credit title reading, "Introducing Linda Christian." Do you suppose Ty Power's romance with her had anything to do with this? Oh, no!

The Leo Gorceys at the Seacombers just as happy as if they hadn't been apart. Glad to say they have reconciled. So have the Donald O'Connors.

That's all today.

The earliest tax-supported library in the United States is supposed to have been the town library of Salisbury, Conn., established in 1803.

IN MEMORIAM

In Memory of Miss Margie L. Hollen who died one year ago March 10th, 1947.
"GOD CALLED YOU HOME"
You answered God's call Dear,
Just one year ago today;
He had a place for you up there,
So He called you home to stay.
We miss your every foot step,
Your sweet and smiling face;
Though your days here have ended,
No other will ever take your place.
Your years here were happy ones,
Your sorrows were so few;
We are sure the place you fill there
None other could ever do.
You're safe in God's Arms, Dear,
Beside Him when He roams,
Though your years there have just begun,
You will always be missed at home.
Sadly missed by:Mother & Sister,
Mrs. James Dunn.

In loving memory of our beloved wife and Mother, Charlotte Barbara Rowe, who died 5 years ago today, March 10, 1943.
Today is a day of remembrance,
A day of sad regrets,
A day we will always remember
When the rest of the world forgets.
Sadly missed by her husband,
Arthur S. Rowe and Children.

IN MEMORIAM

In Memory of Miss Margie L. Hollen who died one year ago March 10th, 1947.
"GOD CALLED YOU HOME"
You answered God's call Dear,
Just one year ago today;
He had a place for you up there,
So He called you home to stay.
We miss your every foot step,
Your sweet and smiling face;
Though your days here have ended,
No other will ever take your place.
Your years here were happy ones,
Your sorrows were so few;
We are sure the place you fill there
None other could ever do.
You're safe in God's Arms, Dear,
Beside Him when He roams,
Though your years there have just begun,
You will always be missed at home.
Sadly missed by:Mother & Sister,
Mrs. James Dunn.

In loving memory of our beloved wife and Mother, Charlotte Barbara Rowe, who died 5 years ago today, March 10, 1943.
Today is a day of remembrance,
A day of sad regrets,
A day we will always remember
When the rest of the world forgets.
Sadly missed by her husband,
Arthur S. Rowe and Children.

Hallanan Files As Delegate To GOP Convention

Says Republicans Must Lead The Way

Walter S. Hallanan, Charleston, W. Va., yesterday announced his candidacy for delegate-at large from West Virginia to the Republican National Convention, to be held in Philadelphia, Pa., in June.

In a formal public statement announcing his candidacy, Hallanan said, "It is uppermost in my mind that the nation looks to the Republican party to chart a course that will restore our government to the people. This is a year of momentous decision, following 15 years of indecision and confusion. It is a momentous year not only for the Republican party but for the destiny of our republic. It is a time when there is need for courageous leadership of the highest order. It is no time for narrow partisanship.

"My first and deepest consideration, in the interest of all the people, is to make certain of the overwhelming defeat of the Truman New Deal regime and to bring about a complete change in the administration of our national affairs. I am deeply consecrated to this objective.

"If chosen to represent the Republicans of West Virginia in the National Convention, I pledge myself to vote in good conscience to bring about the nomination of a candidate for President of the United States who, by qualifications, ability, sincerity, and devotion to American ideals, will most certainly insure the success of the Republican party in November.

"The issues confronting us are fundamental. I do not believe in any compromise of those principles with which Lincoln endowed us as a forward-looking party devoted to the preservation of our American system of free government and free men.

"I have no pledge or commitment to any candidate. The Republican party is fortunate in having an abundance of capable presidential material. It is our duty to make a choice that will meet with public approval. I will welcome the individual expressions of Republicans concerning their choice for the presidency.

"America is at the crossroad. It looks to the Republican party to lead the nation out of the fog. We must not fail to meet the greatest responsibility any party has ever been called upon to assume."

Hallanan Files As Delegate To GOP Convention

Says Republicans Must Lead The Way

Walter S. Hallanan, Charleston, W. Va., yesterday announced his candidacy for delegate-at large from West Virginia to the Republican National Convention, to be held in Philadelphia, Pa., in June.

In a formal public statement announcing his candidacy, Hallanan said, "It is uppermost in my mind that the nation looks to the Republican party to chart a course that will restore our government to the people. This is a year of momentous decision, following 15 years of indecision and confusion. It is a momentous year not only for the Republican party but for the destiny of our republic. It is a time when there is need for courageous leadership of the highest order. It is no time for narrow partisanship.

"My first and deepest consideration, in the interest of all the people, is to make certain of the overwhelming defeat of the Truman New Deal regime and to bring about a complete change in the administration of our national affairs. I am deeply consecrated to this objective.

"If chosen to represent the Republicans of West Virginia in the National Convention, I pledge myself to vote in good conscience to bring about the nomination of a candidate for President of the United States who, by qualifications, ability, sincerity, and devotion to American ideals, will most certainly insure the success of the Republican party in November.

"The issues confronting us are fundamental. I do not believe in any compromise of those principles with which Lincoln endowed us as a forward-looking party devoted to the preservation of our American system of free government and free men.

"I have no pledge or commitment to any candidate. The Republican party is fortunate in having an abundance of capable presidential material. It is our duty to make a choice that will meet with public approval. I will welcome the individual expressions of Republicans concerning their choice for the presidency.

"America is at the crossroad. It looks to the Republican party to lead the nation out of the fog. We must not fail to meet the greatest responsibility any party has ever been called upon to assume."

Government Claims $73,174 Is Unpaid

Charged with income tax evasion, Walter W. White, 48, 607 Fairview Avenue was indicted by a Federal Grand Jury in Baltimore yesterday, according to U. S. District Attorney Bernard F. Flynn. The government claims in an indictment of five counts that White owes $73,174 in income taxes for the years 1941 to 1945, inclusive.

The attorney explained White reported income of $30,835 for the period, while the government investigation shows his income was approximately $170,334 for the five-year period. The indictment includes five counts.

In the first count the government charges White's 1941 income tax return indicated a net income of $7,429 on which he paid tax of $847. The government contends White's income that year was $34,305 and that he should have paid $11,993 in tax.

Other Counts Listed

The fourth count lists White's 1944 return showing an income of $3,116 and a payment of $599, while the government charges his net income that year was $57,833 with $34,040 due the United states.

White's return for 1945, the fifth count shows, reported an income of of $11,836 and payment of $3,288, whereas the government contends his net income was $32,346 that year and that he should have paid $15,320.

Salvation Army Officer Attests To Miraculous Powers Of Prayer

"The Lord Healed Me," Lt. Case Declares

By C. WESLEY BLACKBURN

"The Lord healed me," declared Lt. Everett Case, Jr., who arrived here Saturday to become assistant officer of the Salvation Army Outpost, 511 Virginia Avenue.

Lt. Case, who is 22 and a native of Clarksburg, W. Va., said he was miraculously restored to health about three years ago as a result of prayer after his physician informed him he had "a thousand to one chance of ever walking on his left leg."

An invalid most of his life, Lt. Case suffered 26 fractures between the ages of 5 and 18, 19 of them breaks of the left leg, as a result of a calcium deficiency in the blood which resulted in softening of the bones of his body. The condition is known as skeletal deficiency.

The fractures, virtually all of them resulting from falls while walking along the street, included, in addition to the numerous left leg injuries, three right leg fractures, three broken arms and a fractured skull, the latter suffered when he was a lad of five.

When Lt. Case was 18, he joined the Salvation Army in Clarksburg, was converted, and became convinced, through the encouragement of Mrs. Albert V. Walker, wife of the post commander, that the Lord would heal him.

"We prayed continually that I might be healed, and within six months I was walking unaided on my left leg which formerly required a steel brace," Lt. Case said.

His doctor, who had told him he had a "thousand to one" chance of ever walking unaided on his left leg, told Lt. Case that "Only God could have worked the miracle."

"During the past few years," Lt. Case said, "I have had no trouble at all and physicians who examined me could find no physical reason why the change had taken place."

An accomplished singer and musician, Lt. Case has played the guitar since he was 5 and conducted guitar classes for a number of years. He also became well known as a radio performer through his singing of sacred songs with guitar accompaniments.

A member of a Salvation Army family, he is a son of Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Case, Jr., Clarksburg.

Since his graduation from Salvation Army Training College nine months ago, Lt. Case has been stationed in South Baltimore.

HEALED BY PRAYER — Lt. Everett Case, Jr., since Saturday assistant officer at the Salvation Army Outpost here, says prayer has healed him of a calcium deficiency that resulted in 26 bone fractures in 13 years.

Celanese-Union Submit 3 Cases To Arbitration

Insurance Premium Testimony Presented

Arbitration hearings were held here yesterday by Samuel A. Jaffee, Washington arbitrator, on three disputes between Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, and the Celanese Corporation of America. The cases were.

Insurance premium case—in which the union contends the company agreed to settle all monetary issues as of May 19. 1947, which included payments of group insurance plan in operation at the plant. The company, the union said, had paid retroactive pay on all other issues.

In the case, the union called for the return to its members of payments made by them into the insurance plan for the month of June, 1947, and from May 19 to 30.

Jet drilling case—a union appeal on the establishment by the firm of a rate of $1.14 for a new method of finishing jets in the jet drilling department. The union contended the job requires skill and is dangerous to perform and requested that a rate of $1.35 be established for the job, retroactively.

Penrod case—in which the union appealed the action of the firm in refusing to allow Mrs. Zora Penrod, this city, to resume her duties as an operator in the twisting examination department after illness.

The union said the company removed her name from the payroll on grounds of excessive absence due to illness. The union is asking an examination of the worker by an impartial physician and, if a satisfactory report is given, that she be reinstated without loss of seniority.

Mrs. Tolson To Serve As Nurse On College Staff

Is Released From Appointment Here

Mrs. Howard L. Tolson, 855 Braddock Road, will serve as a nurse and instructor of nurses at Frostburg State Teachers' College, Miss Lillian C. Compton, president of the college, said last night.

Mrs. Tolson, who was appointed a public health nurse last month, was released from the appointment by Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer.

With the renovation of the former science building, which is now being used as an administration building, headquarters for Mrs. Tolson have been established in the office formerly occupied by the registrar.

Mrs. Tolson is a former superintendent of nurses and education director at Memorial Hospital.

By employing a full-time nurse, the college has met another of the standards set up by the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education, Miss Compton said.

As soon as a men's dormitory, library building and an auditorium are established, all requirements of the association will have been met, she added.

Miss Compton expressed the hope that the 1949 session of the Maryland General Assembly will appropriate sufficient funds for construction of those buildings.

Local Airplanes To Be Used For Fire Fighting

Parr Says Fliers Here Will Assist

Authority for use of airplanes in forest fire suppression work in Western Maryland during the spring fire season has been granted by the state forester's office, District Forester William A. Parr revealed yesterday.

In a preliminary test flight on March 2, H. C. Buckingham, director of the Department of State Forests and Parks, stated he had spotted six separate brush burning operations between Martin's Mountain and Big Savage Mountain.

Parr said private planes will be used, and arrangements are being made locally for this service. He stated that use of planes will make possible a quick check of fires which are under control, but still need patrolling until completely out. Their use will supplement the work of patrolmen on the ground, and enable the men to work more effectively. Also, on days when weather conditions are serious, it will be possible to make a check after 4 p. m. to make sure that brush burning fires are not getting away.

Fliers at the local airport have been contacted, and Parr said at least three planes are available here which are of proper type and adequately equipped for this type of observation.

Local pilots, when contacted, assured Parr of their co-operation at any time they are needed. Parr and other foresters believe this type of patrol will prove highly beneficial in fire prevention and suppression work in this end of the state, over mountainous territory.

Senate Asked To Boost Dam Funds

WASHINGTON, March 9 (AP) — Army engineers asked today that the Senate restore all but one of the cutbacks made by the House in its record $538,875,000 waterways bill.

The following amounts, by projects, are among those the engineers requested be restored.

Flood control:

Maryland: Savage River dam, $100,000. Army engineers listed $500,000 for the dam in their budget estimate, but the House later cut that amount to $400,000.

Virginia — Philpott Reservoir, $500,000.

Maryland: Baltimore Harbor and channels, $284,000.

Virginia: Norfolk harbor $108,000.

Maryland Is Leader In Protecting Timber Lands, Buckingham Says

Protection and maintenance of Maryland timber lands was the topic discussed last night by H. C. Buckingham, state forester, at the weekly meeting of the Cumberland Exchange Club at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Although many states still lack fire control and other protective measures, Maryland has been a leader in that field, the state forestry service having been inaugurated in 1906, Buckingham said.

More residents are beginning to realize the importance of stabilized timber control and the conservation of proper ground covering, and the overall picture is "promising," he declared.

Stating that the forestry service is not dictatorial in its methods, Buckingham pointed out many land owners and county officials favor more stringent restrictions than the service deems necessary.

Government Claims $73,174 Is Unpaid

Charged with income tax evasion, Walter W. White, 48, 607 Fairview Avenue was indicted by a Federal Grand Jury in Baltimore yesterday, according to U. S. District Attorney Bernard F. Flynn. The government claims in an indictment of five counts that White owes $73,174 in income taxes for the years 1941 to 1945, inclusive.

White is operator of the Queen City Novelty Company. The firm deals in music boxes, pinball machines and other coin-operated devices.

Paid Tax of $6,257

White's income tax returns for the five years, Flynn said, showed he paid a total of $6,257 and the government charges he actually owed $79,531. The attorney explained White reported income of $30,835 for the period, while the government investigation shows his income was approximately $170,334 for the five-year period. The indictment includes five counts.

In the first count the government charges White's 1941 income tax return indicated a net income of $7,429 on which he paid tax of $847. The government contends White's income that year was $34,305 and that he should have paid $11,993 in tax.

In 1943, according to the government, White's return showed an income of $4,258 on which he paid $895. It is the government's contention that his 1943 income was $15,078 and that he should have paid $5,027.

Other Counts Listed

The fourth count lists White's 1944 return showing an income of $3,116 and a payment of $599, while the government charges his net income that year was $57,833 with $34,040 due the United states.

White's return for 1945, the fifth count shows, reported an income of $11,836 and payment of $3,288, whereas the government contends his net income was $32,346 that year and that he should have paid $15,320.

White was indicted by the April grand jury in 1947 and pleaded guilty to two charges for "operating gaming devices" in form of slot machines.

He paid fines totalling $750 when arraigned, along with a number of other county men, in Circuit Court.

Salvation Army Officer Attests To Miraculous Powers Of Prayer

"The Lord Healed Me," Lt. Case Declares

By C. WESLEY BLACKBURN

"The Lord healed me," declared Lt. Everett Case, Jr., who arrived here Saturday to become assistant officer of the Salvation Army Outpost, 511 Virginia Avenue.

Lt. Case, who is 22 and a native of Clarksburg, W. Va., said he was miraculously restored to health about three years ago as a result of prayer after his physician informed him he had "a thousand to one chance of ever walking on his left leg."

An invalid most of his life, Lt. Case suffered 26 fractures between the ages of 5 and 18, 19 of of them breaks of the left leg, as a result of a calcium deficiency in the blood which resulted in softening of the bones of his body. The condition is known as skeletal deficiency.

The fractures, virtually all of them resulting from falls while walking along the street, included, in addition to the numerous left leg injuries, three right leg fractures, three broken arms and a fractured skull, the latter suffered when he was a lad of five.

When Lt. Case was 18, he joined the Salvation Army in Clarksburg, was converted, and became convinced, through the encouragement of Mrs. Albert V. Walker, wife of the post commander, that the Lord would heal him.

"We prayed continually that I might be healed, and within six months I was walking unaided on my left leg which formerly required a steel brace," Lt. Case said.

His doctor, who had told him he had a "thousand to one" chance of ever walking unaided on his left leg, told Lt. Case that "Only God could have worked the miracle."

"During the past few years," Lt. Case said, "I have had no trouble at all and physicians who examined me could find no physical reason why the change had taken place."

An accomplished singer and musician, Lt. Case has played the guitar since he was 5 and conducted guitar classes for a number of years. He also became well known as a radio performer through his singing of sacred songs with guitar accompaniments.

A member of a Salvation Army family, he is a son of Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Case, Jr., Clarksburg.

Since his graduation from Salvation Army Training College nine months ago, Lt. Case has been stationed in South Baltimore.

HEALED BY PRAYER — Lt. Everett Case, Jr., since Saturday assistant officer at the Salvation Army Outpost here, says prayer has healed him of a calcium deficiency that resulted in 26 bone fractures in 13 years.

Celanese-Union Submit 3 Cases To Arbitration

Insurance Premium Testimony Presented

Arbitration hearings were held here yesterday by Samuel A. Jaffee, Washington arbitrator, on three disputes between Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, and the Celanese Corporation of America. The cases were.

Insurance premium case—in which the union contends the company agreed to settle all monetary issues as of May 19, 1947, which included payments of group insurance plan in operation at the plant. The company, the union said, had paid retroactive pay on all other issues.

In the case, the union called for the return to its members of payments made by them into the insurance plan for the month of June, 1947, and from May 19 to 30.

Jet drilling case—a union appeal on the establishment by the firm of a rate of $1.14 for a new method of finishing jets in the jet drilling department. The union contended the job requires skill and is dangerous to perform and requested that a rate of $1.35 be established for the job, retroactively.

Penrod case—in which the union appealed the action of the firm in refusing to allow Mrs. Zora Penrod, this city, to resume her duties as an operator in the twisting examination department after illness.

The union said the company removed her name from the payroll on grounds of excessive absence due to illness. The union is asking an examination of the worker by an impartial physician and, if a satisfactory report is given, that she be reinstated without loss of seniority.

Mrs. Tolson To Serve As Nurse On College Staff

Is Released From Appointment Here

Mrs. Howard L. Tolson, 855 Braddock Road, will serve as a nurse and instructor of nurses at Frostburg State Teachers' College, Miss Lillian C. Compton, president of the college, said last night.

Mrs. Tolson, who was appointed a public health nurse last month, was released from the appointment by Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer.

Although a nurse has been needed at the college for some time, office space was necessary before one could be employed, Miss Compton explained.

With the renovation of the former science building, which is now being used as an administration building, headquarters for Mrs. Tolson have been established in the office formerly occupied by the registrar.

Mrs. Tolson is a former superintendent of nurses and education director at Memorial Hospital.

By employing a full-time nurse, the college has met another of the standards set up by the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education, Miss Compton said.

As soon as a men's dormitory, library building and an auditorium are established, all requirements of the association will have been met, she added.

Miss Compton expressed the hope that the 1949 session of the Maryland General Assembly will appropriate sufficient funds for construction of those buildings.

Local Airplanes To Be Used For Fire Fighting

Parr Says Fliers Here Will Assist

Authority for use of airplanes in forest fire suppression work in Western Maryland during the spring fire season has been granted by the state forester's office, District Forester William A. Parr revealed yesterday.

In a preliminary test flight on March 2, H. C. Buckingham, director of the Department of State Forests and Parks, stated he had spotted six separate brush burning operations between Martin's Mountain and Big Savage Mountain.

Parr said private planes will be used, and arrangements are being made locally for this service. He stated that use of planes will make possible a quick check of fires which are under control, but still need patrolling until completely out. Their use will supplement the work of patrolmen on the ground, and enable the men to work more effectively. Also, on days when weather conditions are serious, it will be possible to make a check after 4 p. m. to make sure that brush burning fires are not getting away.

Fliers at the local airport have been contacted, and Parr said at least three planes are available here which are of proper type and adequately equipped for this type of observation.

Local pilots, when contacted, assured Parr of their co-operation at any time they are needed. Parr and other foresters believe this type of patrol will prove highly beneficial in fire prevention and suppression work in this end of the state, over mountainous territory.

Senate Asked To Boost Dam Funds

WASHINGTON, March 9 (AP) — Army engineers asked today that the Senate restore all but one of the cutbacks made by the House in its record $538,875,000 waterways bill.

The recommendation was made as a Senate Appropriations subcommittee opened hearings on the flood control and rivers and harbors program for the year beginning next July 1.

Flood control:

Maryland: Savage River dam, $100,000. Army engineers listed $500,000 for the dam in their budget estimate, but the House later cut that amount to $400,000.

Virginia — Philpott Reservoir, $500,000.

Rivers and harbors:

Maryland: Baltimore Harbor and channels, $284,000.

Virginia: Norfolk harbor $108,000.

Maryland Is Leader In Protecting Timber Lands, Buckingham Says

Protection and maintenance of Maryland timber lands was the topic discussed last night by H. C. Buckingham, state forester, at the weekly meeting of the Cumberland Exchange Club at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Although many states still lack fire control and other protective measures, Maryland has been a leader in that field, the state forestry service having been inaugurated in 1906, Buckingham said.

More residents are beginning to realize the importance of stabilized timber control and the conservation of proper ground covering, and the overall picture is "promising," he declared.

Stating that the forestry service is not dictatorial in its methods, Buckingham pointed out many land owners and county officials favor more stringent restrictions than the service deems necessary.
